Delayed Taxes Do Not Demand Penalty Charge

May be Accepted by Treasurers Without Interest
OPINION IS ISSUED
Charges Remain Due Unless Legislature Remits Them

Madison—(AP)—Deferred payment of state income taxes may legally be accepted by county treasurers in full or in part and without payment of penalty or interest charges, Deputy Attorney General Fred M. Wylie announced in an opinion today.

The ruling was given for the benefit of treasurers who questioned the legality of the action urged by Governor LaFollette in a recent proclamation in which he said that the taxes, normally falling due on July 1 could be collected as late as Aug. 1, and from those willing to sign affidavits of inability to pay, as late as Oct. 15.

While penalty and interest charges need not be collected they will still be due and owing until the legislature, if it sees fit, remits them, Wylie said.

The ruling was addressed to District Attorney Fred Rissler of Dane county who had submitted an opinion to Wylie for verification.

"In your opinion you advised the county treasurer (of Dane co) that the taxpayer had a right to pay separately the three distinct taxes in the income tax bill," Wylie said. "The three separate taxes are the normal, teachers' retirement surtax, and emergency relief surtax."

"You also advised him that the governor's proclamation was silent upon the question of interest and penalty, and that in your opinion the interest and penalty would attach, but that the taxpayer would have the right to accept the tax, the interest and penalty, and this portion of the tax then would still be owing unless legislative action should be taken to cancel it."

"I agree with your conclusions, which were given, as you stated in your opinion, without opportunity to go into the matter fully, and to which you cited no authorities," Wylie then outlined citations on which he based his ruling.

He said that the three kinds of taxes enumerated on the bills are not one bill, but are for different purposes and that courts have held that a taxpayer may settle for one kind of tax without paying another.

Any of these three taxes therefore can be paid separately upon directions from the taxpayer, Wylie said.

A treasurer is not obliged to accept partial payment of any one of the three separate taxes but may, in his discretion, accept in full, in event interest and penalties on the event interest and penalties on the event of the tax paid stops, Wylie added.

"I am of the opinion therefore," he said, "that the county treasurer may accept any portion of the income tax that may be tendered by the taxpayer, and, particularly, that the county treasurer may accept the tax, less accrued interest and penalty, only that amount. The result will be that the taxpayer had paid that much of his tax and that the balance will still be due and owing, unless, as you suggest the legislature should do."

Airmen Missing On World Flight

Mattern Plane Believed Down Between Berlin and Moscow

Moscow—(AP)—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, missing between Berlin and Moscow on their round the world flight, were still unreported at noon E. S. T. today.

If they were still in the air at that time they had to come down somewhere they were, for that was the time beyond which the fuel they took aboard at Berlin would be exhausted.

They had full tanks when they took off from Berlin at 3 p. m. E. S. T. yesterday. That was approximately 600 gallons, enough to keep them in the air 21 hours.

Officials at the flying field here sent inquiries to all points along the route from Berlin, but there was no word of the Americans.

There was a possibility that they had passed Moscow in the night without being seen and kept on toward Omsk, 1,600 miles to the east. Another supply of fuel awaited them there and it was assumed that they knew the way.

But the airport at Kazan, three hours flying time east of Moscow, reported that the "Century of Progress" had not been sighted there. Omsk, however, is without good communication facilities and if the fliers had landed there, word of their arrival might be delayed in reaching Moscow.

It was possible also that they might have been forced down between Berlin and here. The terrain in that vicinity is such as to make an emergency landing possible, but there too, communications are not of the best.

Mail Robbery Charge Against Gang of Seven

Wausau—(AP)—Robbery of the mails was added today to the list of depredations credited by authorities to a gang of seven men named by Paul Levans, who is held in the Marathon co. jail on a charge of burglarizing a warehouse of the Marathon Mercantile company here.

Five sacks of mail were recovered late yesterday by Postal Inspector T. H. Evans, Appleton, and railroad detectives who were directed to the cache by Levans. The mail was stolen from the Aniva depot last May 12 and was hidden near the railroad tracks a mile north of the village.

Letters and other pieces of mail in the sacks were addressed to residents of Astoria, Maroon and neighboring communities.

Britain Says There's Limit To Naval Cuts

AIRS OWN POSITION

Would Abolish Air Attacks Upon Civilians—Says Land Forces Cut

London—(AP)—Great Britain told the world today she was ready to go a long way with Mr. Hoover on his proposal to cut armaments by one-third, but there were certain limits below which the number of units in the British navy could not be cut.

This message was contained in a white paper read by acting Premier Stanley Baldwin in parliament, in which it was stated the British government desires to contribute all it can to effect practical application of the Hoover proposal.

Professing a desire to associate itself with Mr. Hoover's conception of the problem, the British government said it had already put into practice a standard of land armament which more than covers Mr. Hoover's aims.

As for air service, the white paper countered the Hoover proposal to eliminate bombing planes, with a proposal for complete prohibition of all bombing from the air, "say within limits to be laid down as precisely as possible, by an international convention." Attacks upon civilian population would be entirely prohibited under the British idea.

"As regards the navy," Mr. Baldwin said, "it is not practicable for Great Britain to cut down the number of naval units below certain points but if there is a limit to numerical reduction it is possible and highly desirable to secure by other means a large diminution in naval armament."

Calibre Too High
"The gun calibre at present is far too high and could be reduced by one-third in new capital ships and cruisers."

"The capital ships could then be reduced to 22,000 tons and 11-inch guns, and the cruisers from 10,000 tons with 8-inch guns, to 7,000 tons with 6-inch guns."

Submarines should be abolished, Mr. Baldwin said, but he declared that that could not be accomplished in his size should be reduced to 250 tons.

On this naval reduction system, aircraft carriers could be reduced to 22,000 tons and 6.1 inch guns and destroyer tonnage reduced one-third.

The government statement was made by Mr. Baldwin in his official capacity as acting prime minister in the absence of Mr. MacDonald at Lausanne. The white paper was read textually by the head of the government.

The white paper said there should be a strict limitation upon unladen weight of all military and naval aircraft with the exception of troop carriers and flying boats, as well as restriction in the numbers of all kinds of military and naval aircraft.

Thus it was evident that the Hoover government welcomed the Hoover proposal and agreed with them in many particulars, but preferred to achieve a large diminution in naval armaments by reduction of tonnage and gun calibre, rather than numerical reduction of naval units.

Blanchard is Favored For Post as U. S. Judge

Manitowish—(AP)—George W. Blanchard, Republican national committeeman, today recommended to Washington that State Senator George W. Blanchard of Edgerton, be appointed federal judge in the Western district of Wisconsin to succeed the late Judge Claude Z. Lusk.

It was the second time this recommendation had been made by the attorney general's office, but there might be difficulty obtaining confirmation of Blanchard, who recently suggested William Daugherty of Janesville.

Apparently still dissatisfied, the attorney general's department asked that the names of four suitable candidates be suggested. In an acknowledgment which was a report to Washington for failing to meet with the Wisconsin conservative Republicans, it recommended the name of Blanchard today.

Conference Report On Relief Measure Adopted by House

Washington—(AP)—The conference report on the Garner-Wagner relief bill, containing a provision which President Hoover has indicated will lead to a veto, was adopted today by the house.

The report now goes to the senate where Republican leaders planned to expedite action so that, in the event of a veto, a new measure can be worked out quickly to permit adjournment of congress.

Mr. Hoover opposed the provision sponsored by Speaker Garner to authorize the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make loans to all persons of adequate security.

President Hoover insisted at two conferences with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders that restrictions be placed on those receiving loans.

Action came after three hours of debate.

The bill increases the capital of the Reconstruction Finance corporation from $2,000,000,000 to $3,500,000,000 and provides a $225,000,000 highway and building construction program.

The vote to adopt the report was 202 to 156 with Republican lines breaking.

Two Men Slain as Beer War Starts Anew in Chicago

Roadhouse Operator and O'Donnell Follower Are Victims

Chicago—(AP)—The beer war apparently is raging again along Chicago's southside gangland front.

The process of eliminating one another from the city's crime picture was resumed last night, after a short intermission.

James "Red" McGee, a former police man, and Vernie Larkin, reputed henchman of Edward "Spikie" O'Donnell, were the victims.

Two gunmen invaded the Del Rio roadhouse, operated by McGee, and killed McGee and Larkin, known as "the Goat," with shot-guns.

A third man, George Vanderlaw, a waiter, was seriously wounded in trying to get out of the line of fire.

The killers escaped in an automobile, and the police were unable to obtain a good description of them from witnesses.

Fear was expressed by the authorities for a time that one of the witnesses, a waitress, might have been abducted by the gunman as they fled. But later it was learned she ran away from the scene.

Trouble on the southside after a period of quiet, opened up again a few weeks ago when Charles O'Donnell, a brother of "Spikie" was machine-gunned to death.

It was predicted then that this was only the beginning of further bloodshed, and the prediction apparently came true for it was only a few days later that Gus Pacelli was killed in a resort operated by opponents of the O'Donnell crowd.

The authorities theorized that last night's killing may have been in retaliation for Pacelli's demise.

Larkin was once a bodyguard for O'Donnell.

Haskell Bohn Is Liberated By Kidnapers

3 HOAXERS ARRESTED

Attempted to Extort $10,000 From Father of St. Paul Youth

St. Paul—(AP)—Tired and unshaven, but otherwise unharmed, Haskell Bohn, St. Paul youth, was back home today, with a story of having been held captive by several men for nearly a week.

Whether any money had been paid for the release, as demanded in a note left at the home last Thursday morning when Bohn was seized by two men and thrown into an automobile, was not revealed.

The writers had asked $35,000. Three men who are alleged to have attempted to extort $10,000 from G. C. Bohn, young Bohn's father, were being held by police here.

Bohn walked into a farmhouse at Medicine Lake, near Minneapolis, late last night, and said his captors had just freed him. The sheriff's office at Minneapolis was notified and two officers brought Bohn to town.

Questioned by police there, Bohn said he was at the family garage a week ago today when the men seized him at the point of guns.

"They took off my glasses and wound tape over my eyes," said the youth, whose father is a manufacturer here. "They drove for an hour and then stopped at what apparently was a garage. After about three hours one man walked me for about 200 feet. He took me into a house and down some steps, into a basement. I think."

He said he was kept there until an hour before his release. He thought there were four or five men in the gang. He was well fed and had plenty of cigarettes to smoke, but the tape was kept over his eyes until he was freed last night.

After young Bohn's return, police revealed that three men who allegedly attempted to extort $10,000 from the elder Bohn, had been arrested Tuesday and that they face charges of attempting to perpetrate a hoax.

Chief Thomas Dahill said the men had confessed that they had promised to return Haskell Bohn if the money was forthcoming.

They gave directions where to leave the money. A fake package was prepared and taken to the designated spot.

Arrest of the men followed. They gave their names as Harold Wilder, 28, alleged leader in the attempted extortion; Louis Barton, 30, and John O'Connor, 29. Whether they had any connection with the actual disappearance of Bohn was not announced by police.

Late yesterday Chief Dahill had gone to Crookston, Minn., to investigate the "confession" of a prisoner there, that he was one of the Bohn "kidnapers" and that young Bohn was being held at a farmhouse near Emerson, Minn. The "confession" turned out to be a fake.

The prisoner gave the name of Jack Thompson, alias Roy White. The sheriff at Crookston said he was wanted in Oklahoma, where he escaped from the penitentiary at McAlester while serving a sentence for bank robbery.

Free State President Denies Arms Rumors

Dublin—(AP)—Eamon de Valera president of the Irish Free State, declared in the Dail Eirann today reports some time ago that an attempt had been made to import Russian arms into Ireland constituted a "bogus scare."

This statement was made in reply to a question by Patrick McGiligan, former minister of external affairs.

"We do not find it necessary to raise concern about the rumors," de Valera said. "We do not need public safety acts to secure peace."

Vets Menace Red Leader; Police Prevent Disorder

Communist Threatened As He Urges Overthrow Of Camp Commander

Washington—(AP)—Responding to a request by President Hoover, the house appropriations committee today approved a $100,000 fund for transporting the army of bonus-seeking war veterans back to their homes.

The legislation to take the former service men away from Washington will be reported at once by Chairman Byrns to the house for action after disposition of the relief bill.

The senate has already passed a bill to authorize loans to the veterans for their return home.

The $100,000 would be spent to provide railroad transportation and subsistence at the rate of 75 cents a day for each honorably discharged war veteran encamped here.

Advances not repaid would be deducted from the face value of the bonus certificates.

Washington—(AP)—Police intervened today to prevent what appeared to be imminent trouble at the bonus marchers' camp on the Anacostia flats.

It started when John Pace, leader of a Communist organization, the Workers' Ex-Servicemen's league, in a speech to the men demanded the overthrow of Walter W. Waters, the veterans' commander-in-chief.

A thousand men moved menacingly toward the speaker as he shouted his demand for the removal of Waters.

Pelham D. Glassford, police superintendent, with several officers moved quickly to the center of the crowd. He held up his hand and the advance ended abruptly.

"Pace has just as much right to speak here as anyone else," Glassford shouted. "Any of you who disagree with him and don't want to listen go to some other part of the camp and play baseball."

Leaders among the men supporting Waters waved their comrades away and the Communist organization's leader was left with a mere handful in his audience.

To hold the men opposing Pace in another part of the encampment, Glassford himself went to them and spoke to hold their attention.

Rescue Ships Ordered Into Action to Save Vessel

SEVEN MAKE ESCAPE

Disaster Occurs During Trial Trip of Submersible

Cherbourg, France—(AP)—The French submarine Promethee, in service only two years, sank seven miles north of Cape La Hague off Cherbourg harbor, while she was making a trial trip on the surface today.

Seven men were saved, but 66 went down with the ship. Among that number were 17 naval engineers and men of similar rating temporarily assigned to the submersible.

The cause of the accident was not immediately determined but the salvage fleet swung into action immediately.

The marine police of Cherbourg sent out all the vessels at their disposal. Navy planes took to the air, despite miserable flying conditions which made their part in the job particularly dangerous and difficult.

The Promethee's crew numbered 49, including 2 officers and 10 petty officers. On today's trip the vessel carried in addition to the normal complement one marine engineer, two technicians, seven workers from the local arsenal, two experts and five workmen from the Schneider arms firm.

The seven who were saved were thrown into the sea from the superstructure as the Promethee went down. A fishing boat picked them up and landed them in Cherbourg.

The Promethee is one of a class of 1,384 tons surface displacement. She is 295 feet long with a 30-foot beam. Her armament consists of one 39 inch gun and 37 millimeter gun, one machine gun, eleven 21 inch torpedo tubes, including two sets of reload tubes, one fore and one aft.

The type was not particularly successful on trials. Two of the Promethee's sister ships, Vengeur and Redoubtable, made a cruise to the West Indies in 1930 without mishap.

The Promethee was one of five submarines in the 1937 building program. She was launched in October, 1930.

The sinking of the Promethee was the second major submarine disaster in French naval history.

When the French submarine Okinawa was in collision with a Greek steamer off Portugal, thirty-three lives were lost in this crash.

Akron Still Hunting Missing Racing Yacht

New York—(AP)—The navy dirigible Akron still was missing over the Atlantic today, more than 36 hours out of its harbor at Lakehurst, N. J., scanning the waters for some trace of the racing yacht Curlew.

The Curlew, manned by five amateur yachtsmen of New York city, had not been sighted since it left Montauk Point, L. I., for Bermuda 12 days ago. All of the 26 other entries either had reached the island or had been abandoned.

The Akron, which is supplementing scores of surface vessels in the search for the missing ketch passed over Hamilton, Bermuda, early last night and caused much excitement among the island populace.

Unidentified Man Found Slain on Illinois Road

Belvidere, Ill.—(AP)—The body of a man shot twice through the head was found on a country road a mile and a half southeast of here today.

Of foreign extraction the victim is supposed to be a casualty of broken cards. The only clues were the tracks of an automobile nearby and a milk bottle containing red Italian wine. The bottle carried the name of the Kennedy Dairy company. There is no such dairy firm here or at nearby Rockford where several liquor killings have occurred but there is a Kennedy Dairy company at Madison, Wis.

Denies Guilt in Holdup Of Chain Store Worker

Baraboo—(AP)—Mike Jujin, 25, of Lyndon Station, pleaded not guilty yesterday when he appeared before Justice C. W. Webster on a charge of assaulting and robbing James Fleming, a chain store operator. Fleming was slugged June 11 when he attempted to place money in the night depository of a bank here. Jujin was caught Tuesday night after an exciting chase near Lyndon Station.

Three Men Killed, Four Injured in Coal Mine

Greensburg, Pa.—(AP)—Three men were killed and four injured, two critically, when caught beneath a fall of slate in the Edna No. 1 mine of the John Carr Coal company today.

The men were clearing away an earlier fall of slate when another slide crashed down upon them. Several other miners who were working nearby escaped and were brought out safely.

Germany and France Still Are at Odds

Far From Agreement on Reparations and War Guilt Problems

Lausanne, Switzerland — (AP) — It was reported this evening that France and Germany had agreed on a formula setting the "war guilt" issue by writing into the treaty which will close the reparations conference here a phrase to the effect that it "completely replaces all previous reparations agreements."

The reported compromise on this formula was said to have been matched by an agreement that Germany will make a final payment on reparations of just under three billion marks, which amounts to about $750,000,000.

Lausanne, Switzerland — (AP) — Deadlocked over reparations and the "war guilt" stigma so irritating to Germany, Premier Herriot of France and Franz von Papen, the German chancellor, held another fruitless conference this morning.

The chancellor, it was understood, suggested that the reparations and debts conference be adjourned. The premier said no matter what sort of settlement was reached he would not accept any political conditions.

Nevertheless the legal minds of the several delegations continued their work on the outline of a treaty by which they hoped to iron out the difficulties in a manner satisfactory to all interests.

It was understood that the principal points of the treaty are these:

- 1—A document recording whatever reparations agreement may be reached.
- 2—A gentlemen's agreement linking reparations with Europe's debts to America.
- 3—A debt agreement among the European nations.
- 4—A letter to Germany explaining the gentlemen's agreement.

It was learned today that a debt agreement between England and France which was reported yesterday provides that Italy and France will not be required to pay instalments on their debts to England pending ratification of such agreements as may be reached here.

The text of the tentative treaty was practically completed this afternoon except for the filling in of the actual figures still to be agreed upon.

Lausanne, Switzerland — (AP) — Germany and France were deadlocked again today over settlement of the problem of reparations payments and war guilt.

A conference of the six leading powers last night, which was intended to last all night if necessary to bring about a settlement, broke up after 15 minutes and spokesmen for France and Germany expressed themselves pessimistically over the outcome.

The British delegates were more optimistic, however, and said the negotiations would go on today.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who had been the leading peace-maker between the French and Germans, was handicapped last night, he said, because of a severe nervous headache brought on by the intensity with which he has applied himself to the problem during the last few days.

Premier Herriot of France, and Chancellor von Papen of Germany, refused to yield from their positions on the amount Germany should pay and on the political clauses, including the settlement of the war guilt question, especially demanded by Germany.

A large stumbling block for French agreement, it was learned, was a plan for a six power consultative pact on the political questions urged by Prime Minister MacDonald and Chancellor von Papen, but to which Premier Herriot refused to agree.

The text of this clause follows:

"The governments of Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain and Japan hereby agree not to raise any political questions affecting interests common to any two or more of them and arising out of treaties as an instrument to which they are parties, without a preliminary friendly consultation with a view to agreeing on the manner in which such questions should be treated."

Before the short-lived conference last night the belief had prevailed that most of the points of great difference between the French and Germans had been ironed out. Germany was believed to have won a victory in securing a proposal that the treaty of Versailles, as far as it concerned reparations, was abrogated.

The amount Germany would be called upon to pay in final settlement of reparations claims was not entirely settled as the delegates sat down, but this was not considered serious.

Last Tuesday Prime Minister MacDonald served a virtual ultimatum on the other conferees that a settlement must be reached by today for he intended to return to London tonight.

Four New City Leagues Are Organized by Women

Madison — (AP) — The organization of four new city leagues was announced by the Wisconsin League of Women Voters. The new groups were formed at Eau Claire, Wausau, Green Bay and Stevens Point. The presidents of these leagues are: Mrs. Clinton W. Capps, Stevens Point; Mrs. Fred Krowbridge, Green Bay; Mrs. Roy Sampson, Eau Claire; and Mrs. J. L. Burr, Wausau.

Miss Helen Horn, field secretary of the Minnesota and Miss Corneilia Groth, executive secretary of the Wisconsin league have just finished a two weeks organization trip through the north.

PAY HOMAGE TO WARRIOR-PRIEST

Mourned by an entire city and honored by his soldier comrades, the Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy—warrior-priest of New York's famous "fighting 69th"—was accorded impressive funeral services. Pictured above is the military and civil procession up Fifth Avenue to St. Patrick's cathedral, with thousands of New Yorkers lining the sidewalks. The hearse is shown within the circle.

BY WALTER LIPPMANN.

AMERICA AND THE LAUSANNE CONFERENCE

It may be said that an economic solution of the reparations problem has been reached at Lausanne and that what remains to be done is to adapt the solution to popular sentiment in the various countries. Thus it is agreed that Germany should not be asked to pay anything for at least three years. It is agreed that the payments she makes thereafter must be so small that the whole of it would not at the outside be equal to much more than two annuities out of sixty odd cents for under the Young plan. It is agreed that these small payments shall be due only if or when in the judgment of a neutral body, the World Bank at Basle, Germany can borrow the money to make them.

Although there is still some dispute as to the exact amount which Germany is to promise she will try to borrow, the creditors appear to have committed themselves to three principles: no payments for three years; a small cash payment as a final settlement, and this cash settlement to be made only if German credit is good enough to permit the sale of her bonds. Once the creditors agree to these principles at Lausanne they will, of course, mark the upper limit of any demand they can ever again make upon Germany. More than this the creditors will not obtain whether or not the agreement is ratified by the various parliaments.

Germany's liability under reparations cannot be larger than the interest and amortization on a loan of about $750,000,000. The German taxpayer might have to find about $100,000,000 for ten years. Under the Young plan he had to find five times as much for thirty-six years and nearly four times as much for another twenty years.

The proposed settlement would bring to an end the existing reparations system. The system was arranged so that Germany should pay the whole debt owned by the Allies to the United States and a small surplus, most of which went to France. Under the Lausanne proposals Germany would at the outside pay enough to cover three European payments to the United States, and even these payments would not begin for three years and would be contingent upon Germany's ability to borrow the money. It is plain, therefore, that the creditors make this agreement at Lausanne, they will emerge having virtually cancelled what is owed to them and still obligated to pay all that they owe to the United States.

It is easy to see why M. Herriot, who on paper at least has made the largest concessions, is standing out for an agreement that the plan should not be ratified in Europe until there is a settlement with the United States. But what, in fact, would this mean? It would mean that M. Herriot would not, on this issue, have to risk defeat in the French chamber during the next six months. M. Herriot will have plenty of other troubles and it would be cruel to ask him to do so unpopular a thing as to forgive France's debtor while France's creditor is adamant.

Besides relieving M. Herriot of a political embarrassment, the effect of suspending ratification would be two-fold: it would delay the restoration of German credit and it would make it a little more difficult to deal with the American congress. For as long as the plan is not legally in effect, the reparations problem will be politically alive, and while no succeeding French government could hope to obtain more money from Germany than the sum now being fixed at Lausanne, there would be a real possibility that M. Herriot's successor might try to sell ratification for political concessions. Thus the at-

Smith Statement Is Applauded by Party Chieftains

Democratic Leaders Not Surprised, However, by Pledge of Support

Washington — (AP) — Expressions of pleasure, without surprise, continued today in Democratic disquisitions of Alfred E. Smith's announcement that he will support the party ticket.

Meanwhile, the only formal emanation from the newly-opened Republican campaign headquarters in Chicago was an announcement by Everett Sanders, national committee chairman, that Secretary Ogden L. Mills of the treasury, would begin his party's drive in a speech at Boston on Monday.

Vice President Curtis let it be known at Washington that he would be ready to stump the country again this year if the G. O. P. councils wanted him to.

Little public attention was given by Democrats to Smith's belief, that "it is not practical, in our country, to start a third party at this time" although there were numerous private talks of what that might mean in the future.

From many, including Speaker John Garner, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's ticket-mate, there came expressions of gratification. Garner's two-day statement just about summarized the general sentiment among Democrats.

"When anybody says they are going to support the ticket I am happy to know it," he said. "I have felt all the time that former Governor Smith would support the ticket."

His Back at Hyde

But stronger words were applied by Representative Jones, Texas Democrat who heads the house agriculture committee, to Secretary Hyde's "visionary and chimerical" summary of the Roosevelt reforestation plan.

The agriculture secretary, close friend of President Hoover, had said reforestation could employ only a negligible number of men since one million of them could plant three billion trees in one day.

"The secretary, as everyone knows, understands more about politics than he does about agriculture," Jones' statement said.

"Farmer Hyde has an apparent idea that reforestation consists of going to a nursery, buying a seedling and planting it. He overlooks entirely the great problems of flood control and soil erosion. If Secretary Hyde did not hold such a high position in our government, his lack of information expressed in such elementary language . . . would be amusing."

One more source—Ovid Butler, executive secretary of the American Forestry association—suggested in a letter to Secretary Hyde that reforestation might include other things, too, such as fire protection, insect eradication, roadside clearing, fire-break construction.

There were another couple of notes of harmony in the Democratic fold. Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, who worked for Smith's nomination, approved the latter's announced intention of supporting the party ticket. Newton D. Baker said he would be loyal to Roosevelt.

Veto Measure On Wage Clause

Hoover Refuses to Approve Bill Expanding Upon Present Law

Washington — (AP) — President Hoover Wednesday wielded his veto power, sending back to the senate without approval a measure expanding upon an existing law requiring that wages paid to laborers and mechanics on public building projects be equal to the prevailing wages in that section.

The chief executive returned the bill almost without comment, his veto message consisting only of a 53 words. He did attach to it, however, a lengthy memorandum by Secretary Doak, of the labor department stating his objections to it.

Doak contended the measure would place upon the department of labor a burden that would require large additional expenditures to settled needless disputes.

"The bill should not be approved," Doak asserted. "It is obscure and complex and would be impracticable of administration. It would stretch a new bureaucracy across the country."

The bill would amend the present wage law to require that each contract for a government project contain a provision stating the prevailing rate of wages in the section concerned. It would expand the present law also to apply not only to public buildings but also to other public works.

Doak contended that under the present law disputes as to prevailing wages usually were settled between the contractor and organized labor, and that only when no decision was reached was the department of labor called upon to act. A great investigatory force, he said, would be required if prevailing wages were to be fixed in all contracts.

Police Ordered to Start Parking Cars For Parking Too Long

Police Chief George T. Primm today issued a warning to Appleton motorists to regard the parking limits which are in effect on streets in the business section. The chief said that checking of cars will start next week, with special officers assigned to tag all cars who violate the time limits. All those who receive tags will be taken to court. The chief pointed out that motorists again have become lax in their observance of the parking limits.

Reconciliation of Couple Erases Line Drawn Through Home

Chicago — (AP) — Lillian and Max Fergon won't have to toe the mark. A chalk line ordered by Judge Daniel Trude to be drawn through the center of their house was erased last night.

Mrs. Fergon had sought separate maintenance on the grounds of cruelty, but her husband objected because the couple occupied the same house, making the suit invalid. Said the court:

"It will be cheaper if you forget the suit and remain in the same house. Draw a chalk line down the middle and see that you stay on your own side."

But the line disappeared when Mrs. Fergon said that Max asked her for another chance and that she had decided to give him one.

Judge Again Acts To Hasten Close Of Hutton Trial

Tells Attorneys Testimony Must End Today in Suit by Nurse

Los Angeles — (AP) — Irked at what he termed unreasonable delay, Superior Judge Lester Roth told attorneys testimony must end today in the $200,000 breach of promise suit of Myrtle Joan St. Pierre against David Hutton. Judge Roth said the trial was being prolonged without introduction of new information for the jury's consideration.

The judge also ruled closing arguments would be limited to two hours for each side in this suit in which the pretty, brunet, twice-married nurse seeks heart balm from the husband of Almee Sample McPherson, evangelist.

Eugene B. radio organist, was the first witness called for today.

Originally summoned as a witness by Hutton, Eden testified for the plaintiff yesterday. His story that he never had improper relations with Miss St. Pierre was to be attacked by defense attorneys in cross-examination in their effort to establish she was a woman with a questionable past.

Shortly before Eden took the stand Miss St. Pierre fainted and was carried from the court room when an onlooker testified he performed an operation on her several years ago.

"They're crucifying me," she moaned.

And Hutton muttered:

"What does she know about crucifixion. I'm the one that's getting it."

Previous to Miss St. Pierre's exit, Hutton himself departed from the court room to the judge's chambers by order of the judge, who had been informed the rotund choir singer was carrying a tear gas fountain pen.

"I'll show you why I carry this," Hutton told the judge. He then displayed a note which he said he had received the previous day and which threatened his life. It read:

"Listen, Dave: It won't be long now. Even us guys give a damn a break. Why don't you? Your limp ain't getting you any place. You've got a gat, but so have a couple of other guys. You're on the spot, you big s--- Remember Zerk Caress and that Long Beach copper."

Caress was a race track book-maker who recently was kidnapped and held for ransom. A long Beach officer was shot in the case.

Hutton told the judge he also carried the weapon to protect his wife, from fanatics and kidnapers. The judge reprimanded him for bringing the weapon into the courtroom.

Kiwanis Club Hears Convention Reports

Reports on the annual convention of Kiwanis International, held recently at Detroit, Mich., were submitted by A. G. Oosterhouse and Louis C. Sleeper at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club at Conway hotel Wednesday afternoon. Messrs. Oosterhouse and Sleeper were official delegates of the Appleton club at the conference.

The board of directors of the club will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Conway hotel. A dinner will precede the business session.

Western Union Closes Office in Janesville

Madison — (AP) — The Western Union Telegraph company was authorized by the public service commission today to close its up-town office in Janesville, Wis., because the office has been operated at a loss. The company will be furnished at the Chicago and Northwestern depot.

The commission also approved discontinuance of a Western Union operator at the Chicago and Northwestern depot at Green Valley in Shawano county.

Appleton Order of Moose Seeks 1933 Convention

The Appleton Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with the Appleton Loyal Order of Moose, in its efforts to bring the 1933 convention of the order to Appleton. The chamber has prepared booklets, napkins and pins which will be distributed among delegates at the 1932 convention at Beaver Dam next week. The booklets were prepared under auspices of the trade promotion committee of the chamber.

Chamber Gets Data on New Protective Groups

Information regarding the solicitation of memberships by two new automobile protective associations in Milwaukee has been received by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. Chambers throughout Wisconsin are discouraging such solicitations.

Oklahoma's Total Of Ballots Still To be Tabulated

Unknown School Man Named Will Rogers Polls Startling Vote

Oklahoma City — (AP) — Oklahoma's first primary election was still in an unsettled state today with regard to several of the numerous contests which attracted nearly 9,000 candidates, and one of the questions was whether an unknown schoolmaster named Will Rogers would be nominated for congress-man-at-large.

The candidate Will Rogers—no relation to the state's famous cowboy-humorist—rapidly was rising to the head of a list of 25 candidates who sought the Democratic nomination for the office.

So lightly was he regarded by ballot tabulators on Tuesday's election, they ignored his votes until they realized its surprising total, with his vote tabulated in 2,122 of 3,309 precincts. It totaled 34,390, barely behind E. B. Howard who was second with 36,614 votes from 2,774 precincts.

Mrs. Mabel Basset, outspoken foe of Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, had compiled a total of 44,833 votes to rank first.

Rogers is superintendent of the school at Moore, a village 10 miles south of Oklahoma City in Cleveland-co. In his home county he polled only 83 votes. He made no campaign.

Claude Weaver, generally regarded as Governor Murray's favorite for congress-man-at-large, was definitely eliminated and returned to work today as the governor's secretary, a position he resigned three weeks ago to concentrate on his campaign.

J. C. (Jack) Walton, a perennial candidate since his impeachment and removal from the governor's chair in 1923, topped a long list of contenders for the Democratic nomination for corporation commissioner on the face of incomplete returns.

Johnston Also Leads

The state's other ousted governor, Henry S. Johnston, who nominated Governor Murray for the presidency at the recent Democratic national convention, received nomination for the state senate in his district and will oppose the veteran Jo Ferguson, Republican, one of the senators who convicted him of impeachment charges, in the general election.

Elmer Thomas, Democrat, asking reelection to the United States senate, will be opposed by Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City lawyer, in the run-off primary July 26, available returns indicated.

For the Republican nomination for United States senator, Wirt Franklin, oil operator, was well in the lead but appeared headed for a run-off contest with either James A. (Big Jim) Harris or U. S. Stone.

Three Democratic congressmen—Wesley B. Dietrich of the First district, Wilburn Cartwright of the Third district and Jed Johnson of the Sixth—apparently were renominated. Other Democratic incumbents—W. W. Hastings of the Second district, Tom D. McKeown of the Fourth, F. B. Swank of the Fifth, and J. V. McClintic of the Seventh—were headed for run-off contests.

Ernest W. Marland, who made and lost a vast oil fortune, won the Democratic congressional nomination in the Eighth district now represented by M. C. Garber, Republican. Garber likewise was renominated.

Urge Use of Poison Mash To Fight Grasshoppers

Wausau — (AP) — Marathon-co farmers have been advised by County Agent W. J. Rogan to fight an invasion of grasshoppers with poison mash.

Rogan warned that to wait for cold or damp weather to counteract the pests that are threatening the crops will be of little avail because the grasshoppers have reached the stage in many towns where the cold will have no lasting effect upon them.

Several towns in this county have decided to buy ingredients for the poison bait.

Plan Continuation of "Yarn Swapping" Hour

Madison — (AP) — The traditional 18-year-old story hour on Tuesday evenings during summer school sessions has been continued this year on the University of Wisconsin campus.

Under the auspices of the University Folklore society, students and faculty members in the summer school gather on the Memorial Union terrace and "swap yarns."

This week James McDonald and Charles E. Brown, of the state historical museum, with the aid of lantern slides, told of the exploits of Paul Bunyon, famous fictional Wisconsin lumberjack.

Among those to be named will be the chairman of the president's personnel, cafeteria, endowment, finance, religious work and house committee.

In the young men's division there will be chairmen for the following committees: Young men's membership, social, educational and Christian service; boys division: Church cooperation, camp, leadership, older boys, younger boys and membership; physical department: Tennis, bowling, volleyball, basketball, hand ball, aquatics and gymnastics.

General activities: Public speaking and toastmasters clubs, general socials, educational clubs, and the membership department: Campaign committee, year-around membership promotion, elections, sustaining memberships and publicity.

BOARD MEETING

The bi-monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for 12:15 Friday afternoon at Hotel Northern. A dinner will precede the business session.

Four Horsemen of Bridge Winners Of Team Laurels

Take Title With 18 1-2 Match Points in Cleveland Tournament

Cleveland — (AP) — Contract bridge's "four horsemen"—P. Hal Sims, Willard Karn, David Burnside and Howard Schenker—added new laurels to their respective brows last night by winning the team-of-four championship of the American Whist league.

The horsemen, representing the Deal, N. J. club, in the league's contract tournament here, took the title with 18 1/2 match points.

Cleveland's Oakwood club, composed of S. Guggenheim, E. M. Baker, M. W. Kastringer and P. E. Leon, was awarded second place with 17 1/2 points when the standings were computed early today.

E. Hymes, Jr., C. Lochridge, Sam Fry, Jr., and W. von Zedwitz of the Knickerbocker Bridge club of New York, scored 17 points for third place.

The Squirrels club of Cleveland, with A. L. Levy, W. A. Roof, G. H. Schryber and J. C. George in its line-up, took fourth with 16 points.

Several teams were tied for fifth at 15 1/2 points, including the Cavenish club of New York, and Franklin Bridge club of Philadelphia. Members of the Cayendish team were O. O. Jacoby, Louis H. Watson, John Mathews and Walter Malowen. The Franklin team consisted of Mrs. Irene Haultais, Sir Derrick J. Wernher, Mrs. H. L. Peterson, and Capt. F. G. French.

One of the most interesting hands in the contract team playing, illustrated the possibility of a grand slam by the use of a triple squeeze. The cards were:

S-7
D-A Q J 6
C-Q J 10 8 6
S-10 6 3 3
H-7 5 4
D-K 10 9 4
C-3 2
S-A K 4
H-K 8 2
D-8 7 3 2
C-A K 9

This hand was played at six no trumps at the majority of the tables. Should west open with the diamond four, a grand slam can be made by the use of the triple squeeze.

Call Meeting With Utility To Study Rates

Alderman Vogt Presents Resolution Asking for Public Hearing

Contending that unless gas and electric rates in Appleton are decreased in proportion with other price reductions, Appleton residents will be forced to return to lamps and oil stoves, Alderman Philipp Vogt, asked for a public hearing on local rates in a resolution presented to the common council Wednesday night. He asked that a copy of his resolution, which charged the Wisconsin Michigan Power company with taking unfair advantage of consumers, be sent to the Power company and to the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin. Upon the suggestion of Mayor Goodland and Alderman R. F. McGowan, a conference with the power company officials will be held before the resolution is sent to the state commission.

Rejects $600 Plea

The council refused to appropriate $600 to the Salvation Army to pay for bills incurred by that organization in the administration of local relief and transient relief. The mayor pointed out the major portion of this bill should be turned over to the county, and that the citizens of Appleton had already donated $4,000 to the Army. The vote was seven to five, Alderman Brautigan, Gmeiner, Priebe, Steinhauer, and Thompson voting for the appropriation.

By the grace of a seven to four vote of the council and despite the suggestion of the mayor that two white posts be substituted for a light, a new street light will be placed over the culvert on Jefferson-st. A light on Oneida-st will be moved 200 feet to avoid the placement of a new light on Oneida-st at the city limits. The additional light was voted down by an eight to four ballot.

Plans for Sewers on Morrison and Clark-sts

A retaining wall on Morrison-st was adopted, and the work placed under the supervision of the board of public works.

Wenzel Brothers given the contract for the heating system in the street department building.

Their bid was $1,848. Other bidders were the W. S. Patterson company, George Weise, and the J. A. Engel Heating company.

Assessments of benefits and damages on sewers on N. Richmond, and N. Drew-sts, and water mains on Bennett-st and N. Drew-st were confirmed, and the installation of the N. Erb-st sewer was deferred until next year.

Enlarge Oiling Program

W. Harris-st, W. Washington-st, N. Harrison-st, W. Lorraine, W. Spring, and W. Oklahoma-sts will be oiled, a sewer on Clark-st was ordered, and the matter of sewer conditions at First English Lutheran and Methodist churches was referred to the city engineer. The engineer was asked to prepare plans for gutters and downspouts at the street department building, and the price committee was asked to secure prices on gutters, and on concrete blocks for the building.

Accept Log Cabin

The offer of the Siegen's log cabin was accepted. The cabin, one of the oldest structures in Appleton, will be moved to Alicia park and restored to its original state.

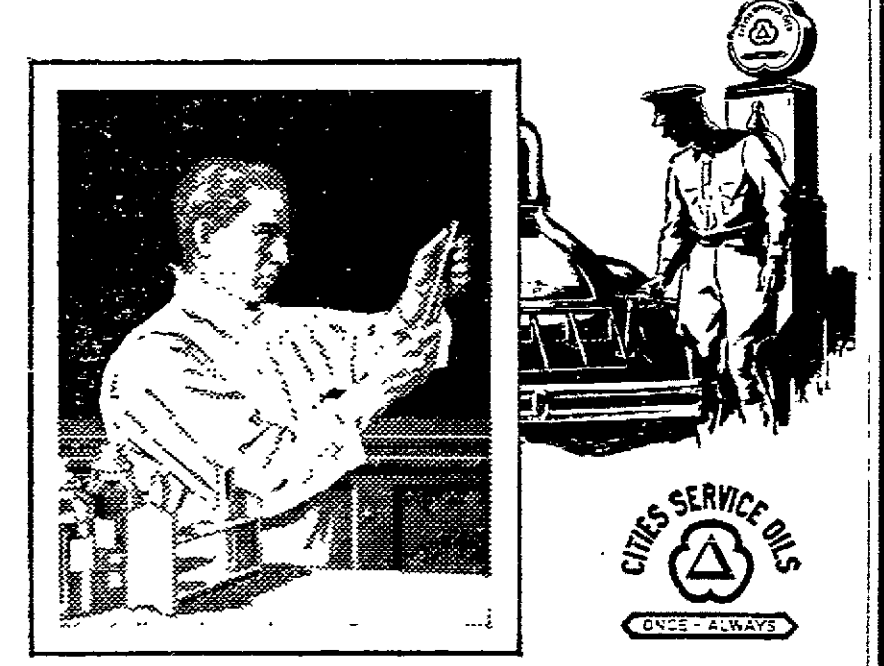

Lots 7 to 12, Block 1, Johnston's addition, First ward, and part of block 72, First ward, were placed in the heavy manufacturing district, and the corner lot owned by William Mollett in the Bell Heights addition was transferred to the local business district. Ordinances placing the Crabb property in the local business district, and revamping the heavy manufacturing district were turned over to the ordinance committee.

An electrical ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee.

Creditors of Bankrupt Man to Meet at Oshkosh

The first meeting of creditors of Milford E. Richmond, who was adjudged bankrupt on June 29, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, July 13, in the federal building at Oshkosh according to Charles H. Forward, referee in bankruptcy in that city. Mr. Forward is administering this case. The creditors at this meeting will appoint a trustee, prove claims, and transact other business.

"IF IT'S CITIES SERVICE... IT HAS TO BE GOOD"

Gasolene goes to the "doctor" as a check against bad odor

You probably never gave it a thought—but odor is important to the reputable gasolene refiner. For the crude oils from which gasolene is made contain sulphur, and some sulphur compounds, such as might be present, give a highly sickening odor.

Cities Service chemists don't leave the matter of odor to the nose alone. They make every day's run from Cities Service refineries come up to visual chemical test, even though its odor is apparently clean and sweet.

As a test, they mix a sample of gasolene with a special chemical solution called "doctor." This is violently shaken—and a pinch of "flowers of sulphur" is added. The slightest discoloration of the liquid, or the slightest dimming of the bright yellow of the "flowers of sulphur" condemns not only the sample but the whole run of gasolene as "sour" and unfit for sale.

The chemists who make this test have only one boss—the public. So they can reject, and do reject, any product which their tests show might fall below Cities Service standards. That is why you can put complete faith in the Cities Service emblem and this statement: "If it's Cities Service, it has to be good."

County Bankers' Association to Pay Expenses of Delegates

The annual 4-H camp for Outagamie-co boys and girls will be held Aug. 4 to 7 at Camp Onaway, Wau-paca, it has been announced by Miss Harriet Thompson, county club leader. The quota is 40 or 45 young people.

Camp Onaway, which is situated on an island in one of the lakes, is used annually by many groups of young people. It is well equipped, has boats, shallow and deep swimming facilities, a playground area and a recreation hall.

The cost of the three-day camp is $3 and covers boat fare to and from the island. Cots and shelters are furnished, but bedding must be brought by the camper.

The Outagamie-co Bankers association has offered to pay the expenses of one delegate from each club, thus assuring representation from each.

Miss Thompson has asked the clubs to name their delegates and alternates at the next meetings. The delegate is the person whose expenses will be paid. Junior leaders or officers have been suggested as delegates. Names of the delegates are to be in Miss Thompson's office by July 15.

Council Cuts Off Support For Concerts

Decides Not to Spend Any More Money on Band Programs This Year

The depression ghost wrapped its black robes around public band concerts Wednesday night and another free music for the remainder of the year. Although the city attorney ruled that the city could spend the $5,100 placed in its budget for band music last fall, the council voted seven to four, with Alderman Mike Steinhauer excused from voting, to expend no more money on band concerts this year. Aldermen C. D. Thompson, W. H. Gmeiner, Harvey Kitterer, and Ernest Fernal voted to continue the band program through the remainder of the current year.

Last fall the council placed $5,100 in the city budget for band music. This spring the voters of the city approved a referendum limiting the city to an expenditure of $3,000 a year for band music. The city attorney ruled that while the council could cut this year's appropriation to $3,000, nevertheless it had the right to spend the $5,100 appropriated last fall. The Fifth Ward Voters club, in a communication to the council Wednesday night, debated this opinion, saying that the city budget is only an estimate and has no legal standing, and that inasmuch as the city has no written contract with the band, referendum vote affects this year's plans and that legally the city has no right to spend more than $3,000 this year.

Voters' Club Objects
The voters' club contended that with the city operating on borrowed money it had no right to expend money on the band and ask the taxpayer, who voted against this expenditure, to assume this additional expense. Several aldermen felt that because the voters had expressed themselves so decisively in the matter of band expense, the council should hedge in and cut down this year. A vote to lay the matter on the table until the next meeting was defeated with one of the dozen or so aye and nay votes that characterized the meeting. Aldermen Davis, Fernal, Hassman, McGillan, Prieb, Thompson and Vogt voted against deferring decision.

After the council voted to enter into a written agreement with the Green Bay Missionary Canal company on the method of determining liability for the cost of building a new John-st canal bridge, the contract for the job was awarded to George Probst of Menasha for $4,700. Other bidders were the Oscar Boldt Construction company, Walter Blake, Fluor Brothers, Simpson and Parker, the Hoffman Construction company and the Garvey Weyenberg company. The city will pay for the construction of the bridge, and later the two parties will decide, through a friendly court argument, which is liable for the cost of the job.

A set of the old traffic lights once used on College-ave will be placed at the corner of Oneida-st and Wisconsin-ave, as a precaution against schoolchildren accidents at this intersection. The lights will be operated from one of the school buildings, and probably will be in operation only during the hours when schoolchildren are crossing Wisconsin-ave. Alderman C. D. Thompson objected to "battering" motorists with an additional traffic light, especially on a "through" street.

Eighty-Five Scouts Registered for Camp

More than 85 valley council boy scouts have sent in their registrations to attend camp at Onaway Island, Chain O' Lakes, Waupaca, Aug. 7 to 27, according to M. G. Clark, scout executive. Members of three council Cub packs from Appleton and Menasha will spend four days in camp at the close of the boy scout period. The camp will be limited to 75 boys each week.

Arthur P. Jensen, former physical director of the Y. M. C. A., will assist Mr. Clark in directing camp activities. He also will be in charge of water front activities, assisted by several scout leaders. Among the leaders selected for the various camp projects are Robert Wichmann, Charles Wilkner, and Charles Wisteen.

Equity Locals Gather For Quarterly Meeting

Four Outagamie-co Equity societies were represented at a meeting of the Outagamie County Union of American Society of Equity at the residence of William Marasch, town of Liberty, yesterday afternoon. The four were Greenfield, Seymour, Drexel and North Cicero. The delegates presented reports showing progress made by their locals during the last quarter. They also heard reports on progress of the state organization. The next quarterly meeting of the county union will be held the first Wednesday in October at the residence of Fred Weischoff in the town of Cicero. Gus Sell, county agent, attended the meeting yesterday.

Ex-Gangster to Give Lecture at Private Meeting

Police Officers, Merchants, Bankers to Hear Former Crook

An ex-gangster who "mended his ways" and became a United States secret service agent for eight years, will be the speaker at a private meeting at the city hall tomorrow evening. He is A. W. Dittmore, Chicago, and his appearance here is sponsored by the Appleton police department. Police Chief George T. Prim has approved the lecture.

Only police officers, deputy sheriffs, peace officers, merchant bankers and their clerks will be admitted to the meeting, according to Mr. Dittmore. The general public will not be allowed to hear the lecture. Mr. Dittmore is fully versed in the methods of crooks and gangsters. He will explain the methods of these men, telling how they work. His lecture will cover the activities of short change workers, bad check artists, confidence workers, carnival racketeers, safe breaking, etc. He also will demonstrate some of the methods of these crooks.

He will show merchants how to properly illuminate their business places at night, the best places to locate their safes, how to bar doors and windows, and how to avoid short changes.

It is expected a large crowd will hear Mr. Dittmore. Tonight he is giving a lecture at the Neenah city hall for police and merchants and bankers of that city.

Progressives Will Meet Friday Night

Farmer-Labor League Making Plans for Fall Political Campaign

The first meeting of the Farmer-Labor and Progressive League of Outagamie-co, to begin a political campaign in the interest of its various candidates will be held Friday evening at the LaFollette school, town of Ellington. M. Miller is president of the league. Other officers are: Carl Smith, vice president; Anton Jansen, secretary; and Joseph Promer, treasurer.

President Miller appointed an executive committee to have charge of the campaign policy and promotion last Saturday. He selected Samuel Sigman, chairman. John Graefreiter, Buchanan, Louis Nichols, Ellington, Albert Mills, Seymour, John Jacobs, Appleton, and the officers of the league.

Legion Juniors Clash With Kaukauna Tonight

Appleton junior baseball team of Oray Johnson post of the American Legion will play Kaukauna this evening at Brandt park. The game is the second with the Kaws and one of a series for the county championship. The Appleton team won the first game at Kaukauna last Tuesday by a score of 8 and 3. Appleton collecting 14 hits as compared with six for Kaukauna. Fredrickson, pitching for Appleton, walked one batter and Winger of Kaukauna fanned four.

Bills totaling $1200 were allowed at a meeting of the county board building and grounds committee at the courthouse yesterday afternoon. Other routine matters also were transacted.

Returns to This Vicinity for 1st Time in 58 Years

Julius Buchert, Schuyler, Neb., who was born and raised in the town of Ellington, is in Appleton on a visit for the first time since he left here 58 years ago. He is the guest of G. H. Buchert, Edward Buchert, and other relatives and friends.

Mr. Buchert lived in this vicinity until 1874 when he left to make his home in Nebraska. He will leave Thursday for Milwaukee and Chicago on his way home.

Recover Body in Lake at Waupaca

Cudahy Youth Drowned After Speedboat Tips Over

The body of Harland Evenson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Evenson, Cudahy, who drowned in 60 feet of water in Rainbow lake, one of Waupaca Chain o' lakes, about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, was recovered about 7:30 Wednesday evening within 100 feet of the place where he was last seen. Recovery of the body was recovered by George Murray and Mitchell Engrebertson of the Soldier's Home at Waupaca. These two men were among the score or more who assisted in dragging the lake in the effort to recover the body. The depth of the water retarded the work.

Evenson, an expert swimmer, was drowned a few rods from shore when the speedboat in which he was riding tipped over. The boy called for help once, but despite the fact that boats sped to his rescue and reached him within a short time, he drowned. Evenson was employed by Mrs. Dan Downey, who owns a boat livery. He has worked on the lakes for the last four summers.

The body was taken to the Holly Funeral home at Waupaca.

Fair. Cool Weather On Menu for Friday

Fair weather with another drop in temperature is the weatherman's offering for Appleton and vicinity for tonight and Friday. Fair weather with intermittent showers has been forecast for other parts of the middle-west for the next 24 hours. A shower which left as suddenly as it arrived gave the ground another soaking in this vicinity about 8:30 this morning. Similar showers occurred at intervals in other sections of the state.

Winds are shifting in the northwest, a good indication that cooler weather will prevail. At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 64 degrees above zero and at noon it registered 75 degrees above zero.

Returns to City After Absence of 40 Years

E. D. Wayne of Seattle, Wash., arrived Saturday for a visit with old friends in Appleton. Mr. Wayne and his brother, the late C. W. Wayne, who died in Seattle in August last, Appleton 40 years ago. The former has been traveling on the west coast, and his brother, before his death, was a circulation promoter for the Post-Intelligencer and the Seattle Times. Both were members of Company D, while in Appleton, serving under Capt. Morgan and Major Charles Green.

Peasant Party in Rumania May Win Coming Election

Eloquent Silence of Ex-Premier Tips Political Scales

Bucharest.—(AP)—The sorcery of a long silence, skillfully wielded in a country where people love to talk, may have cleared the way for a return to power of Julius Maniu, the national peasant party leader who was premier when King Carol returned from his Paris exile and pushed his son, Michael, off the throne.

The question will be answered at the Rumanian parliamentary elections of July 17-20.

Maniu was no enemy to the exile but differences soon developed between the new king and his prime minister and on October 6, 1930, Maniu resigned. The following June he resigned also as president of the national peasant party. "King Maniu and his party had lost in popularity as well as royal esteem was indicated by the heavy vote polled for the Nicholas Jorga government in June, 1931. But Professor Jorga encountered Europe's financial crisis and Rumania found it almost impossible to sell her oil and wheat.

Drastic falling off in tax receipts caused the government to fall in arrears in the payment of civil service salaries and even army officers' pay.

During all this time Maniu, back in his native Transylvania, practiced law, telling neither friends nor enemies why he split with the king. Some guesses stressed Carol's desire to dominate governmental affairs; others hinted that the presence in Rumania of Madame Magda Lupescu, innamorata of Carol's exile, kept Maniu aloof.

At times people fully expected the peasant party leader to burst into denunciatory activity against Jorga's cabinet. Instead, he maintained a silence which itself soon thundered denunciation. Discreet gestures of reconciliation from Carol met with the same silence.

Finally a foreigner spoke out. Charles Rist, a French financial expert, bluntly said Rumania's financial condition was catastrophic. Just how bad, he said, would be difficult to determine because even the bookkeeping was bad.

The Rist report smothered hopes for a new foreign loan. Sharp words passed between the king and Jorga and the cabinet resigned.

Maniu, far from the political turmoil of Bucharest, said nothing. "Clever Nicholas Titulescu was called home from Geneva to form a "concentration government." He failed.

Then the king turned to Alexander Vaida-Voevod, close friend of Maniu and vice president of the nation peasants' party.

Vaida-Voevod formed a cabinet that is 100 per cent national peasant in its make-up and announced it would carry on only until a new parliament could be elected.

Carol called elections for July 17-20, with July 30 as the day for convocation of the new parliament. Representatives of the national peasant party went to Maniu's Transylvania retreat and persuaded him to resume leadership.

Later he consented to stand for a seat in parliament. To many political observers Maniu's shift from the sorcery of silence to the appeal of action means that he again will wield power as the nation's premier. If he does, it is predicted that Carol must play the role of a real constitutional monarch.

Vocational Guidance Is Offered at Store

Vocational guidance will be given free to any person over 14 years of age at Geenen's Dry Goods store Friday, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Anyone visiting the store between 11 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon will have an opportunity to confer with Dr. Robert J. Miller, president of the National college of Psychology, Milwaukee and Chicago, a psychologist, author and educator.

"The young people of today cannot afford to be misfits" states Dr. Miller. "Nine out of 10 persons are round pegs in square holes and usually they do not discover this until it is too late to make the change and that is why 55 men out of 100 are living on charity when they reach the age of 65. How to make money and to become a success is more important today than ever before, because of conditions, and it is a crime for men and women to be trying to make a living at the business for which they are not fitted."

Leslie Crabbe Named Camp Swim Director

Leslie Crabbe, Appleton, a member of the Lawrence college swimming team, and a member of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. Aquatic club, will direct swimming at the association boys' camp at Onaway Island, Chain o' Lakes, it was announced today by C. C. Bailey, director of the camp. Crabbe is an experienced swimmer and instructor. He will be assisted by several tent leaders at the camp. The camp opens July 14.

City Gets Portion of Corporation Income Tax

A portion of Appleton's allotment of the corporation income tax was turned over to Joseph A. Kov, city treasurer, by Miss Marie Zehrenhagen, county treasurer, Thursday morning. The amount received by Mr. Kov was $10,000, which is only a part of the 50 per cent of the total tax to which the city is entitled. Of the other 50 per cent the state gets 40 per cent and the county 10 per cent.

EX-PREMIER MAY RETURN TO POWER

Rumania's elections July 17-20 may restore to power Julius Maniu (inset). He was premier when King Carol returned from exile and took the throne from his young son Prince Michael, with whom he is shown.

Appleton Yacht Club to Hear Plans for Regatta

Detailed plans for the annual regatta of the Appleton Yacht club will be discussed at the monthly meeting of the club in the club rooms on S. Pierce-ave at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Paul Stevens, general chairman in charge of regatta plans, will outline the program. Announcement of a definite date for the affair also may take place. The date for this year's regatta is being set by the National Outboard association.

Delayed Taxes Do Not Demand Penalty Charge

Extra Costs Remain Due, However, Unless Remitted by Legislature

ture makes remission. It has been suggested that the legislature of 1933 will be asked to make remission of penalties.

Question of Date
Wylie ruled that the time fixed by statute for the treasurer to turn delinquent tax lists over to the sheriff for collection, namely Aug. 1 directory and does not mean that the exact date be complied with.

If public rights hinged upon the doing of an official act at a designated time it would be a different matter, he said.

"But under all the circumstances involved here," he stated, "I can see no likelihood of even an attempt to enforce a personal liability claim against any county treasurer for complying with the request of the delay, upon an affidavit of inability to pay, reporting the tax to the sheriff for immediate proceedings to collect. The times require official courage to disregard phantoms conjured up by personal and partisan motives."

Wylie asserted that a county treasurer is not a tax collector, but merely a tax receiver and he has no duty to enforce payment of taxes. Making it possible for signing affidavits on the income taxes is in line with previous policy of granting extensions to general property taxpayers who were unable to pay on the legal date, he said.

Army Reservists Are Ordered to Field Camp

Lieut. Raymond P. Dohr, Appleton, is one of the Fox river valley reserve army officers ordered to Camp Douglas for 15 days training with the 127th Infantry of the Wisconsin National Guard. Lieut. Dohr has been assigned to second battalion headquarters as an assistant to Major Hugh Fanning, commanding officer.

Two other Fox river valley officers who have been ordered to camp are Lieut. Karl A. Oberreich, Neenah, who has been assigned to the Howitzer Company, Waupaca, and Lieut. Donald B. Perry, Neenah, assigned to Co. G, 127th Infantry.

Lieut. Allen L. Millard, an Appleton physician, now is spending a 15-day period at Fort Brady, Mich.

go, Mrs. Henry Heideman, Symco, Mrs. Thomas Larson, Waupaca, Mrs. David Tornow, Birmahood, Mrs. Alvin Yanke, Clintonville, and Ruth, Waupaca. Private funeral services at the home will precede services at the Baptist church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Rev. C. N. Doody, Waupaca, and the Rev. W. Woodard, Wild Rose, will conduct the services. Interment will be in Lakeside cemetery.

Band Undecided Whether it Will Continue Concerts

Probably Will Make No Decision Until After Return From Camp

Whether the city will continue to have weekly band concerts at Pierce park during the remainder of the summer in view of the decision of the city council not to spend any more money to finance the programs, had not been decided today, according to Edward F. Mumm, director and warrant officer commanding the organization, which is known as the band section of the 120th Field Artillery, Wisconsin National Guard.

News of the council's decision was a surprise to Mr. Mumm, who said he understood no immediate cut in the appropriation had been planned. The council's action last night leaves the band "broke," he said.

Plans of the organization will be discussed Monday evening when the band meets for rehearsal and drill at the band rooms. Whether concerts will be played gratis for the remainder of the summer or whether they will be played during the coming two weeks and a decision made after the return from the annual camp of instruction at Camp McCoy, Sparta, will be discussed.

The band has always been popular at Sparta and LaCrosse. Both cities have expressed the wish that the band were located in their respective cities. Although Warrant Officer Mumm has stated he would prefer to remain here, it is within his power to recommend that the band section of the artillery unit be transferred to another city. In such case the recommendation would bear much weight with the adjutant general's office of the Wisconsin National Guard at Madison.

Henry Cooper Takes Canadian Open Lead

Ottawa, Ont.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, of Chicago, came charging in with a 69, four under par, to take the lead in the Canadian open golf championship today displacing George von Elm, of Detroit, who had preceded him by a few minutes with a 70.

Cooper put together a 35-34 for his best breaking round while von Elm scored a 37-33, his incoming nine being three strokes under perfect figures.

Half the field was in when Cooper posted his fine total with Walter Hagen, defending champion, Johnny Farrell and several other top-flight golfers still to be heard from.

Council Kills New Apartment House Project

Aldermen Also Vote Against Widening of Superior-st

With a scythe that chopped down practically everything in sight, the common council plowed its way through an immense field of tall business Wednesday night. Now and then the sharp edge glanced out and cut more than the wielder bargained for, but eventually the aldermanic circle voted down the proposed apartment house on W. Prospect-ave, the widening of and the installation of ornamental lights on Superior-st, further expenditure for band concerts, and rejected all bids on ornamental lights for Appleton, Superior and Washington-sts.

Twelve days, an unusual happening at a council meeting, decided the fate of the proposed three-unit apartment house. A petition signed by 10 property owners on Prospect-ave, where it was proposed to erect the building augmented by the verbal protests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schuetter, and W. H. Zuehlke, expressed such strong sentiment against the erection of the building on the Van Nortwick site that the council voted unanimously against granting the permit.

Protests against the widening of N. Superior-st, on the grounds that it is unnecessary and inadvisable at this time, because of financial conditions, brought a decision to postpone the improvement indefinitely. The vote was eight to four. Aldermen Oren Earle, Ernest Femal, W. H. Gmeiner and Harvey Kitzner favoring immediate action on the widening.

Reject Light Bids

After a long wrangling session that went into the highways and byways, all bids on street lighting for the three streets were rejected and the clerk was instructed to readvertise for bids. The attorney ruled that the bids were illegal, the mayor ruled them out of order, the council members cupped their heads in their hands and debated waiving the attorney's opinion, and finally decided to stay safely within the law and advertise for bids a third time. The first set of bids was rejected, Oren Earle, chairman of the street lighting committee, explained, because it was impossible to determine on what type of standards the bidders were bidding, and the second set was ruled illegal by the attorney because, he said, the low bidder had totalled his bid on standards and installation, while the advertisement called for separate bids on each.

In the apartment building argument Mr. Zuehlke claimed that the plans for the apartment building had been drawn for another city and that they did not comply with the local ordinance. Mr. and Mrs. Schuetter, whose property adjoins the proposed site, argued that the erection of the building would depreciate the value of their property which they had purchased five years ago, trusting that the zoning ordinance would protect them from this type of encroachment, that 72 additional families in the neighborhood would bring excess noise, traffic congestion to a now quiet street, that eventually neighborhood stores and delicatessen shops would follow in the wake of the apartment building.

Back Property Holders

Alderman C. D. Thompson, backed by Alderman Philipp Vogt, pointed out that the adjacent property owners had the first right to decide whether the permit should be granted, and that it would be unwise for the council to give permission against the wishes of the property owners. Mr. Thompson agreed that Appleton has great need of this type of building, that many persons are living in Oshkosh and Green Bay because Appleton does not offer suitable small apartments, but despite this need, he felt that the location should be carefully considered.

He reminded the council that the zoning law requires a special permit in a case of this kind, and that a three-quarters vote of the council is necessary to grant the permit. Alderman Vogt felt that sites closer to the business district, where property has lost its residential value, is the proper place for an apartment building.

Protest Widening

About 60 per cent of the frontage on N. Superior-st was represented in the signed protest against the widening of N. Superior-st at this time. Despite the ruling of the attorney that the cost could be spread over a period of five years, the signers felt that present conditions do not warrant the improvement during this period of financial distress.

The Aid Association of Lutherans added the objection that the widening of the street from College-ave north would further cut down the now narrow sidewalk west of the Lutheran Aid building, and that while the widening would relieve automobile congestion, it would only add to pedestrian difficulties. It was suggested that N. Superior-st be widened from Washington-st on, thus leaving the sidewalks on the one block south of Washington-st wide enough to care for the added time. Despite the ruling of the attorney that the cost could be spread over a period of five years, the signers felt that present conditions do not warrant the improvement during this period of financial distress.

Davila Watchdog Of 700 American Millions in Chile

"Coups" Leave Ex-Reporter in Power—Wrote Strong Editorials

When Spry little Don Carlos Davila became provisional president of Chile for the second time after a third revolution, he brought to a climax a career as amazing as any in South America. And he re-lieved the minds of American investors with $700,000,000 at stake there.

Nineteen years ago Davila, who had worked his way through law school, set out from his little law office in search of a job. His brief career before the bar had been completely devoid of paying clients.

He landed a job on El Mercurio—the oldest newspaper in South America—and closed his little law office for good. Within four years he had become foreign editor of La Nacion, another leading paper, and he immediately introduced changes which revolutionized South American newspaper practice.

Before that time, South American newspapers had been European in character—long, rambling essays and political editorials filling most of the space available for news matter.

Davila threw out the essays, introduced dramatic and sports pages, carried political news stories instead of editorials and changed La Nacion into a thoroughgoing American newspaper. Other South American dailies followed.

This abrupt change from established methods is typical of Davila's methods. He did not hesitate to make in a few weeks changes which would have taken an ordinary editor years to make.

By 1927 Davila's newspapers had made him a political power in the nation. He was appointed ambassador to the United States, and his record in Washington made him one of the most popular diplomats in the capital.

As ambassador to the United States he took a leading part in the negotiations for settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru. After a lapse of 17 years, diplomatic relations between the two neighbors were resumed. Davila also had a part in governmental measures in Chile designed to raise the living standards of the worker and to prevent the accumulation of large fortunes.

For example, the government provided old age and illness pensions, and in case of the death of a breadwinner his salary was continued for two years after his death, and his children then received an annual sum equal to one-fifth of his salary until they were of age.

The Chilean government not only provided free schools but free hospitals.

And when Davila became president after the first "coup" there was small wonder that many persons cried out against a "Red" government in Chile.

As a matter of fact, Davila had given this group some basis for their claims by semi-communistic editorials in his newspapers.

He went out, and then was restored to power by a third "coup."

Once again in power, however, he immediately reassured business concerns that their property would not be confiscated.

American investors, who have a $700,000,000 stake in Chile, were relieved, to say the least, and if their influence can keep him in office, he is apt to remain in power at Santiago for many months.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sore and sick and the world looks black, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chocolate and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It must clog in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in pimples. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes time to get good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, among which comes the bile flow freely.

But don't take for five pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Be sure. Substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

DO YOU INHALE?

"We've spilled the beans" in the smoker's interest

Do you inhale? "You've spilled the beans!" said the cigarette trade when first we asked this simple question—a question which long had been treated with silence that would "shame a Sphinx!"

Why? Wasn't the subject vital enough to pursue? Or, was there a hidden reason for the general avoidance of the question by others?

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has chosen to raise this question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do—and so, in the smoker's interest, Luckies have not feared to "spill the beans."

THE FRIENDS WHO SURROUND

It is 44 years since Wisconsin's General Bragg spoke of loving a man "most for the enemies he has made," and the expression, which quickly struck a popular chord, will live as long as democracy lives because it has a peculiar application to our form of government, our men in public life and our attitude toward them.

What shall be said of opposing a man most for the friends who flock around his standard?

Consciously or otherwise that condition too has always affected the people in casting their ballots.

William Randolph Hearst, who publishes a great number of newspapers, is supporting Mr. Roosevelt. We cannot remember a candidate for the presidency whom Mr. Hearst supported successfully. Perhaps it is time for his luck to change.

But in his declaration of allegiance to Roosevelt, he has sought to sink a stiletto into the figure of Al Smith, quite unconscious, or indifferent, to the harm he will be doing the one whom he is pretending to support.

After the assassination of President McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt issued a statement denouncing a certain form of journalism. This denunciation was liberally applied by the public to Mr. Hearst although he was not named in it. For searing with a red hot iron the statement was a piece of classical beauty. It would be difficult to pass it and keep within the bounds of good English and language fit to print.

But when Alfred E. Smith was governor of New York he passed it and Mr. Hearst has never forgotten, how could he ever forget, the castigation he received.

Now Mr. Hearst says that Mr. Smith will support Governor Roosevelt because "it is only by loyalty that one gains loyalty." Therefore if Mr. Smith does not support the candidate he is disloyal—a nasty word. Also "Smith has always prided himself on being regular; it is not regular to be a renegade." This is a pretty word too—renegade—the small brother of a traitor.

Mr. Hearst is enjoying the defeat of Mr. Smith. He dips his pen in vitriol. But he isn't helping Governor Roosevelt. Mr. Hearst says:

"Smith will support Roosevelt all right, unless the brown derby has gone yellow; and of course it has not." Quite kind to intimate that Mr. Smith won't go yellow. Mr. Smith has never shown fondness for a color more often attached to Mr. Hearst's efforts than those of anyone else.

Mr. Smith may support the regular nominee of his party, but if he does it will be in spite of statements of this character and not because of them.

Mr. Smith apparently wanted time to think things over, to make a full and fair and patriotic decision, a thing only possible in cool reflection.

Mr. Smith is joining a great number of our greatest Americans who were too great to become president.

Whereas Mr. Hearst presents in spectacular form the wonders of a democracy which permit all of us, however mean, petty or small we are, to hurl the stones of treachery and cowardice and fling all base accusations at our Websters and Clays, our Lincolns and Wilsons and Smiths.

A GOVERNMENT WARNING

Along with the announcement of new postal regulations which became effective July 6 came a warning from the Post Office Department that any attempt to avoid payment of the higher postage rates through mail deliveries by agencies other than the postal service, constitutes a violation of the federal law.

Numerous cases are coming to light where public utilities and other corporations either contemplate, or have already made effective, plans for private distribution of bills, statements and other mail. With the higher postage rates it has been found profitable in many cases to make use of private agencies rather than the regular postal service.

In the United States we have been singularly blessed with freedom from government monopolies. The postal service is the sole industry coming within that category. As such, it performs a public service which cannot be equaled, or even approached by private enterprise.

On carrying the mails the government has a monopoly and any encroachment on this monopoly violates federal law. When an individual or organization contracts with any agency outside the Post Office to deliver mail, both employer and employee become subject to federal prosecution and penalty. The only way such individual or organization may obtain mail delivery through any medium other than the Department is to have their regular employees make deliveries along with their usual duties.

Any attempt to avoid payment of postage on material classed as mail constitutes tax evasion and is subject to the heavy penalties provided in such cases. To prevent such contemplated action, the Post Office Department now issues its warning with instructions to all postmasters throughout the country to be on the lookout for and report such violations.

CONVENTION LITERATURE

The real literature of the recent Democratic convention was not to be found in political addresses.

Despite the clear-cut language used in the platform, the precise, careful and always just words selected by the permanent chairman, Senator Walsh, the ability and long experience of many of the speakers on the public rostrum, the palm easily goes to two persons who delivered invocations opening up the convention to its daily routine.

One of these was Evangeline Booth of Salvation Army fame. Lifting up her voice in prayer, she said:

"In this tragic hour of the world's history we wonder if there is an interpretation of Thy will written upon the walls of the nations in letters of want and sorrow which we have not caught. 'Oh, God of all good, has the dark mantle which has enwrapped us been of Thy permitting?'"

"Has the great drive of commerce, the onrushing tide of unequalled progress, the ever increasing resources of our country's wealth, been broken in upon by the call of sacrifice, suffering and want, lest we forget? 'Forget that a nation's power is not alone to be found in its material advantages; forget that its strength, its arm, its wealth, the extent of its territories are not alone the measure of its strength.'"

"But Thou in the majesty of Thy unerring wisdom hast decreed that a nation's power shall rather be found in its moral influences, in the authority of its enlightened teachings, in the righteousness of its politics and in its ascendancy in goodness and truth."

Thus did this capable woman with magical words placed in question form paint a picture that must have made a lasting impression upon every ear that heard.

Another opening prayer was delivered by Right Rev. Mgr. Ostrowski.

Father Ostrowski too arose to serene heights in the beauty of the language employed to hold before the convention, although humbly and impartially, ideas that have recently permeated mankind concerning the troubles that afflict the world. Said he:

"With diffidence and hesitation and fear do we stand before Thee in these times of stress and threatening dangers. Idols formed by the work of our hands during the past generations are falling and crumbling before Thee as did Dagon of old in the presence of the Ark of the Covenant. 'The towering structures of industry and finance, constructed so cleverly and with such infinite pains, are tumbling daily before our eyes.'"

"The sky is dark with ominous clouds and the roll of distant thunder is presaging possible domestic commotions. The atmosphere is heavy with the impending storm and, Lord, we anxiously fear for the future of this land, the free and home of the brave."

"The elements of disorder are rampant in this beautiful land of ours. Apathy and indifference have seized upon the souls of men; suffering, misery and hunger have disheartened them to such an extent as to make them receptive to destructive propaganda. Lord, do not permit the forces of evil to triumph over the people of this glorious land."

"We have lost confidence in man. Thou alone canst help us."

"With this in mind, we bow our heads before Thee in acknowledgment of our many trespasses and strike our breasts in contrition for our innumerable misdemeanors, and we beseech Thee to forgive our sins and avert from us the imminent perils."

Such language so employed was formed by the lips but came from the heart. It was genuine, above all things, sincere. It bespoke conditions of want and misery but it did not shut eyes to the lights of hope.

In both instances real literature was created.

VIKING BURIALS

Upsala university, Stockholm, recently displayed to the public the rich finds made at Valsgarde, a village just north of the town of Upsala, Sweden. An ancient Viking burial place of the seventh, eighth and ninth centuries found there has yielded some of the most remarkable relics from that period known to archaeology.

Among the finds are a boat, in which lies a warrior dressed in all the trappings of war, with three shields, two swords, knives and a splendid helmet, all richly ornamented in gilt bronze. In the bow are several horses and between them and the body of the warrior had been placed all kinds of kitchen utensils and domestic implements. Three graceful glass cups attracted the special attention of the students, such finds being extremely rare from that particular period, the eighth century. It is expected with certainty that the remaining graves will yield equally interesting finds from that far-off period in Sweden's history.

Only a couple of days ago some workmen, while digging in the ground near the town of Varberg on the west coast of Sweden, discovered some curious flint objects at a depth of about 12 feet. The objects showed traces of having been worked by human hands, and archaeologists from the Varberg Museum found them to be traces of a human habitation dating between 10,000 and 11,000 years back, one of the oldest, if not the oldest, of its kind found in Sweden.—North China Daily News (Shanghai).

Ever since the peace treaties, Austria has been torn from her rightful heritage—an economic union in which she played such an important part because of her geographical position and cultural attainments. Vienna and Austria were, in a sense, the heart of this economic empire.

JANET AND I DISCUSS SPELLING

You find it difficult to spell
Such simple words as "their" and "prey,"
Yet what of little girls who dwell
In Wales three thousand miles away?
If you think English hard to learn,
Filled full of words to plague and tease,
The pages of your atlas turn
And gaze upon such words as these:
Eglynwyrw,
Tanyreglwyys.

Pale women faint and fighters strong
Will faint at times, exciting foes,
And little children will go wrong,
As every worried teacher knows.
But, troubled Janet, at the board,
Remember when a word you miss,
If you were asked to spell out "ford,"
In Wales a ford is known as this:
Rhydyfwrch.

You think your spelling lessons hard,
But buckle to them with a will,
You'll learn that soldiers stand on "guard"
And properly to spell "fulfill."
But if at times your memory fails,
Think what a happier fate you own
Than all the little girls in Wales,
Who have to answer this for "stone":
Llechyd.

Personal Health Talks

MEETING ADJOURNED TO THE HAW HAW CORNER

This is indeed a rare summer day. A number of bowlers throwing their weight about the green. So instead of holding our regular school session today, children, we are going to adjourn to the haw haw corner where a guest instructor will entertain you for a while. Now listen:

Dear Doctor:
When the discussion on skin absorption came up previously I fully intended writing—now at this revival of the topic I cannot resist.

I had always understood that the skin did not absorb anything until a beauty parlor expert (Note by Ed.—Beauty parlor experts are a degree higher than barber shop sages and their customers a shade more credulous) told me to make up a mixture of one-third castor oil, one-third olive oil and one-third so-and-so's mange cure as a scalp treatment for dandruff. This I did and after rubbing it on my head I noticed a violent purgation.

This I ascribed to something I had eaten. But later when I again saw the beauty parlor expert I commented on the mixture as a dandruff remedy, and she warned me that too much of it rubbed on the head would cause purgation. Then I told her of my experience, and she laughingly said it is a pleasant way to take castor oil.

The proportions used in the mixture are about two ounces of each, but that quantity serves for months of treatment, and only the ordinary few drops one applies to the scalp where there is to be no shampoo to follow, is sufficient to produce the purgation. Of course the small quantity remains several days on the scalp.

At any rate I am personally sold on the idea that the skin does absorb. It is certain that castor oil will produce its characteristic purgative effect when rubbed on the unbroken skin of the head.

Yours truly,
E. F.

In some of our older textbooks we find the bald assertion that castor oil will sometimes have a purgative action when rubbed on the "abdomen" of young children. But these ancient medical "comes are stuffed with a lot of hoecy. There's why medical or "doctor" books published them to years ago are published more than ten years ago are dangerous for the unsophisticated layman to believe in, and misleading even for the trained medical reader.

Among old-fashioned nurses the conviction still prevails that a feeble infant may be nourished and strengthened by cod liver oil or even olive oil (sweet oil) rubbed on the infant's skin regularly. It is not implausible that some vitamins influence may be imparted to the body by such application of cod liver oil. It is sheer absurdity to imagine the baby can be nourished through the skin. The advantage of the feeble infant derives from daily oil baths is mainly the protective oil baths or rubs is mainly the protection and warmth given by oil.

A few drops of fresh castor oil may be added to alcoholic lotions for the scalp, when one desires to prevent the excessive dryness which such lotions may cause. For this purpose not more than three or four drops of oil to the ounce should be used.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Calcium for Colic

Some time ago you described a discovery of some medical scientists that colic could be quickly relieved by the injection of some calcium compound into the veins. Would you be good enough to give us the reference to this? (J. W. Co.)

Answer—Mrs. Bauer, Salter and Aub, Boston, found that the very slow injection into a vein of 20 c. c. of a sterile 5 per cent solution of calcium chloride promptly relieves the severe pain of colic, be it lead colic or colic from gallstones or renal colic. They caution that not more than 2 c. c. the solution (approximately half a teaspoonful) per minute be given.

Food Thrown Away
For a year I have been almost an absolute vegetarian—I eat fish once a week. Why are the leaves of some vegetables thrown away, such as tops of carrots, turnips and many others, and why not the tips of asparagus used? (J. M. C.)

Answer—It is just an old Yankee custom. The leaves or tops of such vegetables are good to eat and should be eaten freely. Likewise radish tops, green onion tops, celery leaves, parsley leaves.

Granulated Eyelids
Some months ago I developed granulated eyelids. A friend told me that boric acid would cure them, but before trying it I thought I would ask your opinion. . . (Mrs. F. L. S.)

Answer—I advise you to consult an oculist.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE juggler's legs were very strong. Said he, "Now, nothing will go wrong. I've practiced years to do this stunt and now I know it well."

"Why, I've tossed big men in the air and given folks a treat that's rare. So thrilling has my act been that I've oft made people yell."

Then Duncy said, as best he could: "Don't worry! I'll admit you're good and I am having lots of fun. Just toss me higher, please."

"As long as I don't take a flop, I really don't care when you stop. The man then caught we Duncy, holding him real still with ease."

"I'm going to make you do a turn. I'm sure that you will quickly learn just how to help me swing you round," he told the little lad.

"You may get dizzy for a bit, but soon you will get used to it. I have a hunch 'twill be the biggest thrill you've ever had."

Like other Tynmites stood nearby and every one just seemed to sigh as Duncy turned a somersault and landed safe and sound.

This happened several times and then the Tynmites started clapping when the man tossed Duncy out and let him land upon the ground.

The clapping made the lad feel proud and, turning to the little crowd, he said, "Hey, Copsy, it's your turn. You're clever as can be."

I saw a cub bear right nearby and if they'll let you, you should try to wrestle with the fellow. What a sight we all will see."

The little cub bear was brought out and he was tame, there was no doubt. The keeper said to Copsy, "Go ahead and try your luck."

The bear won't bite and, though he's strong, I'm sure that nothing will go wrong. Show all the other Tynmites that you have a heap of pluck."

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — Political observers

in the capital, who have watched Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa for a number of years in the senate, find it hard to believe that his defeat at the hands of Henry Field will silence him.

They watched him when he returned to Washington two or three days after the election. There was nothing crestfallen in his appearance. He greeted fellow senators with a broad grin and hearty handshakes.

Everybody on the hill knows Brookhart is a republican in name only. He is, perhaps, the most insurging "progressive" of the whole bunch in the senate. He wades in slinging both fists often when some of his other brethren are inclined to be a bit more cautious.

An Independent
Being of that type, then, what's to keep Brookhart from running in the general elections in November as an out and out independent. It probably would give the democrats a good chance to win the election, but Brookhart perhaps wouldn't be particularly grieved at that. He contended from the start that Field, his one-time great and good friend, was induced to make the race against him by enemies of the race both.

Brookhart might get a tremendous kick out of wallowing then by running as an independent.

That he still retains a considerable following in Iowa is evident. Some observers say that all his opponents hoped to accomplish in the primary election was to cut down his vote to below a 85 per cent total. If that could be done, then the state law requires that the choice be made by a state convention.

Such a convention would in all probability be controlled by those bitterly opposed to Brookhart, they thought.

He Remembers Grades
As it turned out, however, this strategic move was unnecessary. "Salesman Henry" got enough votes by himself.

Brookhart is not the type of person to take a drubbing lying down. He is slow to forget a grudge.

Drys Hope to Draft Borah As Candidate

Idahoan Leaves Door Open To Possible Nomination at Later Date

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
Indianapolis —(AP)— Without the name of Senator William E. Borah before him, but hoping he yet will be drafted as a dry third party candidate for the presidency, delegates to the Prohibition party's national convention today turned to old party workers for their nominee.

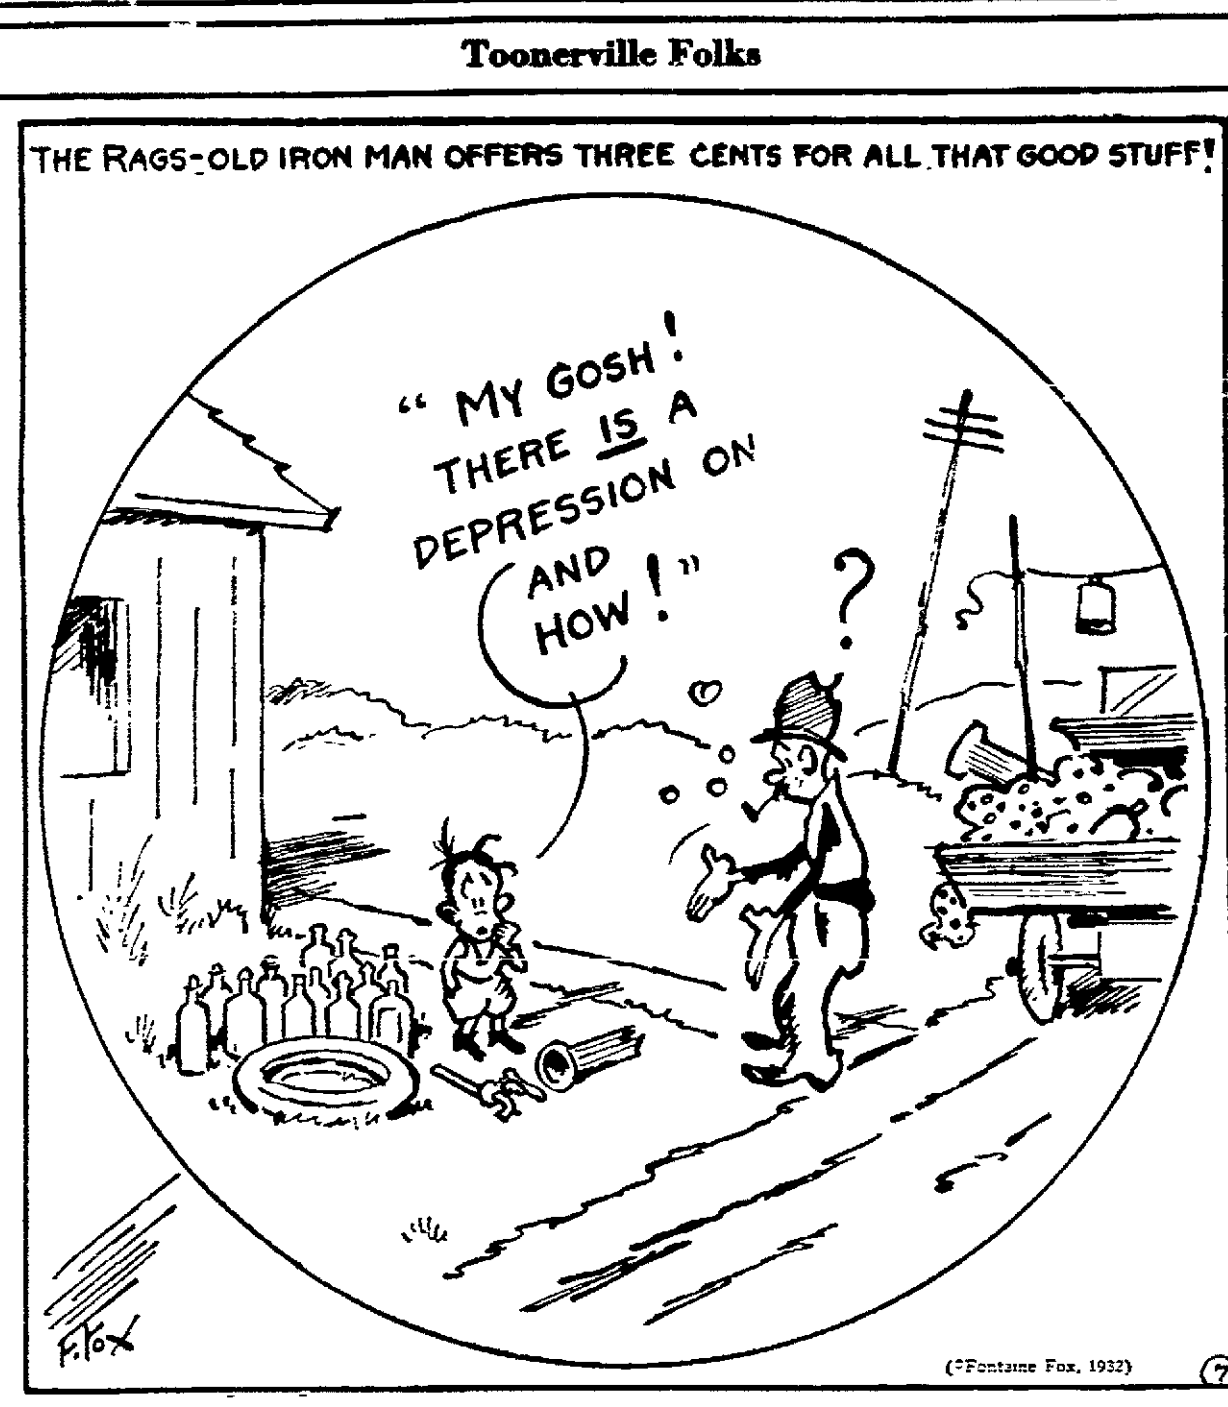

With the convention apparently ready to nominate the Idaho statesman, leaders last night talked with him by telephone and then issued the following statement:

"The senator greatly appreciates the compliment which the convention confers upon him in its willingness to nominate him for the presidency. He advises, however, that the convention do not make such nomination as such a call should come, if at all, from a great united uprising of the people to be expressed at a subsequent convention representing the united moral forces of the nation."

The reference was to a meeting of the National Prohibition Board of Strategy and National Conference of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment to be held at Washington next week. These include representatives of all the major dry organizations. Throughout the convention here there have been indications these groups would be interested in backing Borah for the presidency. In addition Prohibition party leaders who have conferred with him have said that if such support is thrown behind him he would consent to make the campaign. Others close to Borah at Washington point to Borah's repeated refusal to head a third party and his assertions that prohibition is not a promising basis for a successful third party.

Before last night's session of the convention, a platform was adopted which included a declaration for American adherence to the World Court. Borah has long been a foe of such action.

The group seeking to make him the nominee laid plans for naming another with the proviso that the latter withdrew if the senator after the Washington meeting should consent to run.

The plan, however, went askew when Borah's name was presented to the convention and an enthusiastic ovation followed. State standards were carried in a long procession about the aisles, in a demonstration recalling last week's scenes in Chicago stadium. A pipe organ helped with "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Marching to Zion." Convention leaders hurriedly consulted Borah by telephone anxious not to embarrass him or hamper the efforts of leaders of other dry organizations to draw him into the presidential field. Their statement followed.

Borah's withdrawal left a group of long-time Prohibition party workers in nomination for the candidacy. They were Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., convention keynoter; National Chairman D. Leigh Colvin; Frank S. Regan of Rockford, Ill., and Harley W. Kidder of Barre, Vt. William F. Varney, the 1928 nominee, was presented but withdrew in favor of Regan.

Briand, Fame Secure, Rests In Tiny Town

Body of Former French President is Moved to Cocherel Churchyard

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris—It may be as true today, as in Caesar's time, that the good that men do is of: interred with their bones, but four months' scrutiny of the private affairs of Aristide Briand has failed to uncover any sinister evil in his life that might live after him.

Briand is at home at last, his body transferred from a temporary grave here to the churchyard of Cocherel, the little village in Normandy where he found peace and rest from his political struggle for peace among men. There he was loved by the simple peasant folk and there his memory is honored with something of spiritual sentiment.

Back here in the capital mischievous tongues have just about stopped wagging. There has been found no substance to the suspicions that were whispered after the death of Briand early in March. These suggested that he had been deluged into the state treasury and negotiating with foreign powers for his own gain.

He was even depicted in some quarters, which tried to tarnish his name, as a traitor, but his friends and the increasing legion of his admirers have rallied to his memory and given the lie to accusations made against him.

In his will, which was dated Sept. 1, 1931, Briand bequeathed his property in and about Cocherel to Mme. Lucie Uro-Jourdan, a friend who lives in Paris. All other property and effects, including his small Paris apartments, he left to his nephew, Charles Billau, with conditions that he should provide for his mother, Briand's sister, and his father during their lifetime.

The country place is about all of any real value left by Briand, who was a government minister for 25 years and 11 time premier.

Yet the property consists of only 850 acres. Its valuation today is placed at about 1,000,000 francs, or $40,000. He did not say much for it, but worked improvements in his spare time which increased its value.

His house cost him originally only $350.

This farm was Briand's only luxury in life. He was never seen playing about town or going to the races. His only domestic servants were his faithful valet, Emile, and an old cook. Up to the time of his death his dining room, where distinguished men from all parts of the world were glad to sit and partake of his fare, was furnished most simply and boasted of only six chairs.

If there was a seventh at table an extra chair would have to be brought in from the kitchen.

The soul of Briand, the simple citizen, went into his estate which, under American standards, would be nothing to speak about for a statesman.

It is revealed that in 1920, when he bought another patch of land to enlarge his estate, he was not able to pay the price of $11,000, but had to leave about $4000 of it over for installments, and $3000 of the amount he did pay was borrowed from a friend. He became almost extravagant, in his comparatively small way, when he had his salary as a permanent delegate to the League of Nations, for his pay as a minister kept him pinched.

In 1926, it has lately been learned, Briand faced what appeared to him a disaster. His financial position was such that he couldn't meet payments on his property and it looked like he would have to get rid of part of it. In the midst of his Le Mans achievement, when his name rang around the world, he was greatly troubled about what he owed.

Then Briand had perhaps the only supreme break in his private life. He was awarded the Nobel prize. It was an honor, of course, but aside from that it brought the individual the equivalent of $30,000. It was wealth.

Briand paid all bills at once and had plenty left.

In Paris Briand lived since before the war and died in a little apartment that was made up of a dining room, bedroom, bath and hallway, at a rental of $400 a year. He had no servants, and if he wanted to eat there he would call the concierge to fry him an egg or two.

"45 YEARS OF FAITHFUL SERVICE"

Valley Zone Picnic Set For Sunday

ARRANGEMENTS for attending the Fox River Valley Zone picnic to be held next Sunday at Camp Wauwasha, Silver Lake near Wautoma, were made at a meeting of the new executive board of the Senior Walthers League, Mt. Olive Lutheran church, Wednesday evening in the church parlors.

Howard Smith, Carlton Schneider, and Robert Krukeberg were appointed to serve on the transportation committee, and Evelyn Reineke, Vera Moeller, and Anna Claire Mueller were named on the refreshment committee.

A basket picnic lunch will be served for dinner and supper. The rally will open with an outdoor service at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and in the afternoon baseball will be played. Each society represented will enter a team to compete for the championship of the zone.

Swimming and boating will provide other entertainment during the day. In the evening a campfire and weiner roast will be held, bringing activities to a close. It is expected that about 50 members of the societies of Mt. Olive and St. Paul Lutheran churches will attend. A large bus will provide transportation for all members, both juniors and seniors.

Plans for a picnic to be held July 20 at the home of Mrs. H. Schumann, route 5, Appleton, were made at the meeting of Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Knoke, Linwood-ave. Eighty members were present. Other business was discussed and a social hour followed.

Hostesses were Mrs. Louis Schmidt, Mrs. Ben Melcher, Mrs. Frank Mueller, Mrs. Louis Seig, Miss Lucy Scholz, Mrs. H. Schumann, Mrs. Herman Schulze, Mrs. Arthur Pahl, Mrs. H. Schmidt, Mrs. John Stroup, Mrs. Emil Schwahn, and Mrs. Walter Trettien.

Five tables of cards were in play at the social meeting of Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Prizes were won at schafkopf by Mrs. Freda Moore, Mrs. Anna Doerfler, and Mrs. Mary Boldt, and the special prize was awarded to Mrs. Ernestine Pruetz.

A business meeting will take place next Wednesday when plans will be made for the annual picnic at Pierce park.

Maurice S. Peerenboom was elected delegate of Charles O. Baer sang, Spanish War Veterans, to the national convention to be held in Milwaukee in August, at the meeting of the local camp Tuesday night at the armory. Aaron Zerbelt was named alternate.

Discussion on the recent state encampment at Baraboo took place. Twenty-four members were present.

A ball game between the Brotherhood teams of Trinity English Lutheran church, Appleton, and St. Paul church, Neenah, will be held at 6 o'clock Friday night at Roosevelt field.

An outdoor service for all churches of this synod in the Fox river valley will take place a week from next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Perrine, 1030 W. Winnebago-st., entertained the Schafkopf club Wednesday night at their home. Prizes were won by Howard Eberhardt, Leo Keating, and Mrs. Eberhardt. The club will meet in about a month with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Koss, E. Brewster-st.

Members of the World Wide Guild of First Baptist church will meet at 6:45 Thursday night at the church. Final plans will be made for the ice cream social to be held Saturday afternoon and evening, with which the Senior Baptist Young People's Union will assist.

Miss Beatrice Bosser
In Dance Selections

Miss Beatrice Bosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bosser, 330 E. Atlantic-st. who has been at Long Beach, Calif., since last December, entertained with dance selections at the bridge breakfast which was given recently at Mrs. A. W. Horton's home at Long Beach. Miss Bosser, formerly a pupil of the Benister Dancing Academy in Appleton, went to California with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bosser last year and is attending high school and taking advanced dancing lessons there.

Students Apply for License to Marry

A marriage license was issued recently at Waukegan, Ill., to Robert Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Barnes, Oshkosh, and Miss Evelyn Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walsh, also of Oshkosh. Both young people were students at Lawrence Conservatory of Music last year. Miss Walsh's father is a member of the faculty of Oshkosh State Teachers' college.

Four-Ball Mixed Foursome at Club

A four-ball mixed foursome is being played at North Shore Country Club Thursday afternoon. Dinner will be served to those participating in the tournament at 7:30 this evening.

Guest day for men will be observed Saturday at the club when an invitation golf tournament will be held.

Antigo Teacher Becomes Bride Of Elmer Dunn

The marriage of Miss Myrtle Marston, a member of the faculty of Antigo high school for the past 30 years, and Elmer E. Dunn, 207 S. Meade-st., takes place today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ladwig, Antigo, relatives of the bride. The Rev. Mr. Freeling of the Congregational church will perform the ceremony. On their return to Appleton, the couple will reside at 207 S. Meade-st.

The bride, who spent her girlhood in Appleton, attended Appleton high school and was graduated from Oshkosh Normal school. Later she attended summer sessions at Oshkosh Normal school and the University of Wisconsin. For the past nine years she was librarian at Antigo high school and for 22 years before that she taught English and coached declamation and dramatics. She is an active member of the Business and Professional Women's club, Daughters of the American Revolution, Eastern Star, and the Congregational church.

The wedding was a banquet given by the Alumni Association of Antigo high school June 3, upon her resignation from the faculty after 30 years of service.

Twenty-Five Women In Golf Tournament At Butte des Morts

Miss Joan Steele, Appleton, won the prize for the least number of strokes on No. 17 hole, using a putter from the tee to the hole, in the women's golf tournament Wednesday at Butte des Morts Golf club. She took three strokes for the hole which is 120 yards.

Mrs. H. C. Hilton, Neenah, had a low net score of 41 on the last nine holes. Her gross was 60 and her handicap 19. Twenty-five women took part in the tournament. Mrs. E. L. Davis, Appleton, was golf champion for the day and she was assisted by Mrs. George Schmidt and Mrs. Ralph Cee.

About 25 women played bridge instead of golf after the luncheon. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. C. Jacobson and Mrs. Paul Hackbert. Mrs. J. J. Stafford, Neenah, was in charge.

Parties

Mrs. Arlene Karrow entertained Friday night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Theron Kohl, 812 W. Brewster-st., in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Carl Ziegen and Mrs. A. Markovic. Cards and dice were played and prizes won by Mrs. Henry Schinke and Mrs. Ed Hancock. Twenty guests were present.

Mrs. Gust Zuehlke and Mrs. Mary Rademacher won the prizes at schafkopf at the first of a series of card parties sponsored by the Auxiliary to Spanish War Veterans Wednesday afternoon in the basement of Appleton State bank. Mrs. Mary Frenz won the bridge prize, and Mrs. A. Beltz the prize at dice. Eight tables were in play.

Christian Mothers' society of St. Mary church will hold a card party at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Columbia hall. Mrs. John Hughes and Mrs. Hugh Garvey will be in charge. Schafkopf and bridge will be played.

Silver Wedding Anniversary is Celebrated Here

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Zelle, 914 E. Eldorado-st., observed their silver wedding anniversary Monday. The Zelles were married in Texas and spent the first five years of their wedded life there. They then came to Appleton where they have since lived. They have two children, Mary Leona and Clarence, Jr., both at home.

Mother Sends Flowers To Son's Alaskan Grave

Oakland, Calif. —(AP)— Each year for 26 years, a coast guard cutter has carried a flower wreath symbolizing a mother's love for a departed son, 2,748 miles, from this city to Dutch Harbor, Alaska. The flowers are brought to the government dock here each year just before the coast guard ship, now the Northland, leaves on the annual northern trip, by Mrs. Dora Murray. At the journey's end they are placed on the grave of her son, Bert Rankin, a member of the crew of the cutter Rush who died in 1906 and was buried with military honors.

The courtesy has become a ceremony and a part of the tradition of the coast guard's mission of service and mercy into the Far North.

AIMEE BACKS MATE IN LOVE SUIT

"Every man has his affairs of the heart before he finds the woman of his ultimate choice." So said Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, woman pastor of Angelus Temple, refusing to be perturbed by the breach of promise testimony a Pasadena nurse leveled at the evangelist's baritone-husband, David. Here's Aimee on her sickbed in a sanatorium at Palm Springs, Calif., where she is recovering from a nervous breakdown, being visited by her husband in an interval in his court battle with Myrtle Joan St. Pierre.

Mrs. Banta Again Grand President of Kappa Alpha Theta

Mrs. George Banta, Jr., Menasha, was reelected grand president of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at the national convention which was held recently in Estes Park, Colo. Mrs. Banta will continue to hold office for the next two years.

The convention was attended by delegates and visitors from the various chapters of the sorority all over the United States. Sessions began June 24 and continued until July 4.

Miss Dorothy Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Murphy, 813 E. College-ave, who represented Appleton alumnae chapter, returned home Monday, and Miss Dorothy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Claim House Ferns Grew During Dark Ages of Monsters

Prints Found in Coal and Rocks of Ancient Formations

Every housewife who keeps a flower garden probably has a fern indoors that serves to brighten up the house on black winter days. In the fern she has one of 8000 known species of a plant that is one of the oldest in the world.

Ferns in some form run the gamut of climates of the earth and are found from the Arctic Circle to the tropics. They grow in size from tiny moss-like plants to great towering tree ferns in the tropics, which grow to a height of 20 and 30 feet.

Ferns are thought to have had their origin back in the Paleozoic era, which, geologists tell us, was millions of years ago. They were extremely abundant during the Carboniferous period, when the formation of coal and other fuel began on the earth. Imprints of their fronds have been found in coal and rock deposits.

Ferns Most Popular

Probably the most common type of house fern is the Boston in its numerous varieties. Hundreds of thousands of these ferns are sold in the United States every year.

In caring for ferns, they must be regularly watered, repotted occasionally and given a moderate temperature, plenty of sunlight and a little fertilizer occasionally.

Many attempts have been made by amateur gardeners to transplant native woods ferns in their gardens and homes. These attempts have, for the most part, been unsuccessful. Apparently these tender natives of the cool woods cannot acclimate themselves to the change of temperature and the relative lack of moisture indoors.

Those that have been domesticated, in addition to the Boston fern, are the holly ferns, some of which are Cretan Brake and Spider Brake, and the Maidenhairs.

Outside of decorative purposes, ferns have a commercial and economic value in various parts of the world.

Some type are used as medicines by natives of tropical America. One with an abundant vinelike root system is used in parts of South America for sweetening. The Licorice Fern in the western part of the United States is sought for its flavoring and medicinal qualities.

In Hawaii the huge tree ferns furnish a table dish. The starchy core of the fern is baked and eaten as a substitute for taro and the sweet potato.

In parts of tropical America trunks of tree ferns are used as telegraph poles and building timbers. They are valuable in this part of the world because they resist attacks of termites, wood-eating insects.

Woven Into Hats
Inner strands of the Vine-fern are used for weaving in Java. Cigar cases, baskets, lightweights and other articles made from this fern.

Ferns are particularly attractive in rock gardens. They should be planted in a moist, well-drained soil, and in partial shade. A northern exposure is considered best. A light soil is necessary, and sand and leaf mold should be worked into a clay soil to lighten it.

A rugged slope adds to the attraction of the ferns. Use irregular rocks of varying size and bed them deep in the earth. Set the roots well into the soil and soak well around them.

Maternal Love Makes Decision Hard for Girl

Not Easy to Choose Between Losing Husband and Child

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young girl and have been engaged for three years and am soon to be married. My fiancée has a fine position and in addition conducts a large orchestra and is very popular. Is widely known and greatly liked. He has a wonderful family. We have a baby girl several months old. As soon as we are married I want to adopt her, but George says "no," that I must put her in a foundling home. That is people found out about her and she would be disgraced, and he cannot stand that. So I must decide between him and my baby. I will be miserable if I give him up, but I want my baby. What shall I do?

Answer:

We have to pay for our sins, don't we, Dora? And I can think of no higher price that a woman can pay than to have to decide between her baby and the man she loves. Which ever she chooses, will be a heart-break for the other.

Of course, you have to look at George's side of the matter and that is easy enough to see. He is popular, admired, respected, has hosts of friends, an enviable position in the community. It certainly would be a humiliation to him to have his little pink balloon that is sailing so gayly in the air snatched away by gossiping tongues as it would be if he returned from his honeymoon with a child. Perhaps, in his egotism, he also spares you a thought and wants to save you from the cold welcome you would get from his family and friends if you came among them with the evidence of your weakness and folly in your arms.

Also, you must remember that paternity is not to me what maternity is to women. Very few men seem to have any more feeling or sense of responsibility toward their illegitimate children than a stray cat has toward its kittens. A child has to be born in wedlock and the father has to be associated with it intimately in the home, he has to have a privilege to take him to school as a general thing. But there are very few women in the world who do not love their children even before they are born and whose arms do not ache for their little ones as long as they live, if they are forced to give them up.

Of course, thousands of girls who bring fatherless little children into the world are compelled to turn them over to asylums and give them to more fortunate women to adopt because of their fear of disgrace and because they cannot possibly support a child and themselves, too, and because they know it would be much better for the child, but I doubt if one of these poor pitiful unwed mothers ever ceases to grieve over her lost baby.

So much may be said in excuse of George. He is taking the easiest way that probably nine men out of ten would take under the circumstances, but if he were a finer and stronger character he would stand up and take his punishment and do his duty by the little helpless creature that he brought into the world. For her cannot evade his responsibility there. He owes it to the child to give her a name and a home and the blessing of being brought up by a mother who loves her.

At present it would be inadvisable for all concerned for you to follow your plan and adopt her, but several years hence it might be done without causing any comment and it would give you both a chance to save your conscience and make what amends you could to the child for your sin against her.

But if you have to decide between George and the child I think you will be wise to take him, because you cannot make money to even feed and cloth the child decently. You will have nobody to take care of her and she would be better off in an asylum than she would be with you. Also, in an asylum her life will not be made miserable by being teased with her illegitimacy as it would be if she was known as the child of an unwed mother.

Also, your little girl will have the chance of being adopted by some woman who will be a good mother to her and give her a home and rearing, and some other man will give her a name her own father refuses her.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a middle-aged woman, comfortably well off, but very lonely. I am engaged to a widower similarly circumstanced and as we are very congenial we feel that we could make each other happy. But the widower has a married daughter who lives with him and who will not permit him to marry, but because she does not want him to marry at all. She goes into hysterics and threatens to destroy herself if he marries. I have asked him to give his daughter the larger portion of his property before we marry, and I am willing to use my own money for us to live on, but nothing satisfies her. We are both very unhappy and she makes his

In Your Garden

Complaint is often made by garden makers that their evergreen trees or shrubs, especially their junipers and spruces, are turning rusty from a cause, which cannot be explained. This trouble is usually due to an infestation of red spider, an almost invisible mite which spins a web at the base of the needles. Red spider can often be checked or eradicated by spraying the branches with a strong stream of water from the hose. This plan should always be tried first if water is available. The only other remedy is to spray with an oil solution such as it recommended by reliable dealers. This usually is effective. A strong stream of water may also be used successfully to give plant life from the foliage of ornamental trees and shrubs, or for that matter of climbing roses, if the under side of the leaves can be reached.

UNHAPPY ONES.

Answer:

That is the easiest question I have ever been called upon to answer. No problem at all. Don't say another word to daughter. Just step around to the parson and get married and then go off on a nice long bridal trip. And from the first stop send her a wire telling her what you have done and that there is no use crying over spilt milk.

She will throw a few fits and probably sulk a while, and if nobody notices her she will get over it and everybody will be happy. As for her carrying out her threat to kill herself, that is simply a bluff that she will run all of her life to get her own way, and if you have just got the nerve to call it out you will find out that instead of taking rough-on-raids she will mix up a dose of bicarbonate of soda or that the pistol she flourishes around hasn't had a load in it for ten years.

Hysterics is the coward's weapon that a lot of women use to gratify their own desires. They are crybabies who howl for what they want until they get it. They make scenes if they are crossed and so everybody walks on tip-toes around them and gratifies their every whim. Thus are they enabled to tyrannize over the family because nobody has enough sense or backbone to just walk off and leave them to their own devices when they begin to scream and rage.

It is perfectly silly for a middle-aged man and woman to let their lives be ruined by the whim of an utterly selfish woman who, for no reason at all, wants to keep him from getting married, and if you give in to her you will deserve all you get.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am often called "a good girl" and "a nice girl." What is the difference between the two?

Answer:

None whatever. A good girl is a nice girl and a nice girl is a good girl, and either one or both of them is a sweet and a dear.

Train Child Not to Fear Night Noise

BY ANGELO PATRI

A little child of three who had been sleeping soundly all night long, wakened one night and screamed in terror. His mother ran to his crib and, almost as frightened as he, begged him to tell her what was the matter.

"Eyes," he said, "and claws and things in the dark. I'm afraid." Clinging to his mother he sobbed and shuddered until she said, "Come along to mother's bed. Nothing can hurt you there." Snuggled in beside his mother he was soon asleep.

All day he played happily enough and went to bed as usual. About two o'clock, as the night before, he sat up in his crib and screamed for help. His mother went to comfort him and again he refused to be comforted until he was safe in his mother's bed. Now he does this regularly and the family's rest is broken night after night. He doesn't mind because he sleeps late in the morning anyway, and his terror lasts only long enough for him to get into his mother's bed. He is asleep almost immediately while his disturbed elders toss and twist for hours.

I do not know why children have night terrors. Something has frightened them perhaps. Maybe some old race-memory stirred. A shadow danced on the wall and lay darkly on his bed, an unusual sound wakened him and the darkness frightened him, an experience during the day—perhaps a story of creepy and fearsome details—one never knows. The difficulty lies in allaying the fear once it has been brought forward.

Turn on the light the first thing. Speak quietly and reassuringly to the child. Let him go to the bathroom, wash his hands, have a drink, put out the light and go to sleep. That is, what you do if he will let you. If he won't, you have to do the best you can to quiet him. Don't argue with him telling him there is nothing to fear. Keep still. Your own saying a word. As soon as you see he is wide awake, that he needs nothing, leave him and go to your bed. If he shouts and screams, howls like one possessed, shut his doors and let him howl it out. Leave him a light. Tell him to turn it out when he is ready.

You won't sleep until he stops crying but it is better to lie awake a while for a few times than to allow the child to fasten this habit upon himself and you. You can readily understand that if he finds that waking in the night and screaming for help brings him a berth in his mother's bed he is going to earn it every night from then henceforward.

His fear is real to him. But he need not hold it. He can tell himself that there is nothing to fear, turn over and go to sleep, if we train him that way. Put a night light on the head of his bed and teach him to turn it on when he awakens and to help himself without waking the household. Teach him that while you are sorry for his bad dreams you can't help him. He has to help himself.

There are a few children who need the help of the specialists. If you have an easily stimulated child, one who cries and laughs and shudders and squeals at a touch, he needs the treatment of the specialist, preferably the one who is in association with some good child clinic or hospital. All children have fears. Few need be actually troubled by them if we take them in hand at the start. Give them a light be- hind and send them away and leave them alone. Otherwise, call the specialist.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

THE STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

THE wedding was over. The guests had departed. Ruth, smiling radiantly, yet wistfully, had gone away.

But the house was suddenly home-like, secure, again.

"Let's not ever have anyone come to see us for a long, long time," Sue said to Jack. "I've been so lonesome for you while you were gone. It frightens me to care so much. Supposing something should happen to you."

Her dark blue eyes, black now and a little frightened, lit up at this. He had them shut and pulled her head down on his shoulder. "I've got the same idea about things," he told her. "You don't need to be told that."

For a long time there was just the crackling of a log in the fireplace, the soft drink of snowflakes at the window, the sound of the wind tangled in the trees.

"Jack, have you heard from your father?" Sue said presently. "Doesn't he want to see you?"

"He hasn't sent me any S. O. S.'s," Jack answered dryly. "He's married again.... he doesn't need me to make life worth living. He's a proud sort of person. I didn't do what he wanted me to and he isn't going to forget it any sooner than he has to. But who cares?"

"You do," Sue answered promptly. "He's your father and he was proud of your law record in his office. He misses you as much as you miss him, too. Maybe even more. You have to get things patched up."

"They'll work out all right. Don't worry your curly head about it. It's getting late. How about calling it a day?"

But Sue, as she lay in bed and listened to Jack's regular breathing, was wondering how she could reconcile the two men. She raised up on one elbow. In the shadows Jack's face looked a little older, rather tired. The gay, debonair charm that had attracted her on that long ago first day in the office was still there, but it had an added sense of responsibility. She leaned over, kissed him lightly on the forehead, and fell asleep wondering what she could do to make everything all right.

Late the next afternoon she heard a car stopping in the drive. Running to the window she saw Grace coming across the veranda.

"I bought some pecan rolls.... a new kind that a French pastry shop is putting out," Grace told her a minute later. "Put the teapot on and let's eat 'em. I'm starved."

Over the toasted rolls she mentioned Jimmy. "He is still infatuated," she said. "I'm afraid that it's even deeper than infatuation. I have a hunch he's going to ask for her release—or something—and repeat his marriage vows again. He might as well. He seems to be out on parole now, anyway. The odd part is that I've stopped being hurt. Since I've accepted it, I can stand it. Life's queer, isn't it? Anyway, I can remember the days when he thought I was the one he wanted. He didn't know any better then, and neither did I—so we had a good time."

She closed her eyes for a second. The blue veins were startingly clear on her too-white face. She look tired.

Sue remembered the dinner party to which she had promised to invite Natalie Webber. She might as well tell Grace about it now, she decided.

Save Room in Bag For Your Beauty Aids for Weekend

BY ALICIA HART

It is much more important to take along a becoming complexion when you go week-end than it is to have half a dozen intriguing frocks in your bag. If your eyes aren't sparkling and your mouth isn't feelin' postmistic, and your face has taken its color from the wrong chart, it doesn't matter what you wear. It won't be the right thing.

When you are going away for a week-end, make sure first of all that you get plenty of sleep the night before you start. This will give you a rested look. As a basis for complexion, nothing approaches a smooth, rested face.

Slip a cleansing cream into your beauty kit. There are creams that are splendid, and that are deep pore cleaners that wipe away all signs of dirt and considerable fatigue at the same time. A nourishing cream which will do its work while you sleep is another beauty aid that is indispensable. A foundation cream is needed for some faces. Others respond better without one. That depends on your particular type of skin.

Since clothes have adopted so many sparkling shades this summer, it is almost necessary to have a variety of powders, lipsticks and rouges. A rose-pink dress doesn't do the same things to you that a mad orange does. Therefore, you can't use the same type of makeup. Beauty kits which contain half a dozen or more shades of powder are a new guest-room novelty. If you take one of them with you, you will have the desired shade of powder for every costume, in all probability.

Cosmetics are being made in all sizes today. It isn't necessary to carry your large cold cream jars when you go traveling. Buy sample sizes instead. They won't make solve your problem without taking up too much room in your bag.

Cleaning tissues are another important item. You don't want to soil the guest room towels by wiping away the travel stains on your crisp whiteness. Towels are to be used after the grime is removed, not as a removing agent.

Small cotton balls, fluffy as roving clouds, should take the place of the usual powder puff. The powder kit is well supplied with them. The type of powder puff that does duty on a nose day in and day out becomes so soiled that it is a beauty hindrance instead of an aid. Throw

Recognize Chances of Defeating End-Plays

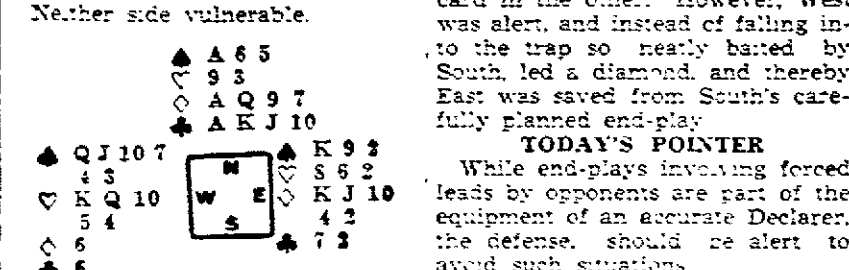

BY ELY CULBERTSON

One of the favorite subjects of those who write on Bridge is the manner in which difficult contracts are made through end-plays, elimination resulting in forced leads, and other tools of the trade of a good Contract player. Declares, however, should have no monopoly on good plays, and players holding the defensive cards should be able to realize possible end-plays almost as soon as the Declarer himself, and take steps to prevent them when possible.

An excellent example of this situation was furnished recently in a Rubber game in a New York Bridge Club in which Mr. Samuel Fry, Jr., was holding the South hand given below.

West—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The final contract was five clubs by South, which was doubled by East. West, during the course of his bidding, having shown both hearts and spades and thus in a

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By Emily Post

A Newcomer's Experiences

My dear Mrs. Post: I read your article last Sunday with a great deal of interest for I, too, am a newcomer in this city. Our family moved here last September and I should like to tell you how we became acquainted with our new neighbors and friends here. Of course, you know that this location is noted for its hospitality. I found this to be an actual fact.

For the first day or so after our arrival we were left alone. I presume the people realized that it is rather upsetting at first to move into a new house and they were giving us time to become a little settled. However, instead of calling, they sent us the most cordial notes of greeting I have ever seen. One neighbor two doors from me said in a note that she was glad we came into their neighborhood and she hoped we would like it. She told me who she was and also that her mother lived next door to me. Some of the notes accompanied trays of delicious food. And invariably the notes would state that the sender thought that the little cake, or pan of rolls, or fruit would help us plan our meals with greater ease while we were so busy getting settled.

The friendliness shown us in this way made it so easy for us to meet the neighbors when they came to call. Instead of stiffly talking about the town, the weather and other set subjects, I felt the impulse to speak of their friendliness and thoughtfulness and how it eased the loneliness which I felt so completely that I was among such thoughtful people. Don't you think that it was a delightful way to make a newcomer feel glad she had come to the community?

Answer: I do indeed. In fact, you have described the very essence of beautiful manners, which must make all readers of your experience wish ardently that should they ever be newcomers in a neighborhood, it might be the very one you describe. And let us also hope that those of us who have strangers to come to dwell nearby may take even a fragment of the spirit of your neighborhood's hospitality to heart.

Baking powder cans make good molds for brown bread. Set cans on rack in a kettle with water enough to come up two-thirds of mold. Let them cover. Water should be boiling early before cans are put in.

Indian meal rubbed over a greasy sink will make the task of cleaning it much easier.

Custard pies should be served in a hot oven (175 degrees Fahrenheit) to set the crust. When pies should be quickly reduced to 250 degrees or even less to bake the crust slowly.

Candies burn better and more slowly if they have been stored in a dry place six or seven weeks before they are used.

If you make wax paper, use an egg beater to stir a stiff paste of all put together. It will take much less time for the stirring.

Save all wax paper wrappings to rub your hot irons on instead of using beeswax.

It may seem to you that you are taking an unusually large number of beauty tips with you. But there isn't an unnecessary one in the group. Then, too, they are so small you could pack them all in one large powder box.

finishing shots in life. You are often "too sure" and relax your best efforts at times when your greatest skill and technique are needed—carelessness creeps in.

In all the games of life you show sportsmanship, and are a gracious loser. You are not a grandstand player, or too keen about always being a winner. You enjoy your work and enjoy your play, but will never become a slave to either. You are not intellectual, although extremely intelligent. Picture galleries, churches and runs bore you, but you are a keen lover of all the beauties of nature. You love music which is not too "high-brow" and be a very good dancer. London—Afternoon tea flights over London, a tad started last season, has been resumed again this year. These tea flights are held every Friday and Sunday afternoon, passengers being taken aloft in a huge 38-passenger ship and served tea by air stewards.

Swimming Will Help You Retain Figure

By Elsie Pierce

Yesterday, I started singing the praises of summer sports, and expected to run through several, but found when I got started on tennis my enthusiasm left no room for anything else. But today, let us consider swimming which is doubt less one of the best all-around exercises. Those of you who saw Johnny Weissmuller in Tarzan, the Ape Man, can easily understand how pleasurable swimming can be. You really feel the roll of the shoulders and the rhythmic movements of the arms, what a thrilling feeling to know that you are conquering water and space as your body glides forward. Well, we can't all be champions but we can all learn to do a few different strokes and cover enough distance to make us feel we're in the swim of things.

If you can't swim, why not enroll at your local Y and learn nearly now. If necessary practice on chairs, or on the beach or on an ottoman. The movements themselves are extremely beneficial in keeping in trim. Take a dip in the ocean and let the waves slap and beat against you. The motion you will feel will tell you that your circulation is being improved.

If you can swim, you don't have to be told that the deep breathing is very beneficial to the cardiovascular system, the kick of the legs, the whole body motion, wringing in whipping up the activity of the blood stream, which means a healthier system and a clearer skin, brighter eyes, stronger muscles. The complete exercise acts as a normalizer, develops scrawny parts, and breaks down fatty tissues. That's why I am urging you to get into the swim of things—and eat right, health and beauty advantages feel it is a good plan to go through the movements of swimming exercise the whole year round, whether you are near the surf or not.

What to Wear

Wear a comfortable bathing suit. The simple athletic type are really best, always in good taste and they don't hamper free movement. And have a warm, comfy bathrobe handy. Remember to tuck your sunbath in studied dress. Don't expose the skin to the sun for more than ten or fifteen minutes at first, and gradually increase the period. Keep your beach bag or parasol handy too.

And after a strenuous bit of swimming you may feel tired, relax luxuriously, but don't fall about the beach too long. Why not a bit of activity—a medicine ball or some beach games. Or, perhaps you can take your dog along. Ever know what fun you can have with a dog at the beach?

Who can resist the call of the surf in the summer? Take advantage of the season. Go into the swim of things and keep your figure svelte and symmetrical, thereby.

Barber Shops Ask Council For Ordinance

Elimination of Varying Hours and Prices is Sought by Barbers

Neenah — The $1,485 bid of the Neenah Foundry company for 550 double faced aluminum street signs and 275 posts was accepted by the common council Wednesday evening. Acceptance was recommended by the street committee.

A petition from residents on S. Commercial asking that the city cooperate with Winnebago and the city of Oshkosh in prohibiting heavy truck traffic on that street and the lakeshore road was presented. The petition is in accord with a movement on foot to restrict heavy tonnage which is damaging the road. Louis Swane, who circulated the petition, addressed the meeting, after which the petition was referred to the street, highway and bridge committee for immediate action.

An ordinance regulating barber shops in the city, requested by the shop owners, was referred to the board of health. The ordinance as presented called for a license, clean towels and other sanitary measures, physical examination of shop employees, and regulation of working hours. According to the ordinance shops would open at 8 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 6 o'clock in the evening except Wednesdays, Saturdays and holidays, when the closing time would be 10 o'clock.

Theodore Larson, owner of a shop, stated that the shops on the Island part of the city are keeping open many evenings and that their prices are almost one-half that of the other shops. He claimed that the barbers had attempted to adjust difficulties between the town shops on the Island and Menasha, but to no avail. He was upheld by Frank Klinkie and C. C. Rasmussen, other barbers.

Fears Precedent

Alderman Loehning claimed the adoption of such an ordinance would set a precedent among other places of business, especially the outlying stores which remain open later than the downtown stores.

Frank Klinkie, a barber, claimed it was the closing regulation that the barbers want, as the sanitary regulations are taken care of by the state board of health.

A resolution authorizing vacating of Birch-st between Washington-ave. and Division-st. in the First ward was passed. This is the property upon which St. Margaret's Mary congregation is considering erecting its new church and school.

Mayor George Sande invited the council members to be his guests at a dinner meeting next Tuesday evening at the Sign of the Fox at which the mayor's committee on unemployment will discuss its work.

A resolution authorizing the improving Canal-st between N. Commercial-st and Walnut-st this season was referred to the board of public works, which will report at the next meeting. Bi-monthly reports of the justice, police and poor departments were accepted. The report of the unemployment committee showed an expenditure of $14,632 during the two-week period, which is considerable less than previous reports.

Bills totalling $31,619.43 were approved.

Williams Leader Of School Board

William K. Austin and Mrs. J. F. Gillingham Other Officers

Neenah — Norton J. Williams was elected president of the school board at the organization session, at the high school office yesterday. Others elected were William K. Austin, vice president, and Mrs. J. F. Gillingham, secretary. This was the first meeting following the recent election, at which seven members were elected to the board. Three committees were appointed. On the committee on buildings, yards and inspection, Commissioners Austin, H. J. Laurson and Cleo Cannon will serve; on the committee on teaching and text books are Dr. L. J. McCarr, Mrs. Gillingham and H. J. Laurson, and on the finance and auditing committee are Dr. J. P. Canavan, Cleo Cannon and Mrs. Gillingham.

Leutres Tonight on Secrets of Crooks

Neenah — A. W. Dittmore will give a lecture on the secrets of crooks and tricks of their trade at 7:45 Thursday evening at the city hall auditorium. Mr. Dittmore is now a federal secret service man. The demonstration is specifically for police officers, city officials, merchants and professional men. No stranger will be allowed at the demonstration, as all must be identified at the door. He will demonstrate and lecture on the secrets of safe cracking, bad checks, short changing, carnival rackets, holdups and other phases of criminal life. His appearance here is sanctioned by Mayor George E. Sande and Charles Watts, chief of police.

475 Now Enrolled in 4-H Clubs in County

Neenah — Enrollment in 4-H clubs of Winnebago county totals approximately 475. Miss Jean McFarlane, county club leader, stated in a bulletin that was sent out to all members in the county. It is the first bulletin of its kind sent to rural boys and girls and is expected it will create better club spirit.

Circulation Increase Reported at Library

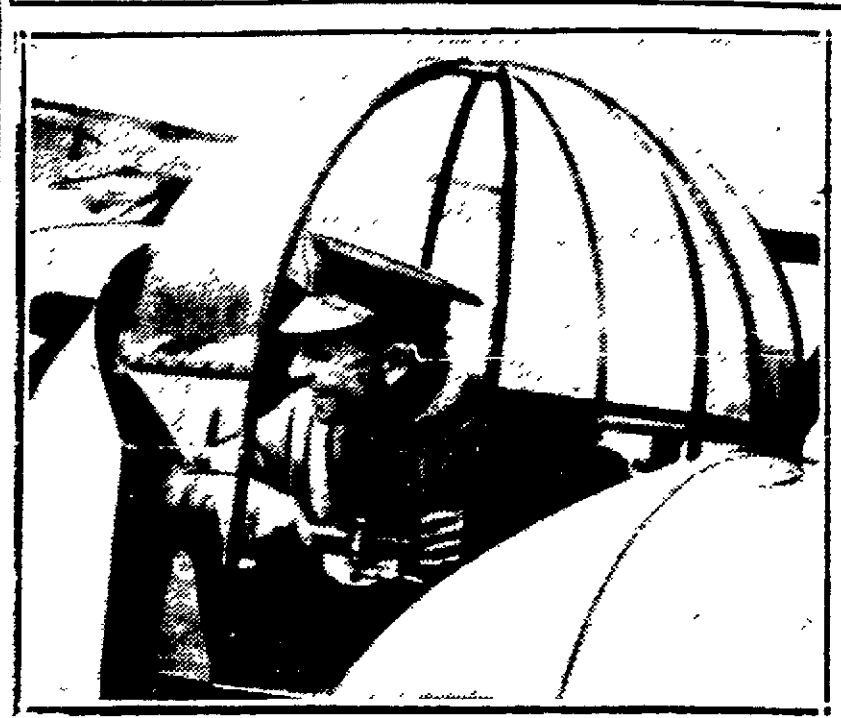

Neenah — The Menasha library circulated 58,754 books during the first six months of 1932, according to a report by Miss Harriet Norrington librarian. Circulation at the library proper aggregated 45,944, marking a gain of 7,803 over the corresponding period of last year. Hospital circulation was 126 and school circulation 12,724.

Circulation for June totaled 6,039 books, a gain of 1,298 over June 1931 and an average daily circulation of 232. New readers registered aggregated 102; books repaired, 500; students assisted, 64; and reading room attendance, 707. Fines collected on overdue books totaled $7.76.

Delinquent Taxes on Real Estate $7,700

Neenah — Delinquent accounts in the second installment of real estate tax payments in Menasha total $7,692, slightly in excess of 1931, according to C. A. Heckrodt, city treasurer. A large portion of the total will be paid before the end of July. Heckrodt predicted an additional fee of 1 per cent per month is charged against the delinquent portions after July 1 and will continue until the accounts are paid and the tax returns made to the county treasurer sometime in March. Heckrodt stated.

New Building is Opened to Public

Valley Sheet Metal Company Ready for Business in Main-st Home

Neenah — The formal opening of the new building on Main-st erected by the Valley Sheet Metal company, of which Alvin Stiegler is owner, took place Thursday. The Rotary club was the first group to visit the place.

The new building is 60 by 100 feet, and consists of one story and full basement. It is constructed of concrete blocks and brick, the front being of red pressed brick and cut stone. There is 12,000 square feet of floor space in the building. The front part is occupied with the offices and show rooms, while the rear houses the workshop. The public is invited to inspect the building which will be open for such inspection July 8, 9 and 10.

Mr. Stiegler, the owner and manager, began his sheet metal work Sept. 11, 1919 at Port Washington, coming to Neenah in 1921 to take over the Krueger company sheet metal business then operating in the old skating rink. Increasing business demanded a better and more up-to-date building and better working conditions which led to the present building.

Test Shows Pumper is in Excellent Condition

Menasha — The excellent condition of Menasha's fire fighting equipment was indicated in an "endurivert's" test of the pumper here Wednesday, according to Chief Paul Theimer. The 600 gallon pump forced out 682 gallons of water per minute, 82 gallons in excess of rated capacity.

Resume Work Today on Postoffice Building

Menasha — Work on the new federal postoffice building on Broad and Racine-sts. delayed for about three weeks, was to be resumed today. Brick and stone work on the outer walls for the first ward is expected to be well under way by the end of this week.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

Menasha — Applications for city aid will be discussed by the poor committee at a meeting in the council chambers Thursday evening. John Sennbrenner, superintendent of poor, will be in charge.

ORIOLES WIN, 12-2
Menasha — The Orioles romped to an easy 17 to 2 victory over an Appleton pick-up team on the Wisconsin Tissue Mills diamond Wednesday evening. Voss, Trilling, Resch, and Miller shared the pitching burden for Menasha. No further games this week have been scheduled by the Orioles squad.

PLAN RETURN GAME

Menasha — Plans are under way for a return softball game between Menasha city officials and Winnebago-co and court house officers at Oshkosh late this month. In the first game of the home and home series, played at Menasha last week, the Oshkosh aggregation swamped the city team, 25 to 15.

Charles Maynor, Police Officer, Removed from Job

Board Sustains Charges of Incompetency and Inefficiency

Neenah — Charles Maynor, police officer, desk sergeant and fingerprint officer, was ordered removed from the city police department following a meeting Wednesday afternoon of the board of police and fire commissioners at the city hall. The board voted unanimously to sustain charges placed against the officer.

Maynor was charged with badly injuring Henry Kaestner, Neenah, on the evening of June 17, when it was alleged the officer discharged a 12-gauge tear gas bomb close to Kaestner's body while attempting to arrest him. The gas badly burned Kaestner's body, arms and face.

Charges of incompetency, cowardice, inefficiency, and brutality in dealing with a prisoner were lodged against Maynor in an order of Mayor George E. Sande, after Kaestner had been removed to Theda Clark hospital for treatment.

Hearing is Held

A hearing in the case was conducted last Tuesday afternoon, the board of police and fire commissioners acting as judge and jury, but the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday afternoon pending further investigation.

Kaestner was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct in front of a restaurant, and was lodged in the city jail after being burned by the tear gas bomb. He appeared in justice court the following day and pleaded not guilty. The hearing was to have been resumed the following day, but the man was unable to appear because of his injuries. There has been no disposition of the case thus far.

The vacancy on the department will be filled by John Neubauer, who has been acting officer since the 10-day suspension of Maynor. He will continue in that position until some time next month, when the police and fire board receives applications for the job and conducts civil service examinations.

Menasha Personals

Menasha — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Royster and Mrs. Margaret Kleopfer have returned from Glenwood, Minn., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Royster.

David Greene of Joliet, Ill., former Menasha resident, visited here Wednesday.

Miss Marjorie Hitzke of Wittenburg is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Craig of Menasha.

Mrs. Harry Leopold and children of Menasha are visiting relatives in Milwaukee.

Board of Education To Act on Coal Bids

Menasha — The Menasha board of education will take action on bids for the provision of coal for school use at a meeting in the office of J. E. Kitowski, school superintendent, July 13. Coal bids were received by the board at a special meeting late last month but were rejected.

Boy Scouts of Troop 14 Plan Outdoor Meeting

Menasha — Boy Scouts of Troop 14 will hold an outdoor meeting under the direction of Robert Schwartz, scoutmaster, Thursday evening. In addition to regular activities, plans for participation in the Valley Council encampment, opening at Chain-o-Lakes near Waupaca Aug. 7 will be outlined.

Shell Softballers to Meet Green Bay Squad

Menasha — The Shell Oils, Neenah entry in Fox River Valley softball league competition, will meet the Green Bay aggregation in a conference tilt on the Greens diamond at Neenah Sunday morning. The Shell team drew a bye in league play last week and is still in undisputed possession of the cellar position.

KLEENEX LEADS LEAGUE

Neenah — With the defeat Wednesday evening of the Draheim Sport Shop softball team by the Lakeviews by a score of 10 and 6, the Kleenex team now holds first position in the city league. The Neenah Paper company also defeated the Whiting team 3 and 2, the winning score coming in the last inning.

In the Senior league, in games played Wednesday evening, First National Banks won from the Doty team by a forfeit; Lieber Lumbers defeated Kimberly-Clarks, 10 and 4, and Hardwood Products defeated Bergstrom Papers 20 and 14.

THAT'S NO VACATION

Worcester, Mass. — In suing his wife for divorce, Franz H. C. Copps, 53, came in for a rigid cross-examination. He admitted having taken his 26-year-old private secretary, a pretty girl, on vacation trips to New York, Cuba and elsewhere. When asked why he hadn't taken his wife along, he replied: "That, sir, would not have been a vacation."

Norma Talmadge Denies Report About Divorce

Nogales, Ariz. —(AP) — Reiterations and denials today cloaked the plans, if any, of Norma Talmadge to get a Mexican divorce from Joseph Schenck, motion picture producer.

Francisco D. Aguilar, Mexican attorney and former chief justice of the state of Sonora, was the authority for the statement that the divorce action for the former movie star will be filed in Nogales, Sonora, across the border from here.

From Hollywood came word from Schenck that he knows "absolutely nothing" about it.

However, Aguilar reiterated that his associate, Vincent Riccardi, of Tucson, Ariz., had been employed by Miss Talmadge.

"Mr. Riccardi is preparing divorce papers for Norma Talmadge," said Aguilar. "The divorce petition is to be presented before Judge Lopez of the Sonora divorce court next week."

Riccardi was reported here to be in Los Angeles, or en route back from there.

Miss Talmadge and Schenck have been separated several years. Recently, it was reported the actress would go to Paris to seek a divorce but she denied this.

Tuberculosis Cause of Most Deaths in Class

Madison —(AP) — Most Wisconsin residents between the ages of 25 and 29 who died in 1931 were victims of tuberculosis but the toll of disease was limited to 156 lives, which is 29 less than in 1930, the state board of health said today.

Accidental deaths were second in the list of causes, claiming 117 men and women in their late 20's. This marked a reduction of 31 deaths from the 1930 total.

Total deaths in the group of those in their late 20's, including all causes were 705, last year as compared with 773 the year before.

Other death causes and their respective tolls were: puerperal causes, 57 deaths; heart disease, 55; pneumonia, 45; nephritis, 33; appendicitis, 28; suicide, 23; cancer, 17; and influenza, 15.

There was a reduction of the toll from these causes under 1930 except for heart disease, nephritis and influenza which showed increases in 1931.

Gained 14 Lbs. in 3 Weeks!

That's a good record — but skinny, scrawny folks just can't help putting on firm healthy flesh when they take mentha-pepsin with their meals.

Mentha-pepsin is a tasty appetizer that acts like nature's own gastric juice to draw out all the good of what you eat. No stuffing. No forcing down of rich, greasy foods. Simply eat what you like and mentha-pepsin will do the rest.

Rotarians Seat Hugh Gear as New Club President

Appointment of Aims and Objects Committee Precedes Discussions

Menasha — H. L. Gear was seated as president of the Menasha Rotary club at a regular meeting in Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon. Seating of officers and appointment of the aims and objects committee was followed by an informal discussion of club problems.

S. E. Crockett was seated as vice president, G. W. Collip as secretary-treasurer, and C. W. Laemmrich as sergeant at arms. The four officers with Dr. G. E. Forkin, F. E. Sennbrenner, Armin Weber, George Loescher and R. J. Fink are included on the aims and objects committee; I. H. Clough is retiring president and S. E. Crockett and W. H. Miner are new members of the board of directors.

W. H. Miner, in charge of the program, opened the series of short talks by urging greater interest in club affairs and calling attention to the work of Menasha and Neenah service clubs in improving relations between the twin cities. Dr. G. E. Forkin talked on the club's work in sponsoring the proposed administration of diphtheria, toxin antitoxin to Menasha children; and F. E. Sennbrenner pointed out the needs of greater conformity to the objects of Rotary.

W. E. Held urged greater active support of the club by individual members. H. E. Bullard reemphasized the need for deeper interest in Rotary, and G. A. Loescher suggested greater interest in government and urged support of the plan whereby Fox River Valley communities take cooperative action in attracting tourists particularly during the world's fair at Chicago next year.

Short talks also were given by Armin Weber, William H. Masters, and George W. Collip.

FINDS LOST HUSBY, THEN DIVORCES HIM

Stockholm, Cal. — Twenty-one years ago Isaac Pius left his wife in Paris. Mrs. Sadie Pius started a search for him that took her through five foreign countries and finally to the United States.

After living in New York for several years, Mrs. Pius finally heard her husband was in California. She left New York for Stockholm, with forgiveness in her heart and expecting happiness at the pending reunion.

But instead of happiness she was rudely shocked to find that Isaac was living with another woman, according to her charges.

Mrs. Pius sued for and received a divorce.

Flashes of Life

Honesdale — Mrs. Edward A. Felix had a falling out with her husband, an army sergeant, but the drop (a 60-foot one) restored her regard for him. Quarreling, she blacked one of his eyes. Then she swung at the other, missed and toppled over a cliff. When police hauled her up, only slightly hurt, she kissed the sergeant.

Honesdale, Pa. — Milton and Alfred Newhardt, fishermen, made a triple catch with a triple hook. Hauling in a 22-inch pickerel, both lunged to grab it. One hook caught Milton's hand and another pierced Alfred's hand and another pierced Alfred's hand. A doctor cut out the hooks.

Blakely, Ga. — Eight thousand folks, celebrating bumper crops and the "end of depression," enjoyed a barbecue, ball game, balloon ascension and greased pig race.

Home Loan Bank Plan Is Shelved by Senate

Washington —(AP) — The administration's home loan bank program was on the junk heap today, replaced by a plan that would allow the Reconstruction corporation to perform these functions.

Consequently the senate was ready to give consideration to a rider proposed by Senator Frazier (R., N. D.) to refinance the farm mortgage debt at 1 1/2 per cent interest. This shuttled aside, for a little while, a vote on the amendment by Senator Bingham (R., Conn.) to legalize 3.2 per cent beer.

Then, too, Bingham conceded that when the beer proposal was brought up Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, likely would succeed in referring it to the judiciary committee.

The substitute for the administration's home loan bank bill was offered by Senator Couzens (R., Mich.) adopted and retained on a 34 to 32 vote against reconsideration. It would let the corporation make loans up to $400,000,000 to building and loan associations, cooperative banks, homestead associations, savings banks, trust companies and other banking institutions.

Balliet Asks Democrats to County Meet

Expect to Outline Plans for Campaign This Fall—Will Name Slate

A call was issued today by Stephen D. Balliet, chairman of the Outagamie County Democratic committee, for a meeting of Democrats at the courthouse on Wednesday evening. Mr. Balliet said that plans will be made for a campaign in the county next fall. The selection of a county slate of candidates also will be discussed.

Mr. Balliet, who returned early this week from Chicago where he was a delegate to the Democratic national convention last week, expects to discuss the highlights of the Chicago gathering. Mr. Balliet, with Thomas O'Malley, Milwaukee, refused to support Governor Frank P. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination. Both voted for Alfred E. Smith on all four ballots.

While Mr. Balliet had expressed himself as being opposed to Roosevelt for the nomination, he said he has not yet decided what his course for the future will be. Mr. Balliet headed the campaign in Outagamie-co four years ago when Mr. Smith was the Democratic nominee and carried the county over President Hoover by about 100 votes.

Just who the Democrats would place at the head of their committee, should Mr. Balliet refuse to continue in that position, is problematical. However, up to this time, Mr. Balliet has not made any statement as to what his plans are. A definite announcement, giving his attitude toward Roosevelt, is expected at the meeting next week.

Lieutenant Governor Will Seek Re-election

Madison —(P)—Lieutenant Governor Henry A. Huber, of Stoughton announced today that he is a candidate for re-election on the Progressive Republican ticket.

He will be opposed for the nomination in September by Harry Dahl of LaCrosse, the Conservative candidate.

Huber recalled that he got his start in politics in the office of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette 35 years ago and said that he is "still fighting for his principles."

"Think what has happened in this nation in two years," the candidate said in his announcement.

The farmer has been beggared by low prices, the laboring man has been forced to ask for charity. Ninety per cent of the people are at the mercy of 55 financiers in Wall Street who control the wealth, dominate the policies and depress the industry of the nation. The day of slavery for all is not far off unless something is done to check the greed of millionaires. If great wealth were earned on the same basis as the farmers and small home owner now pay, the backbone of the depression would be ended."

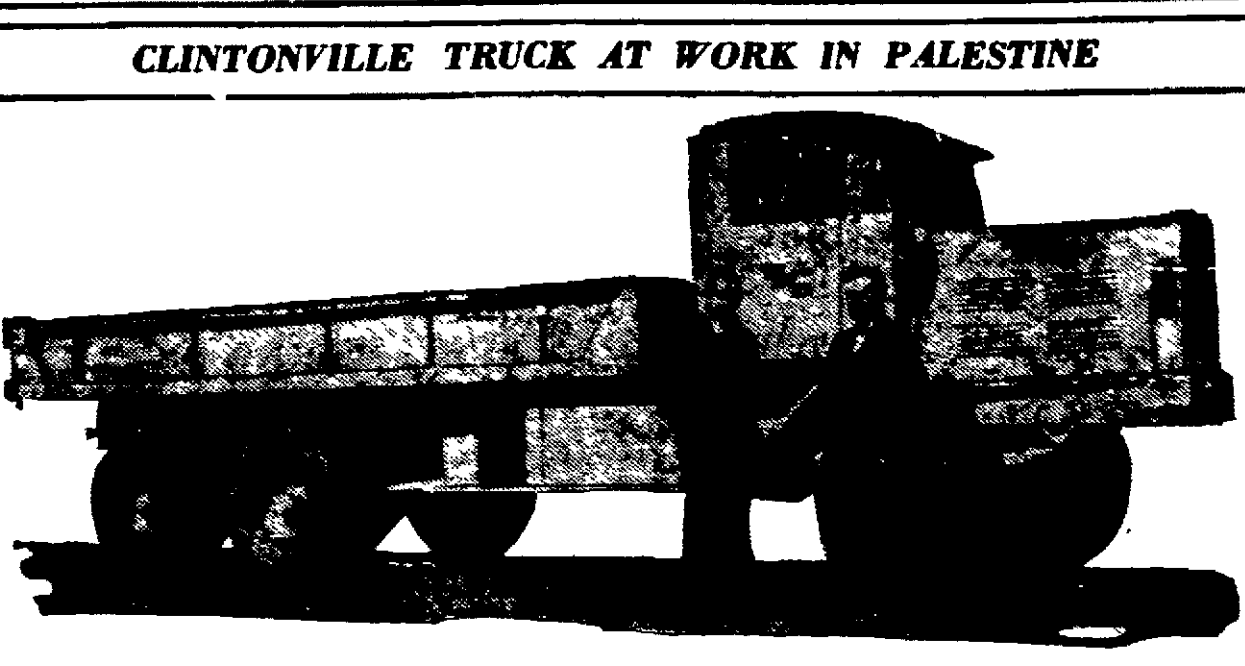

Huber said he would begin an active campaign within the next ten days and would carry through until the primary on September 20.

Truck Vibrations Shake House From Foundation

Marquette —(P)—Paul Dugre, who lives on Thomas-st, hopes that any big oil trucks that come down his street in the future will oblige him and protect the security of his home by detouring around it.

Last week a monster truck, containing a heavy load of road oil, went lumbering down Thomas-st and when it reached the truck-battered road in front of Dugre's home it vibrated so much that the house was shaken off its post foundation.

No one was injured.

"Most Famous Bachelor" Becomes Model Husband, Mrs. Mencken Testifies

We have Mrs. Henry L. Mencken's own word for it.

Married now for nearly two years, she testifies to the satisfactory domesticity of Henry L. Mencken, caustic editor of "The American Mercury," cynic extraordinary, in regard to feminine charm, whose slashing opinions have done more to disillusion the younger generation than those of any other American.

What is more, Mrs. Mencken positively advocates bachelors for husbands! She is 30. He is 50!

"It stands to reason that a bachelor would make a good husband," she told me in her soft, leisurely voice, with a little of Montgomery, Alabama in it.

Bouquet for Bachelors
"A bachelor is likely to be much more interesting, because he has had a more varied life.

"Then, he is set in his ways. Instead of that making life hard, it works both ways. I think it is pleasant to live with someone who knows what he wants. It is comparatively simple to manage things. It is fumbling indecision which clutters life up.

"Henry is prompt, another good bachelor trait. I think promptness is a great quality. It is a form of politeness not to keep folks waiting. I think the world goes round on little things.

"Last, and I guess most important to a woman," Mrs. Mencken smiled a little. "I think a bachelor is apt to be much more thoughtful of his companion. He is more conscious of her. He never just accepts his wife as part of the household."

Mrs. Mencken's Charm
Seeing Mrs. Mencken and talking with her gives you the idea that no man could ever just accept her. She is perfectly lovely! A little plump, for she has had tuberculosis twice and guards against a third attack by keeping her weight up. Quite young looking, she has that soft, rich, white skin no picture catches, big black eyes with a quiet humor lighting them up, and exquisitely fine, soft black hair that waves from her face and curls up at the ends.

It is her manner, probably, that "gets you." Here is a woman who has genuine repose. She seems to have all the best Southern lady qualities: dignity, a fine hospitable consideration for her guest.

One reason for the Menckens' happy marriage, obviously, is that they never breakfast together.

"No one has anything to say at that time of day," she explained. "I think people are much too preoccupied to be sociable early in the day. I want my papers and mail and Henry wants his."

Peaceful Days
The rest of their day runs something like this: Work from 9-12; Mrs. Mencken managing the house, market and so forth. Henry working in one wing of the big apartment in his office filled with book-cases, easy chairs, and a grand piano. They meet at lunch, then both rest. From 2:30 to 5:30, work again, he back in his study, she in hers, writing, in long hand, with a pencil. Their apartment, built in an old mansion, is sprawling, with various levels, and so arranged

The church of Hagia Sophia in Constantinople and St. Mark's in Venice are judged the greatest examples of Byzantine architecture.

Continues Probe In Shooting of Smith Reynolds

Official Ignores Suicide Verdict in Death of Young Millionaire

Winston, Salem, N. C. —(P)—Despite the fact that investigation of the death yesterday of Smith Reynolds has been closed with a suicide verdict, Sheriff Transom Scott continued today to probe the tragedy while friends and attorneys sought to bring some order out of the young millionaire's financial situation.

Meanwhile, the wife of the 20-year-old heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions was prostrated, not even allowed to see members of the family, as attorneys sought to determine her relation to her husband's estate.

The former Libby Holman, of Broadway Revue fame, she was at first reported not sharing in young Reynolds' inheritance, but only in his personal property, the value of which is not yet known.

The wife of the late tobacco manufacturer, who died in 1916, was said to have provided only for income for her children, and his wife, who died later, was believed to have left a similar will. Under this plan the vast estate, estimated at as high as $100,000,000, although valued at only about $10,000,000 when R. J. Reynolds died, was not to be divided until his children were 25 years old.

Provisions for income for their children was made, but not for their wives or husbands, attorneys said today after a cursory examination which was expected to be followed by a more detailed study of the will of R. J. Reynolds, Mrs. Reynolds and Smith Reynolds.

Million to First Wife
Smith Reynolds' first wife and their baby daughter, relinquished to its mother following separation and divorce proceedings, likewise will not participate in any of his estate, the father already having settled $1,000,000 on them.

Reynolds died from a bullet wound in the head said by members of the household to have been self-inflicted. The theory that it might have been accidental led to no tangible results, but Sheriff Scott said he was not satisfied either way as yet.

The shot, heard by his wife and a close friend, Ab Walker, marked the close of a sensational career which in three short years had encompassed a marriage, fatherhood, separation, divorce, an airplane-boat trip around the world and another marriage.

In October, 1929, Anne Cannon, daughter of the millionaire textile Cannon family, and Reynolds rode to New York, S. C., at 2 a. m. with her father and his chauffeur and were married. In a few months they separated. Last year he took her to Reno by airplane and left her to secure the divorce.

Taking his plane along, he embarked for Europe, flew around the globe to Hawaii and there met Libby Holman, daughter of a Cincinnati attorney and six years older than the tobacco heir. They were married but the wedding was kept secret until their arrival in New York some months later.

(Special to Post-Crescent) — The monthly meeting of the village board was held Tuesday evening at the village hall. A special meeting will be held Friday evening to discuss the new village hall building.

A party was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reinke in honor of the seventy-eighth birthday anniversary of Mr. Reinke's mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Reinke. A social evening was spent and a plate lunch was served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kapitzke, Mrs. Albert Drahm and Glennie Surey, Weyauwega, Mrs. Louise Kapitzke, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Dittman and son, Brushville; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Springer; Mr. Charles Springer, Wolf River; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oestreich, son Armin, Mr. and Mrs. John Reunke and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reinke, town of Bloomfield; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Looker and family, and Evelyn Kapitzke of Fremont.

The annual meeting of the Beaver Dam rural school will be held Monday evening at the school house.

Woman Injured In Auto Accident

Mrs. E. L. Cornelius is Taken to Hospital in Oshkosh

(Special to Post-Crescent) — Mrs. E. L. Cornelius, 1008 S. Pearl-st., is in Mercy hospital, Oshkosh, recovering from injuries and shock received Sunday when the car in which she was riding with her son, P. W. Cornelius of this city, was forced from the road about six miles north of Oshkosh. They were on their way to Milwaukee. The accident occurred when a large sedan in which three men were riding approached them on the wrong side of the road. The car hit a small tree and the impact shattered the windshield, inflicting severe cuts on Mrs. Cornelius' face. Her son received severe facial bruises and two teeth were loosened when his face hit the steering wheel. The Cornelius car was badly damaged.

As the party progressed toward Oshkosh they came upon a party of four men not far from the point at which they had met with the accident, one of whom had been killed and the others badly injured. Members of this party stated that a similar car had also forced them from the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abrams and daughter, Miss Helen, returning on Monday from Milwaukee in company with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herrmann of Milwaukee, narrowly escaped an accident when on a detour their car was forced off the road by a bus.

Miss Elizabeth Wagner Weds Robert Schoellkopf

(Special to Post-Crescent) — Bear Creek — Miss Elizabeth Wagner, daughter of Mrs. Ida Wagner of Bear Creek and Robert Schoellkopf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schoellkopf, also of the town of Bear Creek, were quietly married Tuesday afternoon at Waupaca. The parents of the bridegroom were the attendants. The couple will live on the Schoellkopf farm. A chavirai and wedding dance were held Wednesday evening at the home.

Bills Distributed By City Employees

Special to Post-Crescent — New London — All light and water bills at New London were distributed this month without the aid of the mails. When the 2-cent stamp was used distribution of bills cost the city $25 each month. This month the delivery by city employees cost only $16, thus effecting a saving of $9. Three persons were used to deliver the bills.

William J. House Is Taken by Death

Funeral Service to be Conducted Next Saturday Afternoon

New London — The death of William J. House, 71, 920 S. Pearl-st., occurred late Wednesday afternoon at his home after a few days' illness. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at the Cline-Learman funeral home, with burial in the family lot at Baldwin Mills.

House was a native of Waupaca, having been born at Weyauwega May 21, 1861. His parents were Benjamin and Elizabeth House, early pioneers from New York state. He was educated in the public schools of Waupaca and in 1883 began his farming career. He continued farming until recent years when he moved with his family to this city.

His marriage to Miss Ida Faulk took place in 1890. Mrs. House died in this city five years ago. Mr. House was active in the affairs of his community, having for many years served as a member of the school board in the farm district in which he lived. Since moving to this city he continued in civic interest and four years ago was a candidate for the office of mayor. He was a member of the Odd Fellows.

Surviving are six children, all of whom were with him at his death. They are Archibald of Richfield, Miss Clara of Pittsburg, Irving of West Bend, Mrs. Walter Gannus of West Bend, Milford and Clayton of this city.

New London Society

(Special to Post-Crescent) — New London — The Tuesday Five Hundred club will hold an annual picnic next Tuesday at Waupaca lakes.

The Tuesday bridge club was entertained at breakfast at the North Shore Country club Tuesday. Mrs. Daniel Steinberg of Appleton as hostess. Miss Lyle Jennings of this city accompanied the group as a guest of Miss Mary Clair Steinberg. Bridge followed the breakfast.

The regular business meeting of the Women's Relief corps will be held Friday afternoon.

Legion Junior Nine In 2 Games This Week

(Special to Post-Crescent) — New London — The Junior Legion baseball team will have plenty of activity during the latter part of the week with two games scheduled. One will be played with Marion here on Friday, and on Saturday the team travels to Kimberley.

On Tuesday the locals defeated Waupaca, 10-3. Gorges pitched a two-hit game and struck out eight men, while issuing only two walks. Bowers was found for 12 hits, gave five walks and struck out three. New London batters Barlow drew three of the walks. Fraeburger, Gorges and Schimpke out of four trips to the plate got two hits each, while Becker, up five times, got three singles. Pope and Hadley for Waupaca got singles off of Gorges.

Waupaca scored twice in the first inning when two errors were converted into runs. They scored their last run in the third on a hit and an error. From then on the home boys played errorless ball and only one man got on base as a result of a walk. New London scored twice in the first inning, once in the third fifth and eighth innings. In the sixth five hits, an error, and a walk gave the winners five more runs.

Prepare Prints for New Switching System

New London — The Wisconsin McInigan Power company is preparing blue prints for a new automatic switching system to be installed at the local light and power plant. The approximate cost of the improvement will be $17,000.

Plans include work for relays, switches and steel work on which this equipment is to be mounted. According to Supt. Ray Thomas, two or three local laborers will be employed for a few days in laying the cement foundation, which will be necessary to carry the weight of the steel work. Only skilled workers will be used for the remainder of the job and these probably will be supplied by the Appleton company.

Eight posts for supplying light are being set in the new high school yard. Power will be supplied from two underground cables which are being laid by Supt. Thomas and his crew.

Hospital Auxiliary Expects Small Profit

New London — Officials of the Community Hospital auxiliary will realize a small profit through the Fourth of July celebration staged Thursday at the Pines. Weather conditions contrived to make the event of one day's duration instead of the two-day picnic and carnival which was originally planned. Bills are being paid this week and it is expected that an itemized account will be available for the next meeting of the auxiliary Monday evening, July 18. No meeting will be held next Monday evening.

A considerable amount was expended this year on materials for the erection of stands which will be used on future occasions.

How Modern Women Lose Pounds of Fat Swiftly — Safely

Gain Physical Vigor — Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into operation all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast — cut down on pastry and fatty meats — go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar — 4 weeks get on the scales and you'll find many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy — your skin is clearer — your eyes sparkle — your body is keener — in mind and body you will give any fat person a surprise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts — the cost is trifling and lasts 4 weeks. If even this little bottle doesn't convince you, it's the safest, safest and surest way to lose fat — if you don't see a superior improvement in 4 weeks — so gloriously energetic — so vigorously alive — your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Schmitz Bros Co. 3 Stores or any drugstore in the world. Adv.

Once Crippled with Rheumatism

What A Victory for HER, and for Allenru

It's the bright woman who never gives up — she makes up her mind that rheumatic pain and agony isn't going to cause her a lifetime misery and unhappiness.

Blessed with common sense, this woman didn't waste but little time fooling with makeshift remedies which bring relief; to be sure — but still keep you a prisoner in the old arm chair — what foolishness!

Clever — this woman was — she learned that uric acid is a poison — that it settles deep in joints and muscles — she learned that these vicious deep seated deposits were the cause of her rheumatic agony; and she found something —

TO REMOVE THE CAUSE

She read about Allenru in the newspaper — This quick acting prescription she learned was guaranteed to start uric acid poison leaving the body in 24 hours — her hope increased as she read further that Allenru would cause pain, agony, distress and swelling to leave in 48 hours.

Keen minded she was — she knew that Allenru was the remedy she wanted and she purchased one 9 cent bottle — her story ends here.

When poisonous uric acid left her joints and muscles she was happy once more — lively, active, cheerful again.

Electric City Crew Hopes to Topple League Leaders From Top Rung

Kaukauna—Manager Marty Lamers is grooming his Electric City sluggers this week for a game with the Kimberly aggregation at Kaukauna ball park Sunday afternoon.

A victory for the home team will place the Electric City crew on the top of the ladder in Fox River valley competition, and will send the league leading Kimberly aggregation into second place, the position now held by Kaukauna.

Kimberly is now in possession of the topmost round by virtue of its seven wins and only three losses. Kaukauna has six wins and three losses.

Fortin or Fulsinger will occupy the mound for the Kaukauna nine, and "Shorty" Wenzel will handle the big bat. Behr or Zeneffski will hurl for the Kimberly aggregation, with Ashman at catch.

The Lamers crew cinched second place last Monday by defeating the Shawano Indians. A ninth inning rally is all that saved the day for the Kaukauna crew, and Lamers this week is ironing out the wrinkles which appeared during the July 4 fracas.

Other Fox River Valley league games will find the Shawano Indians at Appleton next Sunday, and the Green Sox at Wisconsin Rapids. The Bays and Rapids are tied for third place with six wins and four losses each.

Reach 4th Week Period at School

Final Examinations at Outagamie-co Normal are Scheduled for July 15

Kaukauna—The annual summer session at the Outagamie-co Rural Normal school has reached the fourth week. Final examinations are scheduled for July 15, and the session will officially close on the following day. More than 180 students are enrolled this summer. It is the second largest class the school has ever had. The largest enrollment was in 1931 when more than 200 were enrolled.

The summer session is especially designed for students who want to make up lost work or for those who want to make high school in three years or less, and for teachers.

The regular term at the normal school is scheduled to get underway on Aug. 30. Enrollments will be taken on Aug. 29. Classes usually start earlier than most schools, but the terms are divided into different periods.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Plans for a picnic at Menomonee park, Oshkosh, next Sunday, were discussed at a meeting of the Young Ladies' sodality of St. Mary church in the annex last evening. Twenty new members were initiated after the business session. Miss Margaret Kiffe, sodality president, officiated.

Plans are being arranged for a picnic at Roush park Tuesday, July 12, by St. Ann Court, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters. Following a picnic dinner, cards will be played and prizes are to be awarded.

Members of the Ladies Aid society of Congregational church will hold their annual picnic at LaFollette park on Thursday, July 14. Families and friends of members are invited to attend the outing.

Members of Trinity Dramatic club will hold their annual picnic on Sunday, July 17, at High Cliff. Committee are arranging a program.

Appleton Man Fined

On Speeding Charge

Kaukauna—Alvin Barnitzke, Appleton, paid a fine of $5 and costs when arraigned before Justice N. D. Schwim Tuesday on a speeding charge. Barnitzke was arrested early Tuesday by Motorcycle Officer Harold Engerson for driving his car too fast on Taylor-st.

PASSES ARTERIAL

Kaukauna—Henry Flentje, Chicago, Ill., paid a fine of $1 and costs in justice court here Tuesday when he pleaded guilty of passing an arterial sign on Taylor-st. He was arrested Monday by Motorcycle Officer Harold Engerson.

Former Kaukauna Girl Married in California

Kaukauna — Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Helena Copp, formerly of this place, and Harvey Karnopp of Chula Vista, Calif. The wedding took place June 25 at the Chapel of Roses at Glenn Abbey with Dr. Thomas H. Harper of the Chula Vista Congregational church officiating. Attendants were Lee Verner as bridesmaid and Howard Copp, Mrs. Karnopp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Copp, formerly of this place. The family left here five years ago. Mr. Copp was formerly employed at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad shops.

Kaukauna Golf Club Players to Invade Chilton

Hope to Get Revenge in Inter-Club Match on Calumet Course

Kaukauna—With their eyes on revenge, members of the Kaukauna Golf club will journey to Chilton Sunday to meet the Calumet Golf club in another inter-club match. Approximately 25 Kaukauna players are expected to participate.

Three or four weeks ago, the Calumet club was out at the new Kaukauna course and in an 18-hole match had little difficulty in setting aside the Kaukauna aggregation, 42 to 28.

Two weeks ago the Kaukauna team tucked away its first win by defeating an invading group of golfers from the Clintonville club by a score of 40 to 36. On Sunday, July 24, the Kaukauna aggregation will go to Clintonville for another inter-club match. William Harwood is chairman of the local golf committee and is making arrangements for the affair.

New Director on Duty

At Yerkes Observatory

Williams Bay —P—A one time Russian war refugee has taken over the directorship of the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory. He is Dr. Otto Struve, whose ancestors for three generations were noted as astronomers under the imperial Russian government. For several years he has been professor of astrophysics at the university. He succeeds Dr. Edwin B. Frost, blind astronomer, who recently resigned after having served as director since 1905.

Prof. Struve, who is now an American citizen, was born at Kharkov, less than 35 years ago. Following the Russian revolution he served with the white armies when they were conquered, fled to Constantinople. His great grandfather, Frederick George Wilhelm Struve was observer at the telescope of the University of Dorpat, now in Estonian territory, in 1815. He was later made director of the observatory at Pulkova near St. Petersburg. His son, Otto Wilhelm Struve, succeeded him as director.

Van's Buffets Wallop

Eagles in Fast Game

Kaukauna—Van's Buffets, playing in City Twilight league, turned aside the Eagles aggregation last evening on the city playground by a score of 4 to 1. Koch pitched for the winning team, hurled an airtight game. He was supported by Franco's behind the bat. Huss occupied the mound for the Eagles team, and Casey stood behind the base.

Complete Construction

Work on Tennis Court

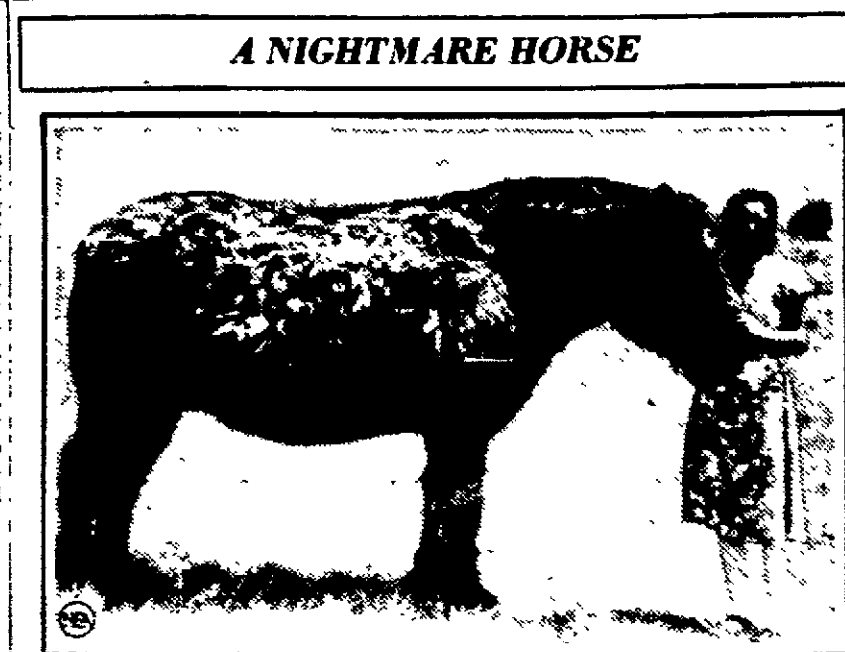

Kaukauna—Construction work on the new tennis court at St. Mary school is nearing completion and the court will be ready for play within the next few days. A wire fence is being erected at the present time. This part of the playground equipment is being erected through the efforts of the St. Theresa sodality of St. Mary church.

BAKER BOYS LOSE JOBS

Sydney, Australia —(P)—Because so many men are out of work master bakers of New South Wales, have agreed to discharge all boys employed to deliver bread and give the jobs to adults.

STOP ITCHING TORTURE

Clean, soothing, invisible ZEMO brings prompt relief to itching skin. Eczema, Pimples, Ringworm, Rash, Dandruff and similar annoying, itching skin or scalp irritations are relieved and usually healed by this anesthetic, soothing lotion. All Druggists. 35c. 60c. $1.00. Adv.

Those shaggy monsters seen in nightmares, and more often by inebriated gentry, are probably dead monsters of the ancient piece of horseflesh shown above. The animal, bought by N. McCartney of Fresno, Calif., for chicken feed, is so strange that its present owner has decided not to frighten his chickens and will sell it for exhibition purposes. The horse has hair all over its body from 9 to 12 inches in length. From the front it looks like a buffalo.

Spinach, Beets Can be Raised as Summer Crop

BY W. R. BEATTIE
Senior Horticulturist, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Home gardeners everywhere find it difficult to maintain a supply of tender salad crops during the middle of the summer when the weather is hot and dry.

Lettuce is a cool weather crop and becomes coarse and bitter during hot weather. In fact, growing good head lettuce during the summer is simply out of the question in many places, but you can often grow fair leaf lettuce if you will shade it a trifle and give it plenty of water.

Spinach seed sown in rows rather thickly, and used just as soon as the leaves are large enough to cut, makes excellent summer greens. Beets can be planted in the same way, and the young plants pulled for greens when they are about three inches high. A little later you can begin planting turnips and using the thinnings for greens.

Italian gardeners are never without greens and salads in their gardens during the summer. They grow what they call sour-grass or sorrel for summer greens. The plants of the sorrel live over winter in the milder climates, and furnish an abundance of greens early in the spring when green foods are scarce. Sow seeds in spring, and in summer use the leaves as greens.

Spinach and Chard
New Zealand spinach is another good summer green that is easy to grow, and it will go right on producing thick, tender leaves all summer.

Swiss chard is perhaps the best of our summer greens, because the heat does not seem to affect it. In fact, if you give the plants plenty of moisture and feed them well they seem to do better in hot weather than cool. You simply remove the tender outer leaves and leaf-stems as you want them for cooking, and if the young inner leaves are uninjured the plants go right on producing more tender leaves and stems. After all is said and done cabbage is one of our best salads or greens. You can prepare cabbage in so many ways: raw, creamed as slaw, cooked, pickled, and made into delicious kraut.

Early planted cabbage will furnish a supply in early summer and in midseason; then come the medium and the late varieties to fill out the season with a supply to store for winter. Early Jersey Wakefield, and Copenhagen Market are popular for early cabbage; All Seasons, Danish Ball Head and Late Flat Dutch are some of the leading midseason and late varieties.

This is the time to plant several of the salad and green crops that can be grown during the summer and early fall in order to maintain a supply of that class of food for that period. Remember that these crops all require a rich, deep soil, and a generous supply of moisture if you want them crisp and tender.

Cherry Plants to Begin Operations

All Canning and Cold Pack Stations to Operate At Capacity

Sturgeon Bay—(P)—Definite assurance Wednesday from the Fruit Growers' Union cooperative, largest producers of red sour cherries in the world that all of its canning plants and cold pack stations will be operating at capacity by next week brought rejoicing to the Doorco peninsula.

Because of uncertain market conditions the 1,200 grower members of the cooperative had for several weeks faced a situation in which it would be necessary to leave the fruit on the trees than take a chance of selling below cost.

The union officials have guaranteed only 1 cent a pound for the fruit delivered to the factories, just enough in most cases to cover the cost of production, but their decision means employment for about a month to some 1,100 men and women in the factories and also jobs for several thousand pickers.

The union operates canneries at Sturgeon Bay, Traverse City, Mich., and Frankfort, Mich., and cold pack stations at Sister Bay and Egg Harbor, Wis., and Beulah, Sutton Bay and Elk Rapids, Mich. Operations will start in the Doorco peninsula Monday, and in Michigan late this week, the announcement said.

Although the Michigan crop was harmed somewhat by frost, union officials said the quality of the fruit has never been better. A pack of 8,000,000 pounds, about equal to the record yield of 1931, is expected in the peninsula.

The Reynolds Preserving company, owners of the largest orchards in the peninsula, will open its canning plant next week as a custom cannery operating for a number of independent growers.

THE NEBBS

ALL ABOARD!
THE NEBBS SPECIAL IS ON ITS WAY TO LORELEI LOOSE. LOTS OF LUCK, RUDY... YOU'LL NEED IT!

I DON'T SEE WHY YOU'RE SO DRESSED UP. PEOPLE USUALLY WEAR KNICKERS OR OLD CLOTHES FOR AN AUTO TRIP.

OH, IS THAT SO? I'M VERY GLAD TO HEAR IT.

WHEN I WALK INTO THAT HOTEL I WANT TO FLASH AN IMPRESSION THAT WILL LIVE FOREVER IN THEIR MEMORY... OOPS!...

DIDN'T I JUST GET THROUGH TELLING YOU WHEN YOU GO FOR AN AUTO TRIP, YOU SHOULD DRESS IN ANTICIPATION OF WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN?

WOMAN, WE'VE BEEN MARRIED AND HAVE LIVED TOGETHER FOR A LOT OF YEARS BUT I CAN'T THINK OF A SITUATION THAT'D LEAD ITSELF MORE BEAUTIFULLY TO BREAK UP THIS APPARENTLY SATISFACTORY UNION, SO IF YOU HAVE ANY MORE CONVERSATION TO OFFER WRAP IT UP CAREFULLY AND SAVE IT FOR A MORE OPPORTUNE TIME!

HURRY UP AND READ IT... I WANNA KNOW WHO IT'S FROM!

CASABA, ARIZONA, JUNE 24, 1932. DEAR FRECKLES: GEE! I DON'T RECOGNIZE THE HANDWRITING!

I'M GONNA SEE WHO IT'S SIGNED BY... GEE! IT'S HARD TO MAKE OUT SUCH SCRIBBLIN'—LOOKS LIKE HARVEY OR SOMETHING!!

LET ME SEE IF I CAN MAKE IT OUT... YEAH, IT IS POOR WRITING—LEMME SEE NOW!!

I DON'T KNOW ANY. ONE BY TH' NAME OF HARVEY!

IT ISN'T HARVEY AT ALL!! IT'S HARRY—DO YOU KNOW A HARRY REDFIELD?

HARRY REDFIELD? OH, YEAH!! HE'S TH' KID WHO SAVED POODLE TO ME!!

LET ME READ IT... GEE—I HAD ALMOST FORGOTTEN HIM... HE AN' HIS MOTHER WENT WEST LAST SPRING...

Dear Freckles: I am having a nice time out here. I play with some little Indian dogs. How is Poodle? I got real homesick for her. This would be a good place for her to run because she would have lots of room. I hope you could come out to visit me sometime. Love, Harry Redfield

Gambler's Throw
by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: "I am going to buy you from your fiancé," Ashwood, polished gang leader who is holding Nancy Wentworth prisoner for ransom tells her. She has been taken with Lucci, a gangster, and four other men to an island. Jerry Calhoun, a friend and a detective have been caught trailing Ashwood.

Chapter 21
TWO PROPOSALS
"I AM taking you with me to my yacht, aboard which I shall spend the rest of my life," Ashwood told Nancy.

"She is a magnificent vessel, some two hundred feet long, with sufficient fuel oil capacity to cruise around the world without stopping. I have spent a year and an absurd amount of money outfitting her as a home afloat. She is now anchored in Mexican waters, her steam up, completely manned with a most excellent and a dependable crew, ready to sail at a moment's notice. We will leave here in the amphibian shortly after breakfast, the day after tomorrow and should be aboard the yacht by sunset."

Nancy's brain reeled. She grasped the arms of her chair. She must concentrate upon one thing at a time.

"What has given you to believe that I am for sale?" she demanded, forcing herself to speak calmly. Not for nothing had she been rated a fine actress.

"Are you in love with your fiancé, the venerable Mr. Macomber?" he countered impudently. "You will remember that the announcement of your engagement attracted considerable comment in the New York press. I noted that some of the so-called scandal sheets were somewhat cynical in their observations. Didn't one of the columnists stoop to the banality of referring to it as the union of May and December?"

"No, I'm not in love with Philip Macomber," she flared up. "But what difference does that make? I was tired—so tired of having men make love to me. Philip Macomber is a wonderful man. We've known him for years. He is kind, patient and fatherly and has promised to demand nothing that I do not wish to give him. When I've married him the others will stop. You don't know all the details, of course, but—"

"I wonder if you do?" he interrupted, his voice mildly questioning. "The management, the settlement, if you please, between Mr. Macomber and your mother was quite considerable, one is told. Therefore, it is difficult to regard the matter as other than a cash sale. That being so, my predatory instincts urge me to deprive Mr. Macomber of a substantial sum of money—not in cash, but in property that he has purchased for cash."

Nancy wondered if she, too, had gone mad. Nothing seemed real. Those stars, so close that she might have reached up and plucked one of them, mocked them. The three-quarters moon, silhouetting the palms on the next island in a clear-cut half tone, had a face which grinned sardonically at her. And the man beside her was still discussing the outrageous proposal in a matter of fact voice which made it sound all the more unreal.

"After the first few days upon the yacht, Nancy, you will be quite content, I hope. You will have all the privacy you wish. A large, private suite will be set aside for you into which you may retire when you choose.

"We will get under way at once and begin a leisurely cruise around the world, calling at every unknown, seldom-visited port on the seven seas.

"You will find me, I dare say, an interesting companion. We have many things in common. You are the first woman I have known in ten years with whom I could be content to spend the rest of my days. You have, thank God, a brain and to watch it develop will be a source of never-failing stimulation to me. Books, music, art—all these things will fill your life to an extent that will amaze you.

"It is entirely possible, of course, that love will come to us. Propinquity works magic, good and bad, as you have already observed here. But we will not look ahead too far. Companionship is all that I require at this stage of events. That is, after all, what you expected out of your marriage to Macomber."

He became silent, the tip of his cigarette glowing and fading like a mammoth firefly. She fought for control of herself.

"Mr. Ashwood," she said, evenly, "from the moment you take me away from this island to begin that mad scheme, I shall watch for an opportunity to commit suicide. You may be able to prevent it for a while. But the chance will come sooner or later and I will kill myself just as surely as the sun rises and sets."

He made no answer. As he lit another cigarette the red flare illuminated his strange lined face. It was set deep in thought. He took several rapid puffs, then exhaled in a long sigh.

"Dear dear," he observed at last, "I had no idea that you were so conventional. I had hardly expected that your mind would run in such ultra-conservative grooves. Very well, then, I shall send my airplane after a minister tomorrow. You may not know it now, but you will find that a wedding ring will assuage your plan to a great degree. You will be," he added mockingly, "at least an honest woman, no worse off than millions of your sex who are uncomfortably tied in the bonds of matrimony."

He pushed himself to his feet. "And now, if you will excuse me, I must join the delightful group in the living room. I hear loud voices which seem to be raised in anger. It is possible that their conversation will be entertaining. Will you join me?"

"Thanks," she replied indifferently. "I'll stay here."

A step as soft as that of a cat sidestepped on the porch beside the sunken girl.

"Nancy, don't you worry about Limpy," it was Lucci's voice, harsh with suppressed rage. "I been creepin' around looking the place over to see what could be done about gettin' outa here. I heard him talkin' and listened to what he said."

She was too exhausted to reply. If she opened her mouth at all, she thought, it would be to shriek in hysteria. All day long she had avoided the gangster, for her intuition warned her that he was reaching an emotional crisis.

"That bird'll be found dead in his bed in the morning, Miss Wentworth," he assured her violently. "Then I'll get his gat and heat up this joint: 'til the water out there'll be crowded with people swimming to get away from the lead. You and me'll go back to Chi!"

A GOOD IDEA
Lebanon, Pa.—Needy persons here, unable to pay their taxes, are permitted to pay them by working for the borough. When the tax collector reported delinquent taxpayers who were unable to raise funds but were willing to work out their taxes, the borough council decided that such persons be given employment. A standard hourly wage rate was fixed, and payment made by checks, been turned over to the tax collector.

Appleton Will Show New Hurler Against Shawano Sunday

Al Fons, Former Brewer Hurler, Signed by Club

Milwaukeean Also Starred While a Student at Holy Cross U.

Al Fons, Milwaukee, will join the Appleton baseball club Sunday as ranking hurler, it was announced by Manager Leo Murphy. He replaces Art Behr who last week was released and who joined Kimberly's league. The Villageers released Clarence Pocan when they took on Behr and Pocan now is shortstop for Kaukauna.

Fons is a right hander, a graduate of Holy Cross university and rated one of its greatest baseball players. When he left school Fons joined the Milwaukee Brewers and was having more than ordinary success with the club when he decided that his father's business offered greater possibilities than playing baseball.

He accordingly asked for his release from organized baseball circles and now indulges in the sport primarily as a means of recreation and because of the old urge for battle. He recently has been hurling for the Milwaukee Red Sox in the Wisconsin-Illinois league and pitched a four hit game last weekend which he lost.

Ranking Gopher

Fons also is a golfer of more than fair ability and regularly competes in Milwaukee district tournaments. Manager Murphy sought the Milwaukee hurler for one of last week's games. Because Fons was slated for duty with the Red Sox he couldn't get away to come here.

Additional of the Milwaukee player is expected to give the Collegians a little more life and enthusiasm than they have been showing in past games. They played good enough ball last Monday to beat the Rapids but were victims of a bad break.

If the team shows a little extra hitting ability and if Fons can tame some of the valley clubbers the Collegians have a chance of getting into the thick of the league battle.

Sunday's exhibition will find Appleton at home against Shawano.

Canadians Seek Hagen, Armour

Two Golf Stars Missing as Open Championship Play Begins

Ottawa—(P)—Mystery surrounded the whereabouts of Walter Hagen, defending titleholder, and Jimmy Armour, runner up, in the prime favorites, shortly before a great field teed off today in the first round of the 72-hole Canadian open golf championship.

Neither Hagen, who nosed out Percy Alliss of England to win last year's title, nor Armour were among those who practiced over the course yesterday, and nothing had been heard of the two Americans late last night.

Friends of the pair were confident they would be on hand when their names were called today, but it was certain they would have to play under the handicap of not having toured the treacherous Hunt club links.

Under the circumstances, many observers switched to Leo Diegel, five-time winner of the event, as the logical favorite. The guessing was wide open, however, with such stars as Johnny Farrell, Billy Burke, Bobby Cruickshank, Phil Perkins, Horton Smith, Willy Cox, MacDonald Smith, George Von Elm, Harry Cooper, Emmett French, Olin and Morrie Dura and Ed Dwyer in the field.

The Hunt club course has been classed as a real championship test by those who have practiced over it the last several days. It is 6,770 yards long with a par of 73, and the best score ever recorded over the layout was a 69.

Eighteen holes were scheduled today, with 18 more on Friday, after which the field will be reduced for the final 36 on Saturday.

Ripon Woman Is N. E. W. Medalist

Has Low Gross Count of 89 At Manitowoc Meet: Susan Nash 2nd

Manitowoc—(P)—A comparative unknown, Mrs. J. Luedke, Ripon, yesterday led qualifiers with a low gross score of 89 in the northeastern women's golf tournament opening here at the Lakeside course.

She was one stroke ahead of Miss Susan Nash, Wisconsin Rapids, defending champion. Miss Helen Riddle, Pine Hills champion from Sheboygan, was third with 91 and Miss Ruth Plumb, Manitowoc, 1930 state champion, carded 95.

Mrs. C. D. Brown, Oshkosh, runner up last year, was far behind with 99. Mrs. Julie Parmenter, Green Bay, and Miss Riddle led the low net qualifiers with 77 each. Mrs. Parmenter had a 19 handicap and Miss Riddle 14.

The tournament will consist of eight flights and a consolation round. Finals will be played tomorrow.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Marty McManus, Red Sox — Doubled with two out in the ninth to beat St. Louis.

Bill Hallahan, Cardinals—Held the Boston Braves to five hits.

Charley Grimm, Cubs—Made the 2,000th hit of his major league career to help lick the Phillies.

Steve Swetonic and Larry French, Pirates—Pitched the leaders to a pair of victories over the Giants, 4 to 2 and 3 to 1.

Young Shortstop Shot by Girl; Condition Is Not Serious

Chicago—(P)—Manager Rogers Hornsby and his Chicago Cubs carried on their National league pennant fight today without the services of their star young shortstop, Bill Jurgens, while the police investigated the events that caused a pretty brunette to shoot and wound him as well as herself.

Although the woman, Miss Violet Popovich Valli, a divorcee and a former chorus girl, insisted that she intended only to shoot herself, the police were in possession of a letter that cast a murder and suicide complexion to the case.

The letter, addressed to Miss Valli's brother and written just before she invaded Jurgens' hotel room yesterday and wounded him twice, blamed Kiki Cuyler, Cub outfielder, and Lew Steadman for breaking up her romance. She advised her brother, Mike Popovich, a Chicago Y. M. C. A. employee, that she planned to kill Jurgens and herself.

"To me life without Billy isn't worth living," the letter read in part, "but why should I leave this earth alone. I'm going to take Billy with me. We were getting along famously, just as everything should, but a few people like Kiki Cuyler and Lew Steadman forgot there might be anything fine and beautiful in our love for each other and dragged it in the mud. I know what I'm doing is best for me and I hate to do it but I must."

Cuyler denied that he had interfered with the romance except to admit that Jurgens asked his advice and that he told him he was "too young to think of love."

"I merely told him he was too young in the game yet," Cuyler said. "I told him he should get established in baseball first and then think of love."

Neither the girl nor Jurgens was in a serious condition today. Jurgens suffered two wounds, one bullet entering his right side, grazing a rib and piercing the right shoulder and the other ripping the flesh around the little finger of his left hand.

Dr. John Davis, club physician, who happened to be in the hotel Carlos lobby when the shooting occurred, said that Jurgens would be able to play baseball within three or four weeks unless complications set in.

Neither would discuss the affair today.

Jurgens broke into baseball in Brooklyn, his home, and was purchased by the Cubs in 1929. He was sent to Reading of the International league for two years but has been playing a brilliant game as the regular shortstop this season. He is 24 years old.

Manager Hornsby, shocked by the loss of his young star, has shifted Elwood English from third base to shortstop and placed young Stanley Hack at third base. If that combination doesn't produce results, he may take over the third base post himself until Jurgens' return.

Rookies Taking Leading Part in National Battle

All Ranking Teams Owe Part of Their Success To Youngsters

BY GAILE TALBOT Associated Press Sports Writer

THE present National league race might well be termed the "race of the rookies."

A group of young men who scarcely were known in the best circles a year ago made President Heydler's follies what they are to fans and prospects are they will divide most of the honors when it's all over.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, leading the field by three and a half games today, could trace their success directly to the pitching of Steve Swetonic and Bill Swift, who between them had won 16 games, and to the fine play of Tony Piet and Floyd Vaughn.

The second place Chicago Cubs probably would be several notches further down but for the sensational hurling of Lonnie Warneke and the play of Bill Herman at second base. Huck Betts and Bobby Brown have by their consistently great pitching kept the Boston Braves at or close to the top ever since the race began.

Swetonic, who shares with Betts of the Braves the distinction of leading the National league's pitchers, scored his ninth victory yesterday by beating the Giants in the first half of a doubleheader, 4 to 2, on six hits. Larry French stopped the New Yorkers, 3 to 1, in the nightcap.

Warneke rang up his eleventh triumph, halting the Phillies 6 to 1 and putting the Cubs back in second place, one percentage point above the Braves, who lost to St. Louis, 4 to 2. Bill Hallahan let the Braves down with five hits.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn battled all afternoon without getting anywhere. The Reds took the first game, 6 to 4, as Owen Carroll out-pitched four adversaries, but the Dodgers came back to win the second, 3 to 2, behind Freddy Heilmach. Chick Hafey, who has been out of the Cincinnati line-up with illness for many weeks, appeared as a pinch hitter in the last inning of the nightcap but failed to connect safely.

Only one game survived an epidemic of rain in the American league. In that, the Boston Red Sox came from behind a 4-0 disadvantage at the end of the fourth to beat St. Louis 5 to 4.

Representatives of the Fox River Valley league will convene Sunday night at the Northeastern Wisconsin fair grounds for their monthly July meeting. Several important matters are listed on the Valley docket.

Injuries sustained in an automobile accident last Saturday night near Manitowoc may keep Mike Muldowney, Green Bay outfielder, on the sidelines for at least two weeks. Muldowney was badly shaken in the crash.

Art Behr, Kimberly hurler who started the season with an Appleton contract, breezed along smoothly against Green Bay. Behr was given his release by Appleton 10 days ago but joined the Papermakers immediately.

Green Bay was forced to add a new man to its players' list following Mike Muldowney's accident. Ed Rupenthal who has been playing with Clintonville joined the club and contributed a spectacular catch in the outfield.

All of the Valley league games scheduled for last Sunday had to be postponed because of unfavorable weather. It was the first time in nine years that the Valley teams had to suspend play because of the rain.

Baldy Eggert, Appleton first baseman, came out of his hitting slump against Wisconsin Rapids and slapped out three hits, in as many trips to the plate. Normally, Eggert is regarded as a dangerous man with the club.

Another inactive hitter thus far this season, Wally Young, of Wisconsin Rapids, snapped out of his lethargy and cracked out two hits in three official times at bat. Last year Young was respected by the pitchers.

Schweers, Shawano outfielder who is one of the leading hitters in the Valley league, slipped back several points over the weekend. He found Lefty Fortin's pitching a puzzle and failed to hit in four appearances.

The Valley league race continues to be a nip and tuck affair. Shawano and Appleton are the only teams that appear to be counted out of the fight. These clubs are strong enough to make things interesting for the others.

Rudy Esler, Kaukauna left fielder, is playing sparkling ball in the garden with the Kaws and is starting to bang the ball. Esler is enrolled at Seaton Hall in the East, the school that is coached by Red Smith.

Kimberly is scheduled to play at Kaukauna next Sunday in the most important game of the week to decide first place occupancy. Green Bay will be at home against Wisconsin Rapids while Shawano will travel to Appleton.

Clarence Pocan drew his pink ticket from Kimberly and the veteran star immediately signed with Kaukauna. Mary Lamers, the Kaws manager, used Pocan at shortstop in the Shawano game and ne covered himself with glory.

Valley League Gossip

KIMBERLY gained undisputed possession of first place in the Fox River Valley pennant scramble last weekend as a result of its 10 inning, 4-3 victory over Green Bay. Kaukauna advanced into second place.

The House of Ruben has added another family member to the Shawano lineup. Ray (Red) Ruben played his first game of the season with the Indians in right field and banged out a single in four trips to the plate.

American Legion softballers lost a tough game last evening when they dropped a 3 and 1 decision to the Appleton Wires after leading until the ninth frame. The defeat dropped the veterans just below the .500 percentage mark in standings.

The veterans counted their only run in the third inning when Harshman was safe on an error and tallied on a hit by Ness. The Vets threatened a couple times but failed to count and were unworried as they held the Wires scoreless.

The Bankers made an ascension in the ninth frame, however, and won a 1-0 victory for the Wires.

Four straight errors caused all the trouble. Noffke, DeYoung and Radke scoring for the Wires and Weiland dying on third with another run.

Friday night's game between Co. D and the Bankers has been postponed because the Guards will be busy loading baggage for their trek to Camp Douglas. The Atlas Mill team will play the Banks instead.

Meet Sugar Bowl Athletic Club of Sheboygan At Wausau Sunday

Pond All Star softballers will hold a practice session tonight at First ward diamond and prepare for their next big encounter—with the Sugar Bowl Athletic Club of Sheboygan at Brandt park Saturday afternoon. The game is scheduled to begin at 2:15.

The Sugar Bowlers are the pick of softball talent in Sheboygan. They compete in one of the Great City leagues and have hung up several wins and taken one trimming all of which rates them fairly high. Their greatest successes have been "on the road" however, where they have copped eight games.

The Appleton aggregation has been meeting with only ordinary success in recent encounters and will be shaken up a bit unless it produces better results. The drill tonight will be directed by Eddie Steward, managing the club and will be designed to sharpen batting eyes and put an edge on fielding skills.

The Stars are booked for two games out of town on Sunday. They will invade Wausau that day to meet one of the crack northern teams. Horonville also is seeking a battle with the team and has threatened dire things for the "greens" when the clubs clash.

Pep Warner at Stanford finds that he has lost 15 football letters from his 1931 squad, six of them regulars, and that he will have back 18 letters from the 1932 eleven, five of whom were regulars. He considers his material from the yearling and goof squads as fair, but untried.

A saddle of beef for Mr. Jim Jeffries, please, and maybe he can't fork it! All in a good cause, too, for Jeffries, former world's heavyweight champion, is shown above as he will perform during a stampede to be held at his ranch near Burbank, Calif., over the holidays to raise funds to feed needy school children.

Sports Question Box

Q.—What is the nationality of Santiago Zorilla, Vincent Hambright, Kid Chocolate, Young Perez and Babe Hunt?

A.—Zorilla, San Blas Indian, Panama; Hambright, Filipino; Kid Chocolate, Cuban negro; Babe Hunt, American Indian.

Q.—Why don't they use wider car blades in college racing shells?

A.—Because the present width of the cars has been determined by mathematical study, just as everything about a racing shell has been determined. A wider blade would not make a shell go faster and probably would retard speed.

Hauser Hits 23rd Home Run as Mills Wallop Mud Hens

Brewers Lose Opener to Louisville Colonels By 4-3 Count

BY PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO—(P)—People can't live in glass houses around the Minneapolis and St. Paul American association parks.

With home run clubs operating in both cities, baseballs are taking one merry ride after another out of the parks and into residential territory.

Yesterday as the two Twin City clubs turned back eastern invasions, 10 homers resulted from the long distance bombardment, five at Lexington park, St. Paul, and five more at Nicollet park, Minneapolis, and the local boys belted out eight of them.

Hauser Gets No. 23

At Minneapolis, Hauser, Mowry, Gantzel and Harris joined in the home run barrage that gave the Millers an easy 9 to 3 victory over Toledo. Three of the circuit smashers came in the fifth inning when the Millers salted the game away with five big runs. Hale of the Mud Hens also caught the habit and parked one out of the lot to account for two of the Hens' three runs. Hauser's blow was his twenty-third of the season, which showed him far ahead in the home run race but still left him behind Nick Cullop's record breaking pace of 1931, when he hit 34.

Fenner, Jeffries, Beck and Norman contributed home runs as St. Paul defeated Columbus, 9 to 5, at Lexington park, while Cullup, now with the Red Birds, cashed in with one for himself. Fenner drove in four runs with his home run and a single and two more when his fly to centerfield was dropped by Cullup in the fourth inning. Jeffries starred as well as the plate with three hits and spectacular plays.

Brewers Lose 4 and 3

Olivares' walk and stolen base, followed by Brannom's single netted Louisville a 4 to 3 victory over Milwaukee. Polli was the losing pitcher, suffering his first defeat since rejoining the Brewers.

Indianapolis, its fielders accustomed to the glare of electric lights, fared better than Kansas City in the first night game played by Association clubs at Muehlbach field.

The Indians, aided by three bobbles by shortstop Boken and nine hits of their own, beat the Blues 3 to 0, scoring one run in the first, sixth and ninth innings. The Kansases got eight off Wingard, including the longest hit of the day, a triple by Kelly, but lacked the punch.

The floodlight inaugural drew 8,000 fans.

Doubt Value of Rapid Action By Roosevelt

Politicians Differ on Advisability of Flight to Convention

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Chicago — Was the hastily prepared and quickly delivered speech of acceptance of Governor Roosevelt a wise move or is there much to be said for the precedent which compels a lapse of several weeks between conventions and the usual notification ceremonies?

Political veterans discussing this subject as an aftermath of the conventions are inclined to take differing viewpoints.

One outstanding leader said he thought the old custom was safer from the standpoint of the candidate, though the prompt acceptance speech may be spectacular and temporarily an advantage.

There has always been a good reason for the lapse of time," he said. "It gives an opportunity for consultation of party leaders and efforts can be made to bring harmony. If ever there was a time when a nominee needed a few weeks to consider a situation it was needed by the candidate of the last Democratic national convention. He afforded no chance for those opposed to him to be consulted. He wrote his speech without a first hand knowledge of the scars the convention had made. He made it harder for an anti-Roosevelt man to come into his camp for he virtually read out of the party and out of his following many of those who have suffered with him."

Another comment heard is that Mr. Roosevelt omitted in his speech all reference to the modification of the repeal plank but did not touch at all on the "beer now" idea, which is bound to be one of the big issues of the prohibition fight. The Democratic plank declared for modification of the prohibition law so as to legalize the manufacture of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content "as is permissible under the constitution."

Question Involved

Can there be manufactured under the constitution anything which is really "intoxicating" and if not, when is the drinking world going to be satisfied with anything that is not in fact intoxicating? These questions are being asked as the lines of battle open between the Republicans and Democrats. Was the Roosevelt omission an oversight due to haste or was it deliberate? The reaction of congress to the beer bill in the closing days of the session is being watched carefully. The Republican wets of the east are preparing to argue that the platform plank means nothing since the southern dries in the Democratic party will block modification of the Volstead act as well as repeal, and that the Republican wets of the north alone can be depended upon to follow through on the wet issue.

Waits Follows

His mother's fight for his life having proved in vain, Paul Wexler, 18, awaits at Hattiesburg, Miss., for execution set for July 14. He was convicted of slaying J. L. Odum, filling station proprietor, in a holdup. Mrs. Wexler has petitioned Governor Martin Connor to spare her son on the ground that he is too young to be hanged.

Incidentally, now that the shouting is over, the political managers are not so clear about the effect of the Republican and Democratic prohibition planks. One prominent Republican ventured the comment that the Democratic wet plank would be helpful to Roosevelt in the east where other factors like radicalism would hurt him, while in the west this very radicalism would aid him and the extreme wet plank would impair his vote-getting power. Certainly the Republicans are counting on getting the dry vote of the west while not losing much of the wet vote in the east, because of traditional Republicanism. Though smarting under the criticism of a "sawdust" plank, Republican managers are vigorously defending the idea that along with repeal should go a substitute.

Possible Tactics
It would not be surprising to see the Democrats soft-pedal prohibition as an issue in the dry states and emphasize economic questions while the Republicans try to subordinate prohibition in the east and place their hope on the issue of economic stability and "sound government" as opposed to experimentalism.

From an unexpected quarter an issue is arising that may play a part in the east. Prohibitionist speakers in Indianapolis pointed out that the southern states which bolted Smith in 1928, giving his wetness as their reason, now stand convicted of religious bigotry as the real cause for their defection inasmuch as they all voted through their delegates at the Democratic national convention for a wetter plank than the one on which Al Smith lost the south four years ago. Some trace of this controversy came up in the Democratic national convention and may rise up to plague the Democrats in some of the northern cities where the pro-Smith vote is considerable.

This is all the more reason why the Democratic leaders would like to get Smith out whole-heartedly for the national ticket. Anybody who polled 15,000,000 votes is of far-reaching importance in the development of a presidential campaign. Some of the Smith friends here insist that had Roosevelt waited with his speech of acceptance and endeavored to harmonize the Smith views with those of the nominee, instead of rushing into action, there might have been a better chance of a Smith-Roosevelt reconciliation. They declare the Smith-Roosevelt

Bicycling Latest Fad Among Hollywood Stars

Hollywood—Facts and near-facts about movieland: When Kay Francis and Kenneth MacKenna planned their European jaunt for this summer, they rented their schooner to Greta Nissen and Weldon Heyburn for the summer. And they are upset. The trip is off—and so's the heat!

No wonder we haven't been seen break is not personal but based on fundamental concepts of Democratic principle.

ing Claudette Colbert and Norman Foster around very much recently. Norman has been so busy of late that he scarcely would take time out for dinner. He has finished his play, "Sun Worsippers," which has been dispatched to Sam Harris for production in New York this fall. Also, he has just finished playing in a picture and is starting right in on another one.

Bicycling is getting to be quite the thing around town these days. Walter Huston and his wife are the latest to take it up, bringing the total number of cycling advocates up to about 20. And Lella Hyams is one of the most enthusiastic. Zelma O'Neal and Dorothy Lee were the ones who started it, about a year ago.

Depression Notes
Depression note: Times are getting so tough that the autograph hunters now are signing each other's books. Harry Bannister, Ann Harding's ex-husband, is responsible for that one. Another depression note: When Mel Brown rented his Malibu house to Bette Davis for the summer, he insisted on collecting the first and last month's rent in advance. Not taking any chances on Bette losing her contract and not being able to pay up.

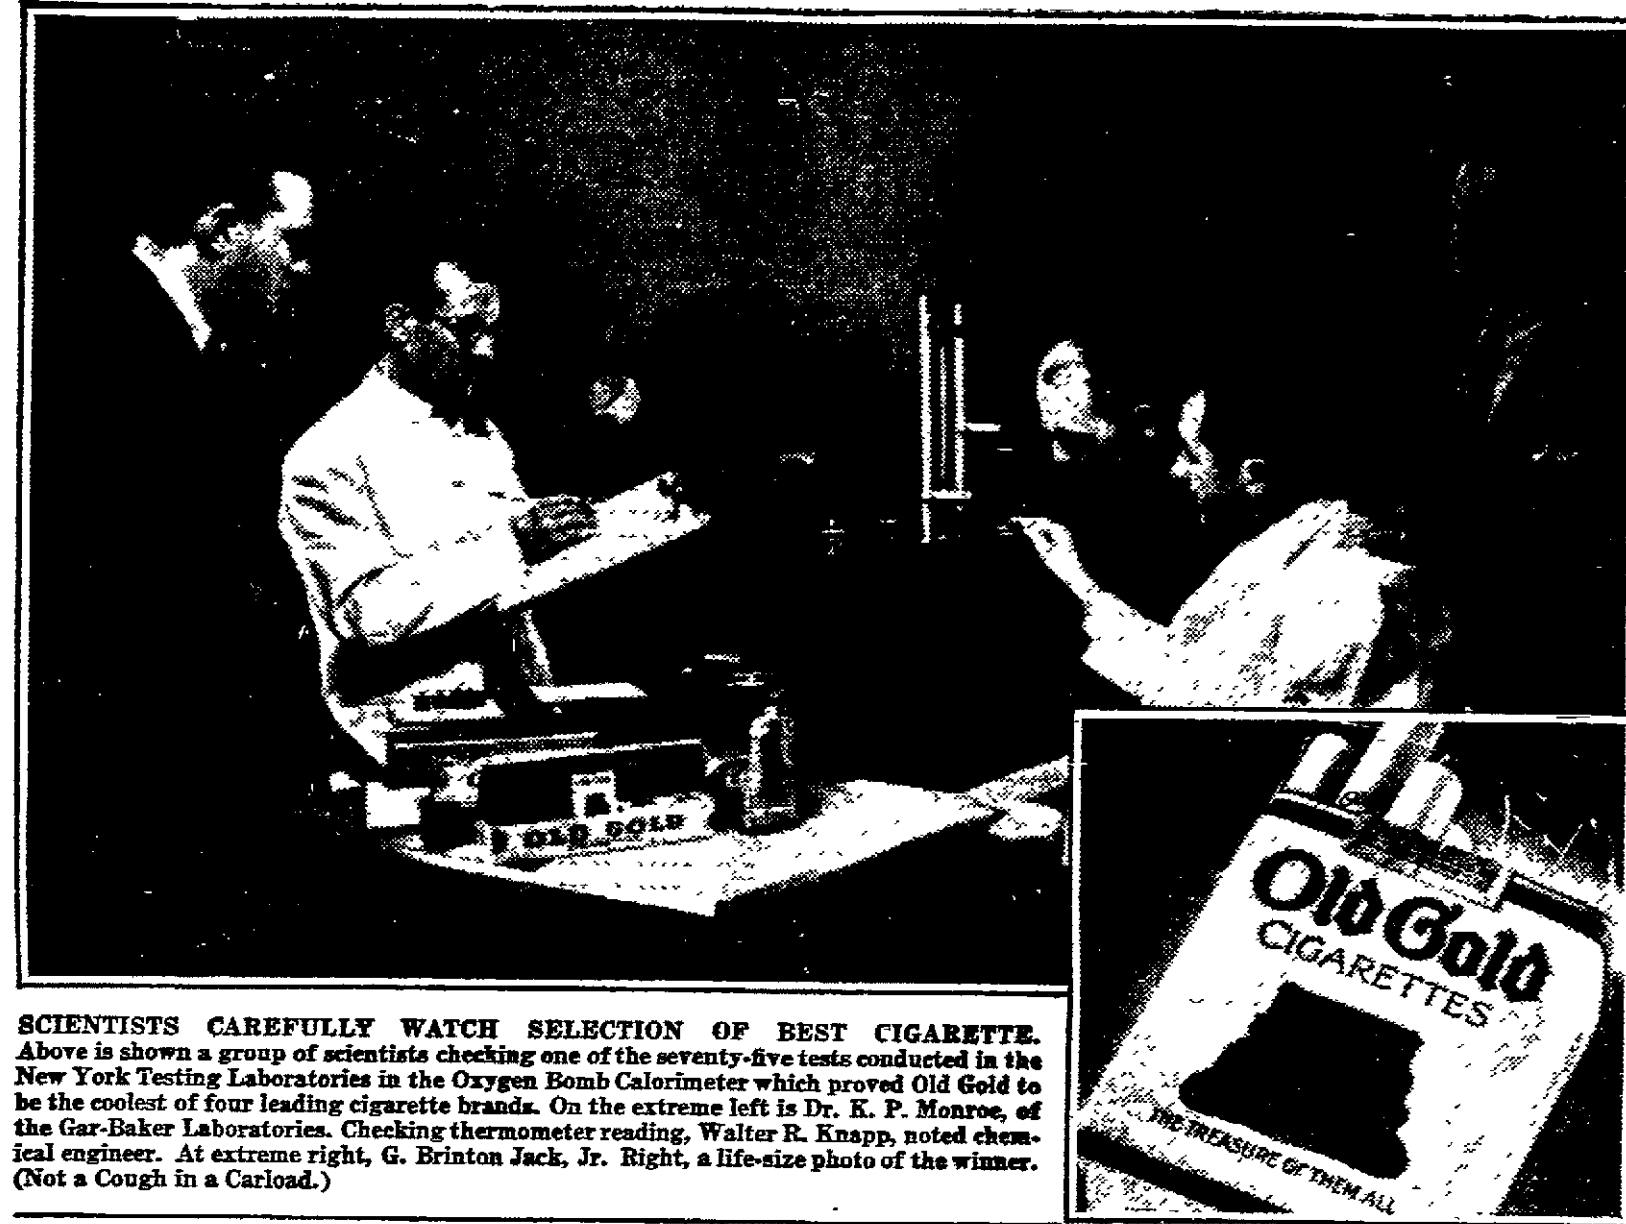

At a party at Lowell Sherman's the other night, Charles Lederer, the young writer, called Sherman to one side. "Don't look now," he whispered, "but there is an extra man in the room—and it's you."

Now that she's between pictures, Maureen O'Sullivan has embarked upon a perfect orgy of cake eating. Watch that figure, Maureen.

Ramen Wants a Farm
That old saying "Like father like daughter" now has been turned right around. During the past year Ruth Nagel has become an expert fencer. And now she has insisted that papa Conrad take up this sport, too. Chocolate ice cream has become Chester Morris' favorite dish. Ramon Navarro is looking for a farm. He wants a quiet place not too far from Hollywood where he can bury himself and write and study his music between pictures. And he thinks a farm is the only place.

SEVENTY-FIVE SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE OLD GOLD COOLEST SMOKE

"O. G.'s Finer Tobacco and its Freedom from Added Flavorings Make it a Definitely Cooler Cigarette," say Noted Authorities

"Conclusive evidence that Old Gold gives a cooler smoke . . . cooler than any of the three other leading cigarette brands . . . has been obtained through the most accurate heat-testing method known to Science," it has been announced by the New York Testing Laboratories.

"Seventy-five repeated tests of the four big brands confirmed this finding," G. Brinton Jack, Jr., Director of the Laboratories, asserted. Mr. Jack emphatically stated that the tests were initiated by the Laboratories solely as a matter of scientific research, and entirely without the participation of cigarette manufacturers.

"Accurate temperature records made of the smoke of each of the four cigarettes completed the proof that Old Gold is definitely cooler than the other brands," Mr. Jack asserted.

"It is not our province in this report to speculate on the reasons for Old Gold's cooler smoking qualities," Mr. Jack stated. "But we are told that Old Gold is a cigarette of the finest and purest tobacco quality . . . without artificial flavoring. This alone might well account for its coolness and mildness, since low grade tobacco, or tobacco containing oily flavorings, has a tendency to burn into hot and irritating fumes." He continued:

"These tests required eight months to complete. We purchased hundreds of cartons of the four leading brands through regular retail channels, and each brand was represented in each of the 75 tests. We employed the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, recognized by scientists throughout the world as the most accurate method of measuring the heat given off in the combustion of any organic substance."

Scientists of Two Leading Universities

Check Tests That Prove Old Gold Best

Scientists of two leading Universities have checked the tests described on this page and their findings corroborated in every detail those of the New York Testing Laboratories.

Samples of each lot of cigarettes tested have been sealed in airtight bottles:

1. For scientists who may wish to check the tests.
2. To refer to in later years to see what effect the tests have had in improving other brands up to the Old Gold pure tobacco standard.

To any scientific or technical authority, the signed report of these two scientists will be sent on application to P. Lorillard Company, Inc., 119 West 40th St., New York City.

THE EVIDENCE OF SCIENCE

"This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.U.s. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

- Old Gold averages 112 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand X
- Old Gold averages 155 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand Y
- Old Gold averages 156 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand Z

"To further verify Old Gold's coolness, the temperature (Fahrenheit) of the smoke of each cigarette brand was checked and Old Gold's smoke was found to be definitely cooler than the smoke of the other three brands."
